A second meeting resulted in a vote to sell the pipe section for $3.9 million but receive the funds in two payments over two fiscal years. It is unknown if the City council made a submission of this proposal to the local emergency financial assistance loan board. Does Flint have Treasury's approval to execute the contract of sale?

Beth/Rachel -- when we met with the Governor earlier this week about the rating agencies he asked for some past reports they have issued re the state. The most recent samples (from all three) are attached. A couple of the items also relate to Detroit. And finally I have included some comparisons of Michigan's ratings to other states as well as our past ratings history.

I assume you will get this to him in his 'weekend' reading material package. If anything else is needed please let me know. Thanks

FITCH MAINTAINS WATCH NEGATIVE ON DETROIT, MICHIGAN'S WATER & SEWER REVS

Fitch Ratings-Chicago-30 May 2014: Fitch Ratings maintains the Rating Watch Negative on the following city of Detroit, Michigan (the city) bonds issued on behalf of the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (DWSD):

- $1.1 billion senior lien water revenue bonds 'BB+';
- $565 million second lien water revenue bonds 'BB'.
- $1.6 billion senior lien sewer revenue bonds 'BB+';
- $788 million second lien sewer revenue bonds 'BB'.

SECURITY

Senior lien water and sewer bonds are separately secured by a first lien on net revenues of each water and sewer system (the systems). Second lien bonds are separately secured by a second lien on the net revenues of each system after payment of senior lien bonds.

KEY RATING DRIVERS

WATCH MAINTAINED DUE TO UNCERTAINTY: A key assumption underpinning Fitch's ratings is that water/sewer bondholders are legally protected from impairment under Chapter 9 given the clear intent of the bankruptcy code to carve out debt supported by special revenues. Nonetheless, there remains uncertainty surrounding the city Emergency Manager's (the EM) attempt to impair system bondholders under the city's Fourth Amended Plan of Adjustment (the POA). The POA includes removal of the call protection, threatened reduction in interest coupon and possible subordination of bondholder security interest. Fitch believes that there is no legal basis to compel bondholders to accept such impairment as proposed in the POA.

WEAK FINANCIAL OPERATIONS: The system continues to exhibit weak financial performance. Fiscal 2014 debt service coverage (DSC) numbers that are expected to fall below projections. Fitch believes financial improvement over the near term is unlikely given significant customer delinquencies and the loss of the water system's largest wholesale customer. Fitch's concern about DWSD's financial profile is further exacerbated by the city's status as a bankrupt entity.

SEPARATE OPERATIONS: All system funds and accounts are separate and distinct from other city funds including the city's general fund. Excess system funds are invested by the bond trustee for and at the direction of DWSD.

HIGHLY LEVERAGED DEBT PROFILE: The systems' debt load is expected to remain elevated for the foreseeable future. Borrowing needs for sewers are moderate and for water, minimal.

EXPANSIVE SERVICE TERRITORY: The systems provide essential services to a broad area. The water system covers roughly 43% of Michigan's population, with over 70% of operating revenues coming from wealthier suburban customers. The sewer system includes roughly 30% of Michigan's population, with over 50% of operating revenues coming from suburban customers.

STRONG RATE-ADJUSTMENT HISTORY: The governing body has instituted virtually annual rate hikes in support of financial and capital needs. While there have been changes in the city's governance structure through the appointment of the EM, Fitch does not view this change as a concern at this time.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

IMPAIRMENT OF BONDHOLDERS: Fitch would likely view the court's confirmation of the POA as filed on May 5, 2014 as a distressed debt exchange leading to a ratings downgrade to as low as 'D'. In any event, no such rating action will be taken prior to resolution of significant objections filed by bondholders and other creditors.

WEAKENED FINANCIAL PROFILE: DWSD's inability to maintain at least breakeven operations would likely result in a downgrade.

SUSTAINED RATE INCREASES AND IMPROVED COLLECTIONS: Management's ability to consistently increase rates while improving residential retail collections will be important in maintaining the rating.

CREDIT PROFILE

CHAPTER 9 LEGAL PROTECTIONS AND SEPARATION FROM CITY OPERATIONS

The ratings remain predicated on Fitch's view that there is substantial protection provided to the DWSD's system debt as it constitutes special revenue obligations under Chapter 9 of the bankruptcy code. The ratings also consider a separation of system funds from other city funds as required under city charter and the bond ordinance; billing and collection of rates and charges by DWSD. Relative autonomy by the department's governing structure to oversee the affairs of the system without undue influence by the city; and retention of surplus funds by the system.

DWSD is an enterprise fund of the city and therefore is not entirely free from potential city influence. Any actions taken that directly or indirectly change this historical paradigm could exert immediate and significant credit pressure on system bonds.

NEGATIVE WATCH MAINTAINED ON CITY'S PROPOSED POA

The Negative Rating Watch continues to reflect uncertainty regarding potential event risks related to the EM's actions that attempt to impair DWSD bondholders. Fitch sees no apparent reason for DWSD bondholders to accept any impairment (including voting for the POA) given the very strong legal position of this debt within Chapter 9 bankruptcy proceedings. Should the POA be confirmed as filed and thereby result in impairment to bondholders, Fitch would likely view the action as a distressed debt exchange leading to a ratings downgrade to as low as 'D'. In any event, no such rating action will be taken prior to resolution of significant objections filed by bondholders and other creditors.

The Fourth Amended POA proposes impairments to certain DWSD bondholders depending on whether they choose to accept or vote against the POA. Bondholders voting against the POA would be impaired as a result of receiving different interest coupons than currently held, with such coupons virtually guaranteed to be lower than the existing coupons. Bondholders voting for the POA will receive new existing rate (NER) DWSD bonds with coupons that are the same as the existing bonds' coupons. However, the NER DWSD bond holders would be impaired relative to their current position as the NER bonds will have no call protection as of the POA's effective date.

Approximately $2.2 billion (or 42%) of combined water as sewer bondholders are impaired under the POA. While Fitch is unable to determine the criteria used by the EM to select which CUSIPs within Class 1A would be impaired, Fitch assumes that certain non-callable or callable bonds with final maturities or call dates after July 1, 2015 were selected to be impaired.

WEAK FINANCIALS AND UNCERTAINTY PERSIST

The system's fiscal 2013 audited results are currently unavailable but are expected to be released by June 30, 2014. The delay has been largely due to issues relating to the city's bankruptcy filing and the application of appropriate financial accounting and related disclosures in this scenario. DWSD recently disclosed detailed draft copies of its fiscal 2013 financial statements.

The draft results reflect all-in sewer bond debt service coverage (DSC, including senior, subordinate and junior lien state revolving fund debt) at 0.97x as calculated by Fitch, well below its original projection of 1.22x. DSC for the water bonds was slightly higher at 1.12x but also below prior expectations of 1.29x.

The decrease in DSC is primarily due to a decline in retail and wholesale revenues. The sewer system achieved actual debt service coverage in excess of 1x for fiscal 2013 largely due to the bond documents' exclusion from net revenues non-cash annual OPEB accrued expenses (totaling $13.6 million). This approach differs from Fitch's calculation of DSC which incorporates financial accruals.

Bond ordinance debt service coverage based on the unaudited results for sewer was 1.03x and for water was 1.22x. The system's liquidity metrics are below average for unaudited fiscal 2013. Days cash on hand was a relatively low 61 days for sewer and 167 days for water.

Significant delinquencies by city retail customers continue, with approximately 73% of active billings at least 60 days delinquent as of May 1. However, management's efforts to implement more timely water shut-offs over the last year (excluding winter months) are expected to improve the systems' overall collection rates in the near-term.

DWSD forecasts that fiscal 2014 revenues will be below budgeted levels, again, due to lower system billings. The DWSD's operating expenses are estimated to be under budget as a result of attrition and other non-personnel cuts. Bond ordinance DSC for fiscal 2014 is projected to total 1.25x for sewer and 1.20x for water, which are both below DWSD's Jan. 1, 2013 projections of 1.3x for each system.

LOSS OF LARGEST WATER CUSTOMER INTERMEDIATE TERM PRESSURE

DWSD lost its second largest water wholesale customer on April 25, when Flint started supplying and treating its own drinking water. While Flint's water contract with DWSD expired on April 16, 2014, the department had expected that Flint's actual departure from the system would happen sometime over the next three to five years.

DWSD projects that it will lose a total of approximately $2 million for the months of May and June (0.5% of total fiscal 2014 revenues) with Flint's departure. However, Genesee County, which previously purchased its water from Flint, is currently negotiating a full service contract with DWSD until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline to Lake Huron is built (within three-to-five years). At that time, Genesee County expects to maintain a standby emergency service contract with DWSD.

DWSD projects that revenues from Genesee County should total approximately $12 million-$13 million for fiscal 2015; not enough to offset the estimated $25 million loss from a full year without Flint. Beginning in fiscal 2016, the balance of uncovered Flint costs is expected to be reallocated among remaining customers pursuant to DWSD wholesale contracts.

SYSTEM LEVERAGE REMAINS HIGH

Fitch expects leverage for both systems to remain high for the foreseeable future. DWSD's sewer debt profile is relatively weak with long-term debt per customer totaling a high $3,768 for sewer and $2,079 for water. Principal payout remains slow with only 28% of sewer debt maturing in 10 years; 26% for water.

The systems' 2015-2019 capital improvement plans (CIP) total approximately $505 million each for water and sewer. Near-term debt issuances totaling approximately $150 million for sewer is expected in early fiscal 2015 with $155 million for water in fiscal 2016.

BROAD SERVICE AREA ENHANCES SYSTEM STABILITY

The water system is a regional provider serving around 4.2 million people or nearly 43% of Michigan's population, including the city's population of over 700,000. The system serves the city on a retail basis and 124 communities through 84 wholesale contracts. The service territory consists of an area of 138 square miles in Detroit and 981 square miles in eight counties.

The sewer system is a regional provider serving around 2.8 million people or nearly 30% of Michigan's population, including the city. The system serves the city on a retail basis and 76 communities through 22 wholesale contracts. The service territory consists of an area of 138 square miles in Detroit and 850 square miles in three counties.

Population and customer growth for both systems have experienced modest annual declines for a number of years. Detroit's population in particular has experienced continuous decline, but suburban areas have picked up most of the migration.

CONSISTENT SYSTEM RATE INCREASES

The board has consistently raised rates to meet financial and capital needs. However, unfavorable operating conditions (including very high delinquencies) and rising fixed costs have muted the positive revenue impact. For fiscal 2014, DWSD implemented 4% increases on July 1, 2013 and has approved another 4% increase for fiscal 2015. Annual increases of 4% are preliminarily forecast for fiscals 2016-2019.

VETOES RECOMMENDATIONS

The department recommends no vetoes and the State Budget Office concurs.

UNENFORCEABLE SECTIONS

The bill includes 2 boilerplate sections that we believe are unenforceable.

- Sec. 453 (2) requires indemnification payments, at fair market value prescribed in the animal industry act, of livestock if the kill is verified by the department of natural resources. This section is attempting to amend Public Act 487 of 2012 (wildlife depredations indemnification act) by reference and is therefore unenforceable. The department believes this section should have been deleted as Public Act 487 of 2012 creates a new act that specifically deals with indemnification for the death, injury, or loss of livestock from wolves, coyotes, and cougars. This section was deemed unenforceable in last year's budget bill (P.A. 59 of 2013).
- Sec. 803 requires unexpended or unencumbered balances of appropriations for thoroughbred and standardbred programs that may occur in the event of no live race meet in 2014 or 2015 to be held in escrow. This section is in violation of MCL 18.1451, which requires the unencumbered balance of each appropriation to lapse to the state fund from which it is appropriated. Should a lapse occur to the Michigan agriculture equine industry development fund, this language is contingent on some future action by the legislature to appropriate resources specifically for thoroughbred and standardbred programs. This is unenforceable, as it attempts to amend existing law without republication. The language also attempts to direct the Michigan Gaming Control Board to do certain actions. This section was deemed unenforceable in last year's budget bill (P.A. 59 of 2013).

Sec. 804 is a statement of intent that the Michigan gaming control board use actual expenditure data in determining the regulatory costs of conducting racing dates and is basically identical to enforceable language that appears in Article VIII (General Government; Casino Gaming Sec. 978).

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Commercial forestry audit program – The Legislature (Senator Green) added $150,000 general fund and related boilerplate Sec. 609 for a commercial forestry audit program with audits to be performed by a team composed of qualified professionals including the department, the department of environmental quality, university faculty and conservation groups. The Michigan Forest Products Council testified in support of a 3-year pilot program to conduct site visits and prepare an analysis and audit for best management practices for water quality and forest ecosystems.
- Farmland preservation program – The Legislature added $121,700 general fund and moved $200,000 general fund from the unclassified positions line item to the farmland preservation program. Restricted funding is no longer adequate to sustain the program and staff has been reduced creating backlogs within the program. The department has been working with stakeholders on funding options but no agreement has been reached. Total fiscal year 2015 appropriation is $905,700.
- Local conservation districts – The Legislature moved $2.2 million from the environmental stewardship and MAEAP programs to fund local conservation districts. In addition, boilerplate sec. 605 states that no funds other than those appropriated for MAEAP shall be used for administration or implementation of the Michigan agriculture environmental assurance program (MAEAP). Although the department does not like this language, they have indicated they can live with it and will attempt to revise it for fiscal year 2016.
- Shows and exhibitions – The Legislature (Rep. Potvin) added $50,000 general fund and boilerplate Sec. 806 for a new grant program to provide financial support, promotion, prizes and premiums of equine, livestock and other agricultural commodity expositions. A similar program called 'premiums – county and state fairs' was last funded in 2009 with state service fee funds. Executive order 2009-22 reduced funding from $1.6 million to $147,200 and the program was eliminated in fiscal year 2010. In an effort to maintain a good working relationship with the Legislature, the department is not recommending a veto.
- County fairs capital improvement grants – The Legislature (Rep. Potvin) added $18,400 general fund to the county fairs capital improvement grants to bring the total appropriation to $320,000.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

- Muskegon farmers market – The target agreement included $200,000 one-time general fund for this earmark.
- Ottawa County Agriculture incubator grant – The target agreement included $500,000 one-time general fund for this earmark.

BOILERPLATE EARMARKS

- Eastern Michigan food bank – The Legislature (Senator Moolenaar) included a $200,000 earmark funded from the $1,050,000 rural development value-added grant resources to be used for the completion of the Eastern Michigan food bank's new food hub facility. In an effort to maintain a good working relationship with the Legislature, the department is not recommending a veto of this earmark.

- Food and agriculture industry growth initiative – The Legislature (Senator Casperson) included a $250,000 earmark funded from the $3.0 million food and agriculture industry growth initiative resources to be used for a regional public private partnership consisting of Michigan Technological University and Verso Paper Corporation located in Quinnesec (Dickinson County) to study heating a greenhouse using low-grade pulp and paper mill waste. This earmark was reduced from $390,000 to $250,000 which is the maximum that can be awarded under the grant program. In an effort to maintain a good working relationship with the Legislature, the department is not recommending a veto of this earmark.

Boilerplate was added to earmark $200,000 to expand and renovate a warehouse facility to store, repackage and distribute fresh produce. The Mott Foundation recently announced a pledge of $2.5 million towards the $5.25 million estimate ($1.0 million of which is contingent upon the food bank raising $600,000 in matching funds by the end of 2014). MDARD did not award a grant to this project in 2013 as they felt the project was not ready. MDARD continues to work with the group in an effort to get them ready for the next round of grants. Boilerplate was added to earmark $250,000 for a regional public private partnership consisting of Michigan Technological University (MTU) and at least 1 pulp and paper manufacturing operation (specifically Verso Paper Corp located in Dickinson County). A similar proposal was submitted as a 2014 grant proposal to provide funding for a feasibility study for the construction of a new hydroponic greenhouse. MDARD did not award a grant to this project as funds were not awarded for projects that directly benefited a single organization. This attempt teams up the private company with MTU. According to Senator Hansen, funds will be used to outfit the kitchen area of the new Muskegon farmers market so cooking classes can be offered. He added that there is a big problem with obesity and high blood pressure and the goal is to get people to eat and cook more healthy. The farmers market was moved to a 4 acre parcel that is part of 23 acres owned by the nonprofit Downtown Muskegon Development Corporation (DMDC) and features 130 lighted vendor stalls, year-round indoor event spaces, and 400 parking spaces. A private effort to raise $3.9 million to build the market is just $270,000 short of its goal. The largest corporate sponsor is Alcoa Foundation.	Binding	Retain part of target agreement
MDARD		III	Ottawa County Agriculture incubator grant	$500.0	$500.0	0.0	Ottawa County	Meekhof	Part of target agreement. Ottawa County requested $249,113 in FY14 for strategic growth initiative competitive grant funding. They were not selected for an award. This project is described as an Ag-Technology Business Incubator that would provide customized business support services to assist a critical mass of farmers and other entrepreneurs who want to commercialize agricultural technology innovations. According to the application, Ottawa County conducted a pilot incubator project which verified the need for, and effectiveness of, a unique service delivery model. This was done with a $20,000 grant from USDA Rural Development and $10,000 from Ottawa County. This application indicated there would be client fees paid by those utilizing the incubator services. The total budget for this application was about $360,000 for a 2 year period. About 70% of the total cost would have been covered by the state grant and there was about 30% of the funding coming from in-kind staff time from the County. $76,000 of the total grant was budgeted for university faculty for scientific research to assist 8 incubator clients to quantify the outputs, energy usage, technical competitive advantages, and outcomes of prototypes that are built utilizing the technology that the 8 business startups want to commercialize. VETO RECOMMENDATIONS

The State Budget Office recommends no vetoes.

UNENFORCEABLE SECTIONS

There are no boilerplate sections recommended as unenforceable.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Increase in Operations Funding – EHB 5314 includes an increase in operations funding of $8.9 million general fund, distributed through a performance funding formula. This represents a 3.0% increase, as was proposed in the Executive Recommendation. The total general fund spending in the Community Colleges budget, $173.9 million, is consistent with the target agreement, as is School Aid Fund spending at $197.6 million.
- Performance Funding Formula – The Legislature leaves the formula unchanged from the Governor's Recommendation. Tuition restraint was not included as a prerequisite for performance funding, as had been proposed by the Governor.
- MPSERS Rate Cap Costs – EHB 5314 increases funding for MPSERS UAL costs over the statutory cap of 20.96% by $20.9 million, bringing total funding to $52.3 million. The Legislature did not agree to lower the statutory rate cap to 19.76%, freeing up $6.8 million in general fund, consistent with the target agreement if the Legislature did not agree to lower the cap.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

There are no major one-time issues.

VETO RECOMMENDATIONS

The department recommends no vetoes and the State Budget Office concurs.

UNENFORCEABLE SECTIONS

There are no boilerplate sections deemed unenforceable.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Department Operational Savings – After general fund targets were reached with legislative leadership, the department was largely successful in negotiating where reductions would occur. A total of $11.9 million in department suggested operational savings are included in the budget, primarily from correctional facility accounts. The department continues to identify efficiencies in their operations that allowed for this level of savings to be budgeted in fiscal year 2015.
- Hepatitis C Treatment Protocol – The Executive Recommendation included a request for $4.9 million in funding for a new Hepatitis C treatment protocol that has been promulgated by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and adopted by the Federal Bureau of Prisons. The legislature included only $4.4 million in funding for this area. The treatment program utilizes a new drug called Sovaldi that is very expensive (approximately $84,000 for a 12-week treatment regimen), but very effective in treating the disease. The department commenced treatment utilizing Sovaldi for a limited number of inmates beginning in January 2014 using existing funds by triaging the cases that are most suited for the new regimen. The additional funding in fiscal year 2015 will allow for additional treatment slots.
- DHS Michigan Rehabilitation Services (Senator Proos / Senator Caswell) – The legislature added $1.0 million general fund for an interdepartmental grant to the Department of Human Services' Michigan Rehabilitation Services program. Section 406 of boilerplate requires that funding be utilized to expand the swift-and-sure sanctions probation program and is intended to assist individuals with histories of probation violations, exceptional mental health needs, and who meet the profile of the existing customer base of Michigan Rehabilitation Services.

- Legislative Earmarks – Two ongoing earmarks were added by the legislature for a total of $2,649,000 general fund. The earmarks include $2.5 million for Goodwill of Greater Detroit's Flip the Script program and $149,000 for Legal Aid of Western Michigan and Legal Aid and Defender Services of Oakland County. These earmarks are described in detail in a separate attachment. These earmarks are not recommended for veto as the department was able to negotiate the amounts down from a total of $4.9 million that had previously been supported by the legislature. Had the original amounts been included, the department would have experienced larger cuts in order to accommodate them within target. Representative Haveman, who supported these earmarks, was particularly helpful to the department in workgroup meetings to eliminate troublesome boilerplate and to shift target reductions into areas the department supported. The department also intends to build metrics for these earmarks in order to obtain the most favorable outcomes from the projects.
- Geriatric and Medically Fragile Inmates – The legislature did not act on the Executive Recommendation's FY14 capital outlay request to include funding for planning for the conversion of Cotton Correctional Facility into a specialized facility to care for geriatric and medically fragile inmates. Representative Haveman has expressed his desire for the department to first look to the private sector to determine if this type of service could be conducted outside prison walls. Section 938 of boilerplate requires the department to issue a request for information for this type of contract by January 1st. The department has already contracted with KPMG to conduct the RFI and it is expected that it will be issued this month.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

- Muskegon County 70 x 7 Life Recovery Pilot Project (Representative Haveman) – As stipulated in the Leadership Target Agreement, one-time funding of $600,000 general fund is included for this program that currently exists in Ottawa County. The program provides mentoring, employment, substance abuse, and other counseling services to re-entry populations.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Childcare Caseload – Consistent with the caseload projections agreed to at the May 2014 Consensus Revenue Estimating Conference, EHB 5313 reduces the subsidy payments line for the Child Development and Care program by $36.6 million, all federal Child Care Development Funds, bringing the subsidy payments line down to $110.3 million ($39.0 million general fund).
- Educator Evaluations Staffing and Systems – Pursuant to the target agreement, a total of $3.4 million is appropriated for Educator Evaluations ($2.5 million ongoing). Language is also included prohibiting these funds from being spent until HB 5223 and HB 5224 (Educator Evaluation policy bills) are enacted.
- MPSERS Rate Cap Reduction – EHB 5313 does not include $356,000 in funding for the MPSERS rate cap reduction proposed in the Exec Rec for libraries. This is consistent with the decisions made by conferees in the school aid and community colleges budgets as well.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

- Educator Evaluations Staffing and Systems – Per the target agreement, EHB 5313 includes $900,000 in one-time funding for educator evaluations, as part of the $3.4 million total agreed to in the target agreement.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Water quality and use initiative – The Executive recommended an additional $3,977,200 general fund for a comprehensive water strategy initiative designed to build healthy ecosystems focusing on the enhancement of a water use assessment tool, permit process improvements, real-time beach monitoring, wetlands, and water quality monitoring efforts. The Legislature concurred but divided the appropriation into 3 separate lines; namely water quality and use initiative/general, real-time beach monitoring program, and wetlands program.
- Cleanup funding – The Executive Recommendation continued a planned multi-year effort to phase-out the use of refined petroleum fund support for debt service, replacing $3,014,500 refined petroleum fund with general fund in the Treasury bill to free up an equal amount of refined petroleum fund to be used to address cleanup projects in the Department of Environmental Quality. This brings total refined petroleum fund support for environmental cleanups to $44.7 million. The proposal was supported by the Legislature.
- Hazardous waste management program – The Executive recommended and the Legislature concurred with an additional $1,900,000 general fund to maintain the existing hazardous waste program. In addition, the Legislature reduced restricted authorization by $1,500,000 to align authorization with available funds.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

- Electronic document management system – The Executive recommended and the Legislature concurred with an additional $2,500,000 one-time general fund for a department-wide electronic document management system designed to provide efficient and effective access to department records.

VETOES RECOMMENDATIONS

The Judiciary recommends no vetoes and the State Budget Office concurs.

UNENFORCEABLE SECTIONS

There are no boilerplate sections that we believe are unenforceable.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Although the legislature met the overall general fund target of $186,527,400, the on-going amount is $625,000 above target and the one-time amount is below target by the same amount.
- The Executive Recommendation included a request for $245,000 in funding for court interpreters to help ensure Michigan's compliance with federal directives. The legislature reduced the amount by $125,000 general fund to reach the overall target agreement funding level.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

- Trial Court Performance Innovations Fund – The one-time $1 M general fund investment request was reduced by $625,000 to $375,000 general fund. First established in fiscal year 2014 with $1 M general fund, this investment provides for the continuance of grants to trial courts with innovative ideas for improving court performance and public service.

No vetoes are recommended by the department, and the State Budget Office concurs.

UNENFORCEABLE SECTIONS

No boilerplate sections are deemed unenforceable.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Health Professions (Jansen) – The Legislature added $200,000 general fund to support an information technology project to make disciplinary actions taken against health professionals publically available through the online license verification website. (Section 512)
- Fund Shifts (Jansen/Forlini) – The Legislature included the following fund shifts between line items that maintained the general fund target while freeing up $1.97 million in fungible Liquor Purchase Revolving Fund (LPRF) to lapse to the general fund. To complete the three-way fund shift, the budget relies on $2.2 million in additional Corporation Fees to support the RPM and MIOSHA programs. The department has indicated they will be able to effectively manage the use of the additional Corporation Fees. Specifics of the fund shifts are detailed below:
  - Reinventing Performance in Michigan – General fund to Corporations Fees ($175,000)
  - MIOSHA – General fund to Corporations Fees ($2 million)
  - Fire Services – LPRF to general fund ($1.97 million)

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

- Delphi Corporation Workers' Compensation Claims – Consistent with the target agreement, the Legislature included $15 million general fund to pay workers' compensation claims to former Delphi Corporation employees. Section 1001 provides that $7 million of the total cannot be spent until the Self Insurer's Security Fund (SISF) balance and $8 million general fund are fully expended.

- Disability Accessibility Pilot Project, Section 1002 (Jansen) – The Legislature added $100,000 in one-time funding from Elevators Fees to support this pilot that is intended to provide services to municipalities and businesses to improve accessibility and create universal design blueprints for accessible elevators.
- Unemployment Insurance Agency – At the department's request, the Legislature removed $2.4 million for development of a new mobile claim filing application. The department intends to re-prioritize the funds towards resolving customer service issues with the new MIwams system.
- Liquor Control Commission – The Legislature reduced the final year of project funding from $2 million to $500,000 reflecting the current estimates in the Department of Technology, Management and Budget project plan.

The department recommends no vetoes and the State Budget Office concurs.

UNENFORCEABLE SECTIONS

There are no boilerplate sections deemed unenforceable.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- National Guard Tuition Assistance Program – The Executive Recommendation included $5.0 million ongoing GF/GP to establish a state tuition assistance program for Michigan Air and Army National Guard service members. The proposed tuition assistance program would cover 100% of tuition and authorized fees, up to $4,500 a year, for members to pursue course work in programs leading to a certificate, their first associates, bachelors or masters degree. The Legislature, while supportive of the program, reduced the ongoing amount by $657,900 GF/GP, but appropriated $400,000 in one-time funds to supplement the ongoing appropriation.
- Michigan Veterans' Affairs Agency (MVAA) – The Executive Recommendation included $2.2 million Ongoing GF/GP to support initiatives as part of the continued effort by the MVAA to improve services to veterans. The new funding will support the full year costs of the agency, establish regional coordinators in conjunction with the governor's Regional Prosperity Initiative, and support grants to local units of government to assist in providing veteran services. The Legislature reduced the recommended support for the full year costs of the agency by $200,000 GF/GP.
- Veterans' Service Grants – The Legislature, through its reductions to the tuition assistance program and MVAA, increased the level of state-funded grants to Veterans Service Organizations by $857,900 Ongoing GF/GP, to a total of $3.8 million Ongoing GF/GP. The Executive recommended continuing the funding for Veterans' Service Organizations at $2.9 million Ongoing GF/GP. The department does not oppose the funding increase.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

- Special Maintenance - Veterans' Homes – The Legislature, in concurrence with the Executive Recommendation, included $3.0 million in One-Time GF/GP support for special maintenance needs at the state's veterans' homes.
- National Guard Tuition Assistance Program Reserve – The Legislature utilized a $400,000 GF/GP increase to the department's one-time target to provide reserves for the National Guard Tuition Assistance Program. Per boilerplate Section 14-702, the funding can only be expended upon exhaustion of ongoing resources.

VETOES RECOMMENDATIONS

The department recommends no vetoes and the State Budget Office concurs.

UNENFORCEABLE SECTIONS

There are no boilerplate sections deemed unenforceable.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONGOING ISSUES

- Invasive species initiative – The Governor recommended $4.0 million ongoing and $2.0 million one-time general fund to implement a comprehensive, coordinated regional response to prevent, detect, eradicate, and control invasive species. The Legislature reduced total funding to $5.0 million and moved the entire amount to ongoing.
- Forestry investment – The Executive Recommendation included $4.0 million general fund for wildfire protection to offset a like amount of forest development fund to be redirected to forest management to achieve the goals of the forest products summit, increase demand for Michigan wood products, and support the growth of rural economies across the state. The Legislature reduced general fund $80,000 below the Executive Recommendation to meet the target agreement.
- Michigan conservation corps – The Governor recommended an increase of $1.0 million general fund to expand and rename the summer youth initiative. The Legislature concurred with the name change but reduced funding for the program $2.5 million below the Governor's recommendation. Total ongoing funding support is $1.0 million. Boilerplate section 250 requires the department to work with the Michigan civilian conservation corps partnership steering committee to plan for a nonprofit Michigan civilian conservation corps that is administered outside of state government.

- Great Lakes research vessel – The Executive Recommendation included $2.0 million one-time funding to replace the Lake Huron research vessel Chinook ($1.0 million from general fund). The Legislature concurred but moved funding to the ongoing section.
- Hart-Montague trail – Consistent with the target agreement, the Legislature (Sen. Hansen) included $530,000 general fund for the Hart-Montague trail.
- Cormorant population mitigation – The Legislature added $50,000 general fund for cormorant mitigation which brings the total appropriation to $150,000.
- State Parks funding – The Executive Recommendation included and the Legislature concurred with $3,750,000 general fund for state parks repairs and maintenance. There is an informal agreement to earmark $2.5 million of this total for Belle Isle.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR ONE-TIME ISSUES

The following items are consistent with the target agreement:

- River Raisin National Battlefield foundation grant – The Legislature (Sen. Richardville) included $2.0 million one-time general fund for the preservation of the national battlefield located in Monroe.
- Saginaw River feasibility study – The Legislature (Sen. Kahn) included $280,000 one-time general fund to conduct a study to determine the feasibility of deepening the Saginaw River from the 6th Street turning basin to the Saginaw Bay for the purpose of increasing economic activity in the region.
- Flint River dike repair – The Legislature (Sen. Kahn) included $1.0 million one-time general fund to repair a dike on the Flint River.
- City of Alma/Alma College public safety land improvements – The Legislature (Sen. Emmons) included $1.0 million one-time general fund for this earmark.
- Hart-Montague trail – The Legislature (Sen. Hansen) included $470,000 one-time general fund for the Hart-Montague trail (total of $1.0 million with the $530,000 ongoing general fund).

SUMMARY OF MAJOR BOILERPLATE ISSUES

- Section 901: Snowmobile law enforcement grants must be used to provide grants to county law enforcement agencies. Although the department does not like this language, they have indicated they can live with it.
- Section 1002: Not less than $980,000 must be spent on the development of new trails in accordance with the off-road vehicle trail expansion plan. Although the department does not like this language, they have indicated they can live with it.

Major Boilerplate Issues:

New Sections

- Sec. 250 As a condition of expenditure of funds for the Michigan conservation corps, the department must work with the Michigan civilian conservation corps (MCCC) partnership steering committee to plan for a nonprofit MCCC that is administered outside of state government.
- Sec. 251 From amounts appropriated for invasive species, the department must allocate not less than $3.6 million for grants for the prevention, detection, eradication, and control of invasive species.
- Sec. 704 If SBs 873-877 are enacted, the department must allocate $200,000 for the Pure Michigan trails programs. These bills would replace references to Michigan trailways with references to Pure Michigan Trails and allow the director of DNR, rather than the Natural Resources Commission to designate a trail as a Pure Michigan Trail. The bills were all ordered enrolled on June 12, 2014.
- Sec. 808 The department must develop a lawful and reasonable plan designed to motivate lessees under state-granted oil and gas leases past their primary term to undertake new operations to ensure minerals are fully developed.
- Sec. 1201 The department must conduct a study to determine the feasibility of deepening the Saginaw River from the 6th Street turning basin to the Saginaw Bay for the purpose of increasing economic activity in the region.

Amended Sections

- Sec. 603 Includes new requirement that department must use any additional funds and any remaining funds to harass cormorants with the goal of reducing foraging attempts on fish populations.

This doesn't directly affect the Flint situation; however, from the Bridge article, Mayor Walling is requesting forgiveness for Flint's debt payments to the drinking water revolving fund. I've attached a spreadsheet on the 4 outstanding loans.

Subject: Drinking Water Revolving Fund Program

Jenny,

The Drinking Water Revolving Fund Program leverages federal funds to support low interest loans to assist water suppliers with implementing infrastructure improvements necessary to provide safe drinking water.

Per Treasury, there is $9.7 million currently available to match federal funds. If DEQ receives $2.25 million in 2015 and $2.05 million in 2016, there would be $14 million available to match federal funds. An estimated $6 million per year would be needed each year to leverage $30 million of federal funds each year. This means 2015 and 2016 would require $12 million of the $14 million balance and that in 2017 there is the potential that Michigan may not be able to fully maximize anticipated federal funds.

Please let me know if you would prefer the information in excel format or if you have any additional questions.

Thanks,
Amy

RE: Update and Transition Progress

Thank you for your consideration of my request for authorization to apply for the $7 million loan from the State's Emergency Loan Board. This loan, if approved, will be used to eliminate the City's General Fund deficit ahead of the schedule in our current Deficit Elimination/Reserve Accumulation Plan. This will enable the City to move forward with building adequate reserves necessary to foster financial stability. This, along with the commitments established in ordinance to develop and maintain a multi-year budget based on a strategic plan and to address the funding of long term liabilities, Flint's financial solvency can be sustainable.

Thank you also for your consideration of the proposed consolidation of the 68th and 67th District Court, an action which has been long in the making. Recommended by the State Court Administrators Office and authorized by state law, the consolidation is planned to become effective January 2, 2016. The Memorandum of Understanding, approved today by the Genesee County Board of Commissioners, details the advantages the consolidation will have for the City of Flint. The city will see a reduction in costs of more than $8.4 million over the first 10 years, providing some much needed funds to support police services. Additionally the new court division is assured of at least 2 probation officers, something which the Court has not had for several years. And, as provided in both law and the agreement, judges will continue to be elected from within the City.

As you know, my focus over the past few months has been and continues to be transitioning the City from oversight by an Emergency Manager to home rule under the guidance of a Receivership Transition Advisory Board.

Much progress has been made in preparing for the transition, including action by the City Council to complete the following:

- Final adoption of the Capital Improvements Plan
- Final adoption of ordinances regarding planning, budgeting, funds balance, and deficit elimination
- Update of the Strategic Plan's Vision, Mission, and Goals
- Adoption of budget priorities to guide development of the FY16/FY17 budget

Additionally, our new City Administrator Natasha Henderson is on board and is assuming duties as the experienced and professionally trained chief administrative officer for the City.

There are several issues which we are continuing to address, including:

- Water safety, quality, and affordability continues to be a top priority. The City's water supply today is safe, as measured by the same MDEQ standards that have been in place for years, and steps are being taken to improve treatment and distribution processes in order to address issues of discoloration and odor, and to assure continued safety. Reviews of our pricing structure are also underway to assure that customers are treated equitably while generating sufficient revenue to operate the system.

Public safety continues to be an area of critical concern. The independent study of our police and fire organization provided a number of recommendations focused on how to best deploy the resources we have, and also confirmed that the staffing levels afforded by our limited resources are extremely low in comparison to comparable municipalities. This emphasizes the critical continuing importance of renewing the two voter-approved public safety millages and working to assure continuing state support through the assignment of state troopers and through financial support of the City lock-up. Loss of any of this support would be a disaster for the City.

- Achieving and then maintaining financial stability will continue to require constant attention. Approval of the ordinances regarding financial stability and the anticipated approval of the $7 million loan provide additional tools with which to work. Attention will need to be paid to not only developing and adopting budgets for FY16 and FY17 but doing so in the context of understanding the impact of those budgetary decisions into the following three years. Essential to this is making the budget decisions which truly address achievement of the stated vision, mission and goals for the City as adopted by the City Council. Unfortunately, the challenges in doing so will be great, as the City will continue to be faced with the reality of a structural deficit, where for the foreseeable future current expenditure patterns exceed revenue streams – a difficult position, given the City's already low level of services. Complicating this further is the potential impact of the retiree health care lawsuit, once the final outcome is decided.

- Finally progress continues with modernizing the operations of the City and setting the framework for future development. With the Master Plan and Capital Improvement Plan in place, focus is now turning to implementation, including updating the Zoning Ordinance.

As we move forward with preparing for transition, there is much work yet to do. Today I am taking three actions consistent with our path:

- Adoption of an updated purchasing policy – I am enacting the revisions to the Purchasing policy which were reviewed by Council within the past few months. These changes are made with the goal of assuring that the process of obtaining goods and services is consistent with the expectations of the Strategic Plan. There must be proper oversight and transparency, with a goal of obtaining goods and services that best meet the needs of City departments. The process must ensure competitive procurement, conducted in a timely and ethical manner. The City Council has an important role in assuring compliance with the policy, which is not the same as conducting purchasing operations.
- Confirming the role of the City Administrator – Before the search for a new City Administrator was begun, it was determined, within the context of the Seven Point Transition Plan, that an experienced and professional City Administrator would be selected on the basis of an open competitive process, and that the duties of the City Administrator would be structured in a manner which assures the ability to manage and direct the administrative affairs of the City in a professional manner. While those duties and expectations were described in the job description of the City Administrator and in recruitment materials, I am now formally enacting them in Emergency Manager Order Number 3.
- Re-establishing salaries for Mayor and Council – As we are moving towards transition, the duties and responsibilities of the Mayor and City Council are expanding towards the traditional roles of a City operating under home rule. Council meetings are now held twice per month, with committee meetings held once per month. The Mayor is now much more engaged in a Chief Executive role. Consequently, I have determined to re-establish the salaries for Mayor and Council at the levels in place immediately prior to the appointment of an Emergency Manager in November, 2011. Continued receipt of the re-established salaries, however, is contingent upon attainment of certain training. The re-established levels, and the contingency regarding training, is found in Emergency Manager Order Number 4.

Over the next several weeks, there will be much work with respect to finalizing the loan application and developing the FY16 and FY17 budgets along with FY18, FY19, and FY20 projections. Work will also continue with implementing improvements of the water system, and reviewing our associated rate structure. Evaluation and implementation of the recommendations for best use of police and fire resources will continue, including corrective action for the police evidence room issues. Summer street maintenance and repair programs, as well as sidewalk repairs will soon be underway. Public meetings regarding the zoning ordinance are being held, with a recommended updated ordinance expected for consideration in late spring. A revision to the City's business licensing ordinance is expected soon. These are but a few of the many activities to be expected as the City makes the best use of its resources to provide the best level of service it can within the resources it has.

I look forward to working with you as we move towards transition to home rule under the guidance of a Receivership Transition Advisory Board. Please contact me if you have any questions.

If the lowest responsible bidder is not located within the City limits of Flint, and the lowest bid of the responsible bidders located within the City limits of Flint does not exceed that of the lowest nonlocal bidder by more than seven percent (7%), then the Director and/or Manager may determine said lowest local bidder to be the lowest responsible bidder, and make the award to such local bidder accordingly, subject to the approval of the City Council. Additionally, if the lowest responsible bidder is not located within the limits of the City of Flint, and the lowest bid of the responsible bidder located within the County of Genesee does not exceed the bid of the lowest nonlocal bidder by more than three and one half percent (3.5%), then the Director and/or Manager may determine said lowest Genesee County bidder to be the lowest responsible bidder, and make the award to such Genesee County bidder accordingly, subject to the approval of the City Council.~~

THE CITY'S MISSION IS TO ASSURE THAT RESIDENTS, BUSINESSES, STUDENTS AND VISITORS RECEIVE MUNICIPAL SERVICES IN A CUSTOMER FRIENDLY

AND FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE MANNER.

STRUCTURING CITY OPERATIONS TO ACHIEVE THIS MISSION AND VISION HAVE REQUIRED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF LONG RANGE STRATEGIC PLANNING AND BUDGETING. EQUALLY IMPORTANT IS ESTABLISHING THE PRINCIPLES BY WHICH GOODS AND SERVICES WILL BE OBTAINED.

THE PROCESS OF OBTAINING GOODS AND SERVICES MUST BE CONSISTENT WITH THE STRATEGIC PLAN. THERE MUST BE PROPER OVERSIGHT AND TRANSPARENCY, WITH A GOAL OF OBTAINING THE GOODS AND SERVICES THAT BEST MEET THE NEEDS OF CITY DEPARTMENTS. THE PROCESS MUST ENSURE COMPETITIVE PROCUREMENT CONDUCTED IN AN ETHICAL AND TIMELY MANNER IN ORDER FOR THE CITY TO CARRY OUT ITS DUTIES. USE OF CITY RESOURCES FOR PERSONAL USE IS GROUNDS FOR TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT AND POSSIBLE CRIMINAL PROSECUTION.

PURCHASING GOODS AND SERVICES SUPPORTS THE BUSINESSES AND COMMUNITIES IN WHICH THE BUSINESSES RESIDE. ACCORDINGLY, WHEN FEASIBLE, IN TERMS OF QUALITY, COST, AND ACCESSIBILITY, THE CITY SHOULD MAKE GOOD FAITH EFFORTS TO PROCURE GOODS AND SERVICES FROM BUSINESSES WITH A PHYSICAL LOCATION WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS, AND IF NOT ABLE TO DO SO, TO MAKE SIMILAR EFFORTS WITH RESPECT TO BUSINESSES PHYSICALLY LOCATED IN GENESEE COUNTY AND/OR SURROUNDING COMMUNITIES.

THE FLINT CITY COUNCIL SHALL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR PERIODICALLY REVIEWING AND UPDATING THIS ORDINANCE, FOR MONITORING PURCHASING ACTIVITIES AS DESCRIBED WITHIN THIS ORDINANCE, AND APPROVING PURCHASES AS DESCRIBED WITHIN THIS ORDINANCE TO ASSURE THAT GOODS AND SERVICES OBTAINED BEST MEET THE NEEDS OF CITY DEPARTMENTS AND ARE OBTAINED IN A COMPETITIVE, TRANSPARENT, ETHICAL AND TIMELY MANNER THAT PERMITS THE CITY TO CARRY OUT ITS DUTIES.

THE MAYOR SHALL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR EXECUTIVE OVERSIGHT OF THE PURCHASING OF ALL GOODS AND SERVICES FOR THE CITY, FOR APPROVING PURCHASES AS PROVIDED IN THIS ORDINANCE, AND FOR ASSURING THAT CITY COUNCIL IS PROVIDED TIMELY INFORMATION TO ENABLE IT TO CARRY OUT ITS OVERSIGHT RESPONSIBILITIES.

THE CITY ADMINISTRATOR SHALL PROVIDE ADMINISTRATIVE OVERSIGHT OF THE PURCHASING FUNCTION, FOR APPROVING PURCHASES AS PROVIDED IN THIS ORDINANCE, AND FOR PROVIDING THE CITY COUNCIL TIMELY INFORMATION TO ENABLE IT TO CARRY OUT ITS OVERSIGHT RESPONSIBILITIES.

THE FINANCE DIRECTOR SHALL SUPERVISE THE ACTIVITIES OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR, AND SHALL WORK WITH THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR, DEPARTMENT HEADS AND OTHERS TO ASSURE THAT PROPER BUDGETARY AUTHORITY EXISTS FOR THE PURCHASE OF GOODS AND SERVICES.

THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PROCUREMENT OF ALL GOODS AND SERVICES FOR THE CITY UNLESS OTHERWISE PROVIDED IN THIS ORDINANCE. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL ASSURE THAT ALL GOODS AND SERVICES ARE OBTAINED IN A COMPETITIVE AND ETHICAL MANNER AND IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE PROCESSES ESTABLISHED IN THIS ORDINANCE. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL ALSO APPROVE PURCHASES AS PROVIDED IN THIS ORDINANCE. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL ALSO DEVELOP AND RECOMMEND TO THE MAYOR THE APPROPRIATE PROCESSES AND PROCEDURES TO MEET THE REQUIREMENTS OF THIS ARTICLE.

DEPARTMENT HEADS AND PERSONNEL DESIGNATED BY DEPARTMENT HEADS SHALL HAVE THE AUTHORITY TO OBTAIN GOODS AND SERVICES AS AUTHORIZED IN THIS ARTICLE. THE DESIGNATED PERSONNEL SHALL ALSO PROVIDE THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR WITH THE INFORMATION NEEDED TO ASSURE THAT THE GOODS AND SERVICES TO BE OBTAINED ARE IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE CITY.

ALL PERSONS WHO ARE AUTHORIZED TO PURCHASE GOODS AND SERVICES FOR THE CITY SHALL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR ASSURING THAT PURCHASES MADE IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE CITY, ARE OBTAINED ON A COMPETITIVE BASIS AS REQUIRED BY THIS ARTICLE, AND ARE DONE IN AN ETHICAL MANNER.

§ 18-21.2 DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY.

THERE MUST BE PROPER OVERSIGHT AND TRANSPARENCY WITH RESPECT TO THE PURCHASE OF

GOODS AND SERVICES, WITH A GOAL OF OBTAINING GOODS AND SERVICES THAT BEST MEET THE NEEDS OF CITY DEPARTMENTS. THE PROCESS MUST ENSURE COMPETITIVE PROCUREMENT CONDUCTED IN A TIMELY AND ETHICAL MANNER IN ORDER FOR THE CITY TO CARRY OUT ITS DUTIES. ALL PARTIES DELEGATED AUTHORITY WITH RESPECT TO ALL PURCHASES OF GOODS AND SERVICES ARE CHARGED WITH THE RESPONSIBILITY OF MAKING PURCHASES IN A COMPETITIVE AND ETHICAL MATTER, AND FOR ADHERING IN ALL RESPECTS TO THE CITY OF FLINT CODE OF CONDUCT POLICY.

DEPARTMENT HEADS AND EMPLOYEES SPECIFICALLY DESIGNATED BY DEPARTMENT HEADS, AND APPROVED BY THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR, SHALL BE ELIGIBLE TO BE ISSUED PROCUREMENT CARDS, AND ARE AUTHORIZED TO PURCHASE GOODS AND SERVICES FOR CITY PURPOSES, PROVIDED FUNDS ARE APPROPRIATELY BUDGETED AND THAT THE DEPARTMENT HEAD OR DESIGNATED EMPLOYEE FORMALLY AGREE TO ALL PROVISIONS REGARDING THE USE AND RECONCILEMENT OF THE CARDS, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR. THE AMOUNT OF GOODS AND SERVICES PURCHASED IN ONE MONTH MAY NOT EXCEED $10,000, UNLESS SPECIFIC AUTHORIZATION IS APPROVED BY THE FINANCE DIRECTOR, CITY ADMINISTRATOR, AND MAYOR UPON THE RECOMMENDATION OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR MAY SUSPEND

USE OF PROCUREMENT CARDS FOR FAILURE TO FOLLOW ESTABLISHED PROCESSES AND PROTOCOLS. USE OF PROCUREMENT CARDS FOR PERSONAL OR OTHER NON-CITY USE IS A VIOLATION OF THE CITY'S CODE OF CONDUCT POLICY AND MAY BE GROUNDS FOR TERMINATION AND POSSIBLE CRIMINAL PROSECUTION.

DEPARTMENT HEADS AND EMPLOYEES AUTHORIZED BY DEPARTMENT HEADS MAY REQUEST THE PURCHASE OF GOODS AND SERVICES BY FILING A PROPERLY COMPLETED REQUISITION WITH THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR. UPON RECEIPT OF THE REQUISITION, AND DOCUMENTATION THAT FUNDS HAVE BEEN PROPERLY BUDGETED, THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL CAUSE THE SOLICITATION OF REQUESTS FOR THE PURCHASE OF THE GOODS AND SERVICES TO BE MADE, FOLLOWING THE APPROPRIATE PROCESSES.

THE RECORD AND EACH BID SHALL BE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.

(5) BID ACCEPTANCE AND BID EVALUATION. BIDS SHALL BE UNCONDITIONALLY ACCEPTED WITHOUT ALTERATION OR CORRECTION, EXCEPT AS AUTHORIZED HEREIN. BIDS SHALL BE EVALUATED BASED ON THE REQUIREMENTS SET FORTH IN THE INVITATION FOR BIDS, WHICH MAY INCLUDE CRITERIA TO DETERMINE ACCEPTABILITY SUCH AS INSPECTION,

TESTING, QUALITY, WORKMANSHIP, DELIVERY, AND SUITABILITY FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. THOSE CRITERIA THAT WILL AFFECT THE BID PRICE AND BE CONSIDERED IN THE EVALUATION FOR AWARD SHALL BE OBJECTIVELY MEASURABLE, SUCH AS DISCOUNTS, TRANSPORTATION COSTS, AND TOTAL OR LIFE CYCLE COSTS. THE INVITATION FOR BIDS SHALL SET FORTH THE EVALUATION CRITERIA TO BE USED.

(6) CORRECTION OR WITHDRAWAL OF BIDS; CANCELLATION OF AWARDS. CORRECTIONS OR WITHDRAWAL OF INADVERTENTLY ERRONEOUS BIDS BEFORE OR AFTER BID OPENING, OR CANCELLATION OF AWARDS OR CONTRACTS BASED ON BID MISTAKES, MAY BE PERMITTED WHERE APPROPRIATE. MISTAKES DISCOVERED BEFORE BID OPENING MAY BE MODIFIED OR WITHDRAWN BY WRITTEN OR ELECTRONIC NOTICE RECEIVED IN THE OFFICE DESIGNATED IN THE INVITATION FOR BIDS PRIOR TO THE DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSION OF THE BID.

IF THE LOWEST RESPONSIBLE BIDDER IS NOT LOCATED WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS, AND THE LOWEST BID OF THE RESPONSIBLE BIDDERS LOCATED

WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS DOES NOT EXCEED THAT OF THE LOWEST NON-LOCAL BIDDER BY MORE THAN SEVEN PERCENT (7%), THEN THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL BE ALLOWED TO REQUEST THE LOWEST LOCAL VENDOR MATCH THE PRICE OFFERED BY THE LOWEST NON-LOCAL VENDOR. ADDITIONALLY, IF THE LOWEST RESPONSIBLE BIDDER IS NOT LOCATED WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS, AND THE LOWEST BID OF THE RESPONSIBLE BIDDER LOCATED WITHIN GENESEE COUNTY DOES NOT EXCEED THE BID OF THE LOWEST NON-LOCAL BIDDER BY MORE THAN THREE AND ONE-HALF PERCENT (3.5%), THEN THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL BE ALLOWED TO REQUEST THE LOWEST LOCAL VENDOR MATCH THE PRICE OFFERED BY THE LOWEST NON-LOCAL VENDOR.

ANY NEGOTIATED ADJUSTMENT SHALL BE BASED ONLY UPON ELIMINATING INDEPENDENT DEDUCTIVE ITEMS SPECIFIED IN THE INVITATION FOR BIDS.

(10) MULTI-STEP SEALED BIDDING. WHEN IT IS CONSIDERED IMPRACTICAL TO INITIALLY PREPARE A PURCHASE DESCRIPTION TO SUPPORT AN AWARD BASED ON PRICE, AN INVITATION FOR QUALIFICATIONS MAY BE ISSUED REQUESTING THE SUBMISSION OF UN-PRICED OFFERS TO BE FOLLOWED BY AN INVITATION FOR BIDS LIMITED TO THOSE BIDDERS WHOSE OFFERS HAVE BEEN DETERMINED TO BE TECHNICALLY ACCEPTABLE UNDER THE CRITERIA SET FORTH IN THE FIRST SOLICITATION.

(6) EVALUATION FACTORS. THE REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS SHALL STATE THE RELATIVE IMPORTANCE OF PRICE AND OTHER EVALUATION FACTORS.

(7) DISCUSSION WITH RESPONSIBLE RESPONDENTS AND REVISIONS TO PROPOSALS. AS PROVIDED IN THE REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS, DISCUSSIONS MAY BE CONDUCTED WITH RESPONSIBLE RESPONDENTS WHO SUBMIT PROPOSALS DETERMINED TO BE REASONABLY SUSCEPTIBLE OF BEING SELECTED FOR AWARD FOR THE PURPOSE OF CLARIFICATION TO ASSURE FULL UNDERSTANDING OF, AND CONFORMANCE TO, THE SOLICITATION REQUIREMENTS. RESPONDENTS WHO SUBMITTED PROPOSALS DETERMINED TO BE REASONABLY SUSCEPTIBLE OF BEING SELECTED FOR AWARD SHALL BE ACCORDED FAIR AND EQUAL TREATMENT WITH RESPECT TO ANY OPPORTUNITY FOR DISCUSSION AND REVISION OF PROPOSALS, AND REVISIONS MAY BE PERMITTED AFTER SUBMISSIONS AND PRIOR TO AWARD FOR THE PURPOSE OF OBTAINING BEST AND FINAL OFFERS.

(8) LOCAL PREFERENCE. UNLESS THE FUNDING SOURCE FOR THE CONTRACT PROHIBITS SUCH PREFERENCES, THE PREFERENCE FOR LOCAL VENDORS AS OUTLINED IN SECTION 18-21.3(7) SHALL BE CONSIDERED.

(9) APPROVAL THRESHOLDS. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR, IN CONSULTATION WITH THE DEPARTMENT HEAD, SHALL EVALUATE THE PROPOSALS AND RECOMMEND AWARD OF THE CONTRACT UNDER THIS SECTION. IF THE RECOMMENDED AWARD IS FOR LESS THAN $20,000, THE DECISION OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL BE FINAL. (2) IN SUCH CASE, THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR, IN CONSULTATION WITH THE DEPARTMENT HEAD, SHALL DEVELOP A REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS THAT WILL DEFINE THE REQUEST TO BE SOUGHT AND THE NECESSARY QUALIFICATIONS A QUALIFIED RESPONDING ENTITY MUST HAVE IN ORDER TO BE QUALIFIED TO RESPOND TO A PROPOSAL REQUEST.

(3) PUBLIC NOTICE. ADEQUATE PUBLIC NOTICE OF THE REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS SHALL BE GIVEN IN THE SAME MANNER AS PROVIDED IN SECTION 18-21.3(3) (COMPETITIVE SEALED BIDDING, PUBLIC NOTICE).

THEY SHALL ALSO GIVE CONSIDERATION, WHERE POSSIBLE AND PRACTICAL, TO BUSINESSES WITH A PHYSICAL LOCATION WITHIN THE CITY, OR IF NOT POSSIBLE, WITHIN GENESEE COUNTY.

THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR MAY ASSESS THESE PURCHASES AS TO THE FEASIBILITY OF FUTURE FORMAL COMPETITIVE PROCESSES FOR THE GOODS AND SERVICES BEING PROCURED IN THIS MANNER.

A MODIFICATION OF A CONTRACT MUST BE APPROVED IN THE SAME MANNER THAT THE CONTRACT WAS APPROVED. ALL CONTRACT MODIFICATIONS MUST BE IN WRITING AND APPROVED IN ADVANCE BY THE CITY ATTORNEY.

DEPARTMENT HEADS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR MONITORING THE TERMS OF ANY AGREEMENT APPROVED FOR GOODS AND SERVICES FOR THEIR AREA OF RESPONSIBILITY. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR AND DEPARTMENT HEADS SHALL ASSURE

§ 18-21.14 DEBARMENT OR SUSPENSION.

THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR, WITH THE CONSENT OF THE CITY ATTORNEY AND THE APPROVAL OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL, IS AUTHORIZED TO DEBAR A PERSON FOR CAUSE FROM CONSIDERATION FOR AWARD OF CONTRACTS. THE DEBARMENT SHALL BE FOR A PERIOD OF NOT MORE THAN THREE (3) YEARS. AFTER CONSULTATION WITH THE CITY ATTORNEY, THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR IS AUTHORIZED TO SUSPEND A PERSON FROM CONSIDERATION FOR AWARD OF CONTRACTS IF THERE IS PROBABLE CAUSE TO BELIEVE THAT THE PERSON HAS ENGAGED IN ANY ACTIVITY THAT MIGHT LEAD TO DEBARMENT. THE SUSPENSION SHALL BE FOR A PERIOD NOT TO EXCEED THREE (3) YEARS. THE CAUSES FOR DEBARMENT INCLUDE:

(1) CONVICTION FOR COMMISSION OF A CRIMINAL OFFENSE AS AN INCIDENT TO OBTAINING OR ATTEMPTING TO OBTAIN A PUBLIC OR PRIVATE CONTRACT OR SUBCONTRACT, OR IN THE PERFORMANCE OF THE CONTRACT OR SUBCONTRACT;

(2) CONVICTION UNDER STATE OR FEDERAL STATUTES OF EMBEZZLEMENT, THEFT, FORGERY, BRIBERY, FALSIFICATION OR DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS, RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY, OR ANY OTHER OFFENSE INDICATING A LACK OF BUSINESS INTEGRITY OR BUSINESS HONESTY THAT

CURRENTLY, SERIOUSLY, AND DIRECTLY AFFECTS RESPONSIBILITY AS A CITY CONTRACTOR;

(3) CONVICTION UNDER STATE OR FEDERAL ANTITRUST STATUTES ARISING OUT OF THE SUBMISSION OF BIDS OR PROPOSALS;

(4) VIOLATION OF CONTRACT PROVISIONS, AS SET FORTH BELOW, OF A CHARACTER THAT IS REGARDED BY THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR TO BE SO SERIOUS AS TO JUSTIFY DEBARMENT ACTION:

(A) DELIBERATE FAILURE, WITHOUT GOOD CAUSE, TO PERFORM IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE SPECIFICATIONS OR WITHIN THE TIME LIMIT PROVIDED IN THE CONTRACT; OR

(B) A RECENT RECORD OF FAILURE TO PERFORM, OR OF UNSATISFACTORY PERFORMANCE, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE TERMS OF ONE OR MORE CONTRACTS; PROVIDED THAT FAILURE TO PERFORM OR UNSATISFACTORY PERFORMANCE CAUSED BY ACTS BEYOND THE CONTROL OF THE CONTRACTOR SHALL NOT BE CONSIDERED TO BE A BASIS FOR DEBARMENT;

(5) ANY OTHER CAUSE THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR DETERMINES TO BE SO SERIOUS

AND COMPELLING AS TO AFFECT RESPONSIBILITY AS A CITY CONTRACTOR, INCLUDING DEBARMENT BY ANOTHER GOVERNMENTAL ENTITY FOR ANY CAUSE LISTED IN THESE REGULATIONS; AND

(6) FOR VIOLATION OF THE ETHICAL STANDARDS AS SET FORTH IN THE CITY OF FLINT CODE OF CONDUCT POLICY.

THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL ISSUE A WRITTEN DECISION TO DEBAR OR SUSPEND. THE DECISION SHALL STATE THE REASONS FOR THE ACTION TAKEN AND INFORM THE DEBARRED OR SUSPENDED PERSON INVOLVED OF THEIR RIGHTS CONCERNING JUDICIAL OR ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW. (1) RIGHT TO PROTEST. ANY ACTUAL OR PROSPECTIVE BIDDER, RESPONDENT, OR CONTRACTOR WHO IS AGGRIEVED IN CONNECTION WITH THE SOLICITATION OR AWARD OF A PURCHASE ORDER AGREEMENT OR CONTRACT MAY PROTEST THE ACTION TO THE CITY.

(2) PROCESS FOR FILING A PROTEST. A PROTEST WITH RESPECT TO AN INVITATION FOR BIDS OR REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS MUST BE SUBMITTED IN WRITING TO THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR. THE PROTEST MUST BE ENTITLED "BID PROTEST" AND MUST CLEARLY

(3) TIME LIMITS FOR FILING. PROTESTS MUST BE RECEIVED BY THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR NO LATER THAN SEVEN (7) CALENDAR DAYS AFTER THE AGGRIEVED PERSON KNEW OR SHOULD HAVE KNOWN OF THE FACTS GIVING RISE TO THE PROTEST, AND IN NO EVENT LATER THAN FOURTEEN (14) CALENDAR DAYS AFTER AWARD OF THE PURCHASE ORDER AGREEMENT OR CONTRACT. FAILURE TO FILE A BID PROTEST WITHIN THESE TIME LIMITS CONSTITUTES A WAIVER OF THE PROTEST.

(4) STAY OF PROCUREMENTS DURING PROTESTS. IN THE EVENT A TIMELY PROTEST IS SUBMITTED TO THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR UNDER THIS SECTION, THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL NOT PROCEED FURTHER WITH THE SOLICITATION, AWARD, OR PERFORMANCE OF THE PURCHASE ORDER AGREEMENT OR CONTRACT UNTIL THE PROTEST IS SUSTAINED OR DISMISSED, OR THE CITY COUNCIL MAKES A DETERMINATION ON THE RECORD THAT THE AWARD OR PERFORMANCE OF A PURCHASE ORDER AGREEMENT OR CONTRACT WITHOUT DELAY IS NECESSARY TO PROTECT SUBSTANTIAL INTERESTS OF THE CITY; PROVIDED HOWEVER THAT IF THE POSTPONEMENT OF THE PURCHASE OF GOODS OR SERVICES IMPAIRS THE ABILITY OF THE CITY TO CARRY OUT ITS SERVICES, THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR, WITH THE APPROVAL OF

THE MAYOR, MAY TAKE NECESSARY STEPS TO OBTAIN THE MINIMUM AMOUNT OF GOODS AND SERVICES NECESSARY TO ENABLE CITY SERVICES TO CONTINUE.

(5) DECISION BY THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL ISSUE A WRITTEN DECISION SUSTAINING OR DENYING THE BID PROTEST WITHIN FIFTEEN (15) DAYS OF RECEIPT OF A WRITTEN AND TIMELY PROTEST. A COPY OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR'S DECISION MUST BE PROVIDED TO THE PROTESTING BIDDER OR PROPOSER, THE MAYOR, AND THE CITY COUNCIL.

(6) APPEAL TO THE MAYOR. A PROTESTING BIDDER OR PROPOSER MAY APPEAL THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR'S DECISION TO THE MAYOR BY FILING A WRITTEN APPEAL WITH THE MAYOR WITHIN SEVEN (7) DAYS OF THE DATE OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR'S DECISION. THE MAYOR SHALL CONDUCT THE INVESTIGATION AS DEEMED NECESSARY TO RESPOND TO THE APPEAL, AND SHALL PROVIDE HIS OR HER DECISION ON THE APPEAL WITHIN SEVEN (7) DAYS.

(7) APPEAL TO CITY COUNCIL. A PROTESTING BIDDER OR PROPOSER MAY APPEAL THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR'S DECISION TO THE CITY COUNCIL BY FILING A WRITTEN APPEAL WITH THE CITY CLERK WITHIN SEVEN (7) DAYS OF THE DATE OF THE MAYOR'S DECISION. NO LATER THAN THE NEXT REGULARLY SCHEDULED MEETING, CITY COUNCIL

SHALL MAKE ITS DECISION ON THE APPEAL.

§ 18-21.16 CONTRACT CLAIMS.

(1) DECISION OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR. ALL CLAIMS BY A CONTRACTOR AGAINST THE CITY RELATING TO A CONTRACT SHALL BE SUBMITTED IN WRITING TO THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR FOR A DECISION. THE SUBMISSION MUST IDENTIFY THE GROUNDS FOR THE CLAIM. THE CONTRACTOR MAY REQUEST A CONFERENCE WITH THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR ON THE CLAIM. CLAIMS INCLUDE, WITHOUT LIMITATION, DISPUTES ARISING UNDER A CONTRACT, AND THOSE BASED UPON BREACH OF CONTRACT, MISTAKE, MISREPRESENTATION, OR OTHER CAUSE FOR CONTRACT MODIFICATION OR RESCISSION.

(2) NOTICE TO THE CONTRACTOR OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR'S DECISION. THE DECISION OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL BE ISSUED IN WRITING WITHIN THIRTY (30) DAYS OF SUBMISSION, AND SHALL BE IMMEDIATELY MAILED OR OTHERWISE FURNISHED TO THE CONTRACTOR. THE DECISION SHALL STATE THE REASONS FOR THE DECISION REACHED, AND SHALL INFORM THE CONTRACTOR OF ITS APPEAL RIGHTS UNDER SUBSECTION (3) OF THIS SECTION. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL CONSULT WITH THE CITY ATTORNEY PRIOR TO MAKING A DECISION DENYING THE CONTRACTOR'S CLAIM IN WHOLE OR IN PART.

(3) FINALITY OF PURCHASING DIRECTOR DECISION; CONTRACTOR'S RIGHT TO APPEAL. THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR DECISION SHALL BE FINAL AND CONCLUSIVE UNLESS, WITHIN

SEVEN (7) CALENDAR DAYS FROM THE DATE OF RECEIPT OF THE DECISION, THE CONTRACTOR MAILES OR OTHERWISE DELIVERS A WRITTEN APPEAL TO THE CITY ADMINISTRATOR.

(4) APPEAL TO THE CITY ADMINISTRATOR. A PROTESTING CONTRACTOR MAY APPEAL THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR'S DECISION TO THE CITY ADMINISTRATOR BY FILING A WRITTEN APPEAL WITH THE CITY ADMINISTRATOR WITHIN SEVEN (7) DAYS OF THE DATE OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR'S DECISION. THE CITY ADMINISTRATOR SHALL CONDUCT THE INVESTIGATION AS DEEMED NECESSARY TO RESPOND TO THE APPEAL, AND SHALL PROVIDE HIS DECISION ON THE APPEAL WITHIN SEVEN (7) DAYS.

§ 18-21.17 AUTHORITY OF THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR TO SETTLE BID PROTESTS AND CONTRACT CLAIMS.

THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR IS AUTHORIZED TO SETTLE ANY PROTEST REGARDING THE SOLICITATION OR AWARD OF A PURCHASE ORDER AGREEMENT OR CITY CONTRACT, OR ANY CLAIM ARISING OUT OF THE PERFORMANCE OF A PURCHASE ORDER AGREEMENT OR CITY CONTRACT, PRIOR TO THE COMMENCEMENT OF AN ACTION IN A COURT OF COMPETENT JURISDICTION.

§ 18-21.18 CANCELLATION OF SOLICITATIONS FOR THE PURCHASE OF GOODS AND SERVICES.

AT ANY TIME THE CITY DETERMINES THAT A SOLICITATION FOR GOODS OR SERVICES SHOULD BE CANCELLED BECAUSE IT IS NOT IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE CITY TO MAKE THE PROCUREMENT, THE

PURCHASING DIRECTOR SHALL IMMEDIATELY NOTIFY THE POTENTIAL VENDORS OF THE CITY'S DECISION. HOWEVER, THE CITY SHALL HAVE NO OBLIGATION OR RESPONSIBILITY FOR ANY COSTS OR INCONVENIENCES INCURRED BY ANY POTENTIAL VENDOR, UNLESS AN AWARD HAS BEEN FORMALLY MADE AND ACCEPTED BY ISSUANCE OF A PURCHASE ORDER OR SIGNING OF A CONTRACT.

§ 18-21.19 ETHICS IN PURCHASING.

THE PROCESS OF PURCHASING GOODS AND SERVICES IS DESIGNED TO ENSURE COMPETITIVE PROCUREMENT CONDUCTED IN AN ETHICAL AND TIMELY MANNER IN ORDER FOR THE CITY TO CARRY OUT ITS DUTIES.

ALL EMPLOYEES DELEGATED AUTHORITY WITH RESPECT TO ALL PURCHASES OF GOODS AND SERVICES ARE CHARGED WITH THE RESPONSIBILITY OF MAKING PURCHASES IN A COMPETITIVE AND ETHICAL MANNER, AND FOR ADHERING IN ALL RESPECTS TO THE CITY OF FLINT CODE OF CONDUCT POLICY. SHALL NOT COMMUNICATE ABOUT THE SOLICITATION WITH ANY CITY EMPLOYEE, AGENT, OR ELECTED OFFICIAL, OTHER THAN THE PURCHASING DIRECTOR OR OTHER CITY PERSONNEL IDENTIFIED IN THE SOLICITATION.

THE PENALTIES SHALL BE IN ADDITION TO THE CIVIL SANCTIONS SET FORTH IN THIS ARTICLE. CRIMINAL, CIVIL, AND ADMINISTRATIVE SANCTIONS AGAINST EMPLOYEES OR NON-EMPLOYEES THAT ARE IN EXISTENCE ON THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THIS ARTICLE SHALL NOT BE IMPAIRED.

EM Updates Council, Requests support for Emergency Loan and District Court Consolidation; Adjusts Salaries for Mayor and Council

Flint, Michigan – April 13, 2015 – By letter to City Council issued today, Emergency Manager Jerry Ambrose congratulated City Council for their recent actions committing to restoring and maintaining the City's financial solvency. Mr. Ambrose stated that recent actions to adopt a series of ordinances requiring commitment to establishing appropriate financial reserves and an improved planning and budgeting process indicate that the Council understands the need to restore and maintain Flint's financial solvency. "While there is much yet to do, these are positive steps in the right direction," said Mr. Ambrose. "The ongoing challenge will be to adhere to the requirements the City Council has adopted themselves."

Mr. Ambrose's letter also reiterated the priority issues currently facing the City – developing a long range financial plan, beginning with the upcoming FY16 and FY17 budget; continuing to address concerns with water safety, quality and affordability; and stabilizing resources for public safety. "These are clearly the top priority issues, and ones which require the cooperation of all if they are to be successfully addressed," stated Mr. Ambrose. "Unfortunately, resources are extremely limited, and we must make decisions which address the most critical issues in a financially sound manner – and that often means we cannot do everything everybody wants."

Some of the ingredients of restoring Flint's financial solvency on a sustainable basis, according to Mr. Ambrose, include obtaining a $7 million loan to finance the accumulated

General Fund deficit and approving the consolidation of the 67th and 68th District Courts. Both issues are pending before City Council and Mr. Ambrose is hopeful for a quick positive response. "The terms and conditions offered with this loan equate to a good deal for the City and will enable it to begin to more quickly rebuild its financial solvency. Approving the court consolidation will reduce City expenses by $8.4 million over the next 10 years and will help to provide some stability in funding other public safety services."

Mr. Ambrose also presented Council with actions he is taking to continue the progress towards transition, including an updated purchasing ordinance and an order officially defining the role of the new City Administrator as the chief administrative officer for the City. "Moving the City forward in today's environment requires professional managers, clear responsibilities, and modern practices," said Ambrose. "These actions move in that direction, and hopefully move the Council forward in truly becoming the governing body of the City, focused on policies and accountability for moving the City forward based on its vision, mission, and goals."

Recognizing the increasing role of the Mayor and Council as the City transitions to home rule with oversight by a Receivership Transition Advisory Board, Mr. Ambrose announced that he is reestablishing the salaries for Mayor and Council at the levels in place before the City was most recently placed into state receivership. He noted that Council meetings are now held twice per month, with committee meetings held once per month, and the Mayor is now much more engaged in a Chief Executive role. Continued receipt of the re-established salaries, however, will be contingent upon attainment of certain training levels. These training levels were established in prior orders of the Emergency Manager, and Councilmembers will have until November 1, 2015 to obtain it, or their salary will be reduced to the current level.

On the one hand, this is an infrastructure challenge that is not unique. A number of cities in Michigan, maybe not as pronounced, are dealing with water and sewage infrastructure challenges. Flint's problem is that it has 500 miles of iron piping that's over 60 years old, coupled with the fact that the city's population is half the size than it was at it's peak.

On the other hand, like roads, we need a broader state wide solution. Given the roads legislation, perhaps the solution is a fund that a city of a certain size or county can draw down with a required match that can be used to invest in roads, water or sewer.

Of course, Flint's residents are tapped out in terms of rates, taxes and fees, but in the end, they are still a municipality. Any solution the state provides needs to be available to other cities, and should function to assist the city, not total pay for their problem.

Hi Dick,

Per your phone call with John, attached is what Nancy Vriebel gave me today. This is what she believes Sen. Ananich will offer to HB 4102 (FY 15 supplemental) when the bill is taken up on the floor next week.

2 amendments for the supplemental.

1. $1.5 million to help get water filters in the homes of Flint residents. This amount will help 30,000 Flint residents get filters.

2. $12 million to help expedite the goal of sourcing the public water supply from Lake Huron.

*Switching back to the City of Detroit will cost the City of Flint $1.5 million monthly. This money will be used to switch back to that source and/or expedite the construction of the KWA pipeline.

We are asking for money out of the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund. Bottle Deposit escheats (unclaimed deposits that revert to the state) are deposited into the Clean-up and Redevelopment Fund every year. Statute mandates that 80% of this revenue be deposited into the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund.

Fy 14'	$13.6 million revenue
	$16.1 Spent
	$18.1 Balance
Fy 15'	$13.6 million revenue
	$16.6 Spent
	$15.1 estimated balance

The fund will only continue to bring in more money. The percentage of bottles returned has dropped every year since 2007, meaning more money each year in the fund.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Comprehensive action plan will help Flint residents address water concerns

Collaborative effort with state, federal and city leaders focuses on testing, assistance

FLINT, Mich. – Flint residents need to have access to safe, clean, water now and long into the future, Gov. Rick Snyder said, announcing a comprehensive action plan created with state, federal and city leaders to address concerns about drinking water.

The water leaving Flint's drinking water system is safe to drink, but some families with lead plumbing in their homes or service connections could experience higher levels of lead in the water that comes out of their faucets.

The action plan focuses on increasing water testing, offering additional precautions for families with lead plumbing in their homes, and providing long-term solutions to address the city's water infrastructure challenges. The plan was created at Snyder's direction by the Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Health and Human Services (DHHS), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the city of Flint.

“We are focused on helping ensure safe, clean, accessible drinking water and addressing and mitigating concerns and protecting public health,” Snyder said. “Today’s action plan builds upon ongoing work with local, state and federal agencies and our partnership with city and community leaders. Together, we are working to ensure that all Flint residents have accurate information and know that help is available to address potential problems.”

The city and the state also are working together to gather more data to ensure the water that leaves the treatment plant as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe for all residents. The plan includes:

- Testing in Flint public schools immediately to ensure that drinking water is safe, with testing also available at no cost to any other school in Flint.
- Offering free water testing to Flint residents to assure their drinking water is safe.
- Providing free water filters to residents.
- Expanding health exposure testing of individual homes.
- Accelerating corrosion controls in the Flint drinking water system.
- Accelerating water system improvements to address replacing lead service lines.
- Expediting the completion of the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline.
- Expanding a Safe Drinking Water Technical Advisory Committee to ensure the best technology, practices and science are being followed by adding an expert from the Environmental Protection Agency’s Office of Research and Development to the group.
- Naming Dr. Eden Wells, chief medical executive for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, as the Flint drinking water public health adviser.
- Boosting a comprehensive lead education program to make sure residents have detailed information about how to protect themselves and their homes.

Residents can have their water tested by calling 810-787-6537 and pressing 1, or emailing flintwater@cityofflint.com. The DEQ is covering the cost of this testing.

State leaders have been working closely with state and federal lawmakers to tap resources at all levels of government to address concerns.

State health experts said there has been an increase in elevated childhood blood lead levels in some specific communities. Initial analysis of MDHHS data found that blood lead levels of children in Flint have followed an expected seasonal trend. While this analysis for Flint as a whole remains true, a comprehensive and detailed review breaking down data by ZIP codes with the city revealed that MDHHS data is consistent with a study presented recently by Hurley Children’s Hospital.

“While we cannot conclusively say that the water source change is the sole cause of the increase, this analysis supports our efforts as we take active steps to reduce all potential lead exposures in Flint,” MDHHS Director Nick Lyon said. “As part of this, we are working closely with our public and private partners to provide Flint residents on MDHHS assistance programs with free water filters and inform families about the steps they can take to reduce all lead exposures in their home.”

As a part of the action plan, National Sanitation Foundation certified water filters will be made available to Flint residents through emergency state funds and coordinated efforts with local community agencies and donors. Information about how to obtain the filters will soon be available.

“This action plan offers concrete steps we will take in a local, state and federal partnership to ensure all Flint residents have safe water to drink,” DEQ Director Dan Wyant said. “The DEQ will work closely with the city to gather further data to ensure the water that leaves Flint’s system as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe to drink.”

Colleagues,

Please find attached summary of where the State Budget Office believes we are based on this morning's meeting hosted by Director Wyant. This reflects the State commitment of resources towards provision of filters, reconnecting to Detroit Water & Sewage, and home/school/other inspections. Your quick review would be appreciated, since the Governor wants to share with legislative leaders yet today. I have included your budget officers to assist in the review.

Open issues are: (1) where to place the appropriation for the Flint re-connect and (2) whether (and what) boilerplate we may need/want.

Thanks.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint

State, city, Mott Foundation, join to fund switch until KWA is ready

FLINT, Mich. – Flint families and children will be better protected by reconnecting with the Great Lakes Water Authority as the source of the city's drinking water until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder said Thursday that he will request the state Legislature to provide half, or $6 million, of the $12 million needed to reconnect with the authority through next summer, when the KWA is expected to be completed. The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

"All Flint residents need clean, safe drinking water," Snyder said. "The technical experts helping the city on its water advisory all agree this move back to the Great Lakes Water Authority provides the best public health protection for children and families. This effort today is the result of people coming together to solve a problem. I appreciate Detroit's willingness to reconnect with Flint, the Mott Foundation's generous commitment, and the dedication of all parties to come together to protect Flint families and children."

Flint city leaders requested the state's help to fund the reconnection and to assist with health and infrastructure issues. Flint's move to the Great Lakes Water Authority is expected to cost about $1.3 million per month until the Karegnondi Water Authority is completed next summer.

"It's heartening to know so many people are working at so many levels to bring safe, clean water back to Flint," Mott Foundation President Ridgway White said. "We believe this transitional solution is the right and necessary thing to do, and we're glad we could help the state and the city make it happen."

The move to Detroit water, which is expected to carry, carries many public health benefits. As large bodies of water, the Great Lakes are naturally prone to fewer problems from large rain events and other runoff issues that can sometimes be present in shallower rivers. Additionally, the Great Lakes Water Authority water already has additional corrosion control, using phosphates to help coat the insides of pipes and limit lead from leaching into the water.

However, reconnecting with the authority will not completely resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control. Additionally, some households in the city could experience lead in their drinking water until all lead pipes and plumbing are replaced.

"Reconnecting to Detroit is the fastest way to deliver clean, safe water to Flint and stabilize the infrastructure system," Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said. "I appreciate the state, the Mott Foundation, Detroit, and the county's participation in a solution for Flint's water problems. The health and safety of Flint's families, children and seniors is my top priority, and reconnecting to Detroit is a major step that the city could not take alone given budget constraints."

To best protect public health, Snyder said state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services today also committed an additional $3.5 million for water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Free filters are available for current MDHHS clients at the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office locations. For residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs, free filters are available at the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation. At the Lippincott location only, extended hours will be offered this weekend, including until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Other good practices for residents concerned about lead include turning on the cold water tap and running the water until it's as cold as it will go. Additionally, only use cold water for cooking, drinking and especially mixing baby formula.

School test results released; more investigation planned

The state today also released the first results from its lead screening program in schools and homes. Of 37 total samples taken at 13 buildings, four samples spread over three buildings exceeded the federal action level of 15 parts per billion.

However, this sampling provides only an initial screen, and the state is committing to further testing water and inspecting plumbing at these schools. Until testing is complete, schools are advised to continue using bottled water and filtration as a precaution to protect children.

In addition, free testing is still available for any other Flint school, including daycares and Head Starts. Free testing is also available for any Flint resident.

Additional information, including more detailed lead screening results, is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

Gov signs Flint water bill

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder has signed bipartisan legislation that will direct funding to the City of Flint's emergency water services to reconnect the city's water supply to the Great Lakes

Water Authority until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed.

“This funding is a coordinated response to a serious problem and I’m pleased so many parties came together to help deliver safe drinking water to the city of Flint,” Snyder said. “Reconnecting to the Great Lakes Water Authority is only the first step, as the state will continue testing and inspections to ensure Flint families and children have clean water in their homes and schools.”

House Bill 4102, sponsored by state Rep. Al Pscholka, authorizes $6 million to move the city back to Detroit’s water system until the new pipeline is finished.

In addition to the $6 million:

- $300,000 goes to the Department of Environmental Quality’s drinking water and environmental health services;
- $1 million will provide for DEQ to test drinking water samples;
- $1 million allows the Department of Health and Human Services to purchase and distribute water filters to Flint residents;
- $850,000 will aid in follow-up services for children, including testing, investigations, and case management for those with elevated blood lead levels;
- $200,000 will fund state plumbing inspections for schools and health facilities.
- The City of Flint city government will provide $2 million toward reconnecting the water supply and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

The bill was approved unanimously in both the House and Senate and is now Public Act 143 of 2015.

Gov. Rick Snyder announces Flint Water Task Force to review state, federal and municipal actions, offer recommendations

Experts in public health, water management, environmental protection to focus on steps to protect residents

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today announced the creation of an independent advisory task force charged with reviewing actions regarding water use and testing in Flint and offer recommendations for future guidelines to protect the health and safety of all state residents.

Task force members include experts in public health and medicine, water management, and environmental protection from both sides of the aisle, and will be co-chaired by Ken Sikkema of Public Sector Consultants and Chris Kolb, of the Michigan Environmental Council. Also serving will be Dr. Matthew Davis of the University of Michigan Health System, Eric Rothstein, of the Galardi Rothstein Group and Dr. Lawrence Reynolds of Mott Children's Health Center in Flint.

"Transitioning back to the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department-Great Lakes Water Authority is a good first step to protecting public health in Flint, but it's not the last step," Snyder said. "Bringing in outside experts to evaluate our actions and help monitor and advise on potential changes to law, procedures and practices will be key to continuing work on the comprehensive action plan and ensuring safe drinking water for all the residents in Flint and all of Michigan."

Snyder said the administration will fully cooperate with task force members, saying he wants an unbiased report focusing on steps taken in the past and recommendations that could improve practices to ensure all residents have access to safe, clean water.

Ken Sikkema is a senior policy fellow at Public Sector Consultants, where he specializes in public finance, environment, and energy policy. Prior to joining the firm, Sikkema served in both the Michigan House and Senate, culminating with four years as Senate majority leader. He has also served as both an adjunct and visiting professor at Grand Valley State University.

Chris Kolb is president of the Michigan Environmental Council, a statewide coalition of 70 environmental, public health and faith-based nonprofit groups. Before joining the MEC, Kolb represented Ann Arbor in the state House for six years and served six years on the Ann Arbor City Council. He has been president of the MEC for six years.

Matthew Davis, M.D., M.A.P.P., is professor of pediatrics and internal medicine at the University of Michigan Health System and professor of public policy at the Gerald R. Ford School at the University of Michigan, having joined the faculty in 2000. Davis also is a professor of health management and policy at the School of Public Health. He previously served as the chief medical executive of the Michigan Department of Community Health/Department of Health and Human Services.

Eric Rothstein is a national water issues consultant and principal at the Galardi Rothstein Group. He served as an independent advisor on the creation of the Great Lakes Water Authority. Rothstein also has served as Jefferson County, Alabama's rate consultant and municipal adviser for litigation related to the county's bankruptcy and issuance of $1.7 billion in sewer warrants and led strategic financial planning for the City of Atlanta's Department of Watershed Management. He has more than 30 years of experience in water, wastewater and stormwater utility finance and rate-making assessments.

Lawrence Reynolds, M.D., is a pediatrician in Flint who serves as president of the Mott Children's Health Center. He received his medical degree from Howard University College of Medicine and has been in practice for 36 years. He has served as president of the Genesee County Medical Society and the Michigan Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics. He has been honored for his humanitarian and advocacy efforts on behalf of children from the Community Foundation of Greater Flint.

Snyder has said reconnecting with the authority is a critical step to resolving water quality issues and addressing related health concerns. It will not immediately resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control.

To best protect public health, state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services are continuing to provide free water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Gov. Rick Snyder takes action on initial findings from Flint Water Task Force

Changes to take place at DEQ, meeting planned with Mayor Karen Weaver

In response to initial findings from the Flint Water Task Force, Gov. Rick Snyder today issued the following statement:

“When I became aware that the city of Flint’s water showed elevated lead levels and that the state’s handling of the situation was being questioned, I requested funding to switch the source back to the Great Lakes Water Authority and appointed an independent task force to identify possible missteps and areas for improvement.

“The task force has done an exceptional job, reviewing stacks of documents and interviewing scores of Flint, Genesee County, state and federal officials. Although the task force’s final report is not yet completed, members have made me aware of some interim findings and corrective steps that I have decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how the state keeps its citizens safe and informed.

“We’ll continue to work with the community members to make sure we hear and respond to their concerns.

“In addition, MDEQ Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, and I’ve determined that it's appropriate to accept it. I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force.

"But changes in leadership and staff are not enough. I understand there can be disagreements within the scientific community. That is why I have directed both the departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services to invite every external scientist who has worked on this issue to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water. Let's share research on water and blood lead level testing so we can arrive at accurate and mutually supported conclusions. Together, we should work to affirm that we're using the very best testing protocols to ensure Flint residents have safe drinking water and that we're taking steps to protect their health over the short and long term.

"I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened. And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure.

"I know many Flint citizens are angry and want more than an apology. That's why I'm taking the actions today to ensure a culture of openness and trust. We've already allocated $10 million to test the water, distribute water filters, and help in other ways. Last week, I called Flint Mayor Karen Weaver, and we're going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.

"These are only initial steps - we fully expect to take more actions following the recommendations of our task force. When it comes to matters of health and quality of life, we're committed to doing everything we can to protect the well-being of our citizens."

This email was sent to robertsj9@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor - 111 South Capitol Avenue - Lansing, MI 48909 - 517-335-7858

December 29, 2015

Dear Governor Snyder:

The Flint Water Advisory Task Force, which you appointed on October 21, 2015, has devoted considerable effort and countless hours to our review of the contamination of the Flint water supply: what happened, why it occurred, and what is needed to prevent a recurrence in Flint or elsewhere in the state. We have also been assessing ongoing mitigation efforts to help assure that short- and long-term public health issues and water management concerns will be properly addressed to safeguard the health and well being of the Flint community.

Shortly after we began our work, we recognized the immediate need for better coordination of the state's response to the ongoing public health issues in Flint, and for assignment of a single person to provide this coordination. We addressed these concerns in a letter to you on December 7, 2015, and you responded with immediate adoption of these recommendations. We thank you for the commitment your response demonstrates.

In our continuing efforts, we have now interviewed numerous individuals at state and local levels; reviewed many documents, articles, and emails; and deliberated repeatedly as a group. Both individually and as a group, we have visited Flint several times during the past several weeks to meet with citizens, public health officials and healthcare providers, individuals who have water management responsibilities at the city and county levels, and other public officials.

It is clear to us, particularly as we listen to the people of Flint, that it is both critical and urgent to establish responsibility for what happened in their community and to ensure accountability. This is a first step in a long process to re-establish the trust they no longer have in their government and the agencies whose responsibility it is to protect their health. It is urgent because this deep distrust of government continues to compromise the effective delivery of protective services designed to address ongoing public health issues. It is for these reasons that we are sending this letter at this time.

We believe the primary responsibility for what happened in Flint rests with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ). Although many individuals and entities at state and local levels contributed to creating and prolonging the problem, MDEQ is the government agency that has responsibility to ensure safe drinking water in Michigan. It failed in that responsibility and must be held accountable for that failure.

The Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) places responsibility for compliance with its requirements on the public water system. In this instance, the City of Flint had the responsibility to operate its water system within SDWA requirements, under the jurisdiction of the MDEQ. The role of the MDEQ is to ensure compliance with the SDWA through its regulatory oversight as the primary agency having enforcement responsibility for the Flint water system.

The MDEQ failed in three fundamental ways.

Regulatory Failure

We believe that in the Office of Drinking Water and Municipal Assistance (ODWMA) at MDEQ, a culture exists in which "technical compliance" is considered sufficient to ensure safe drinking water in Michigan.

This minimalist approach to regulatory and oversight responsibility is unacceptable and simply insufficient to the task of public protection. It led to MDEQ's failure to recognize a number of indications that switching the water source in Flint would—and did—compromise both water safety and water quality. The MDEQ made a number of decisions that were, and continue to be, justified on the basis that federal rules "allowed" those decisions to be made. ODWMA must adopt a posture that is driven not by this minimalist technical compliance approach, but rather by one that is founded on what needs to be done to assure drinking water safety.

A culture change must occur within ODWMA. It must be driven by a mission that is aspirational regarding the role of the MDEQ in ensuring the safety and the quality of Michigan's drinking water. We believe, and have expressed to MDEQ Director Dan Wyant, that as a Great Lakes State, Michigan should aspire to have the safest drinking water in the nation, rather than merely aiming for technical compliance with regulatory requirements.

Failure in Substance and Tone of MDEQ Response to the Public

Throughout 2015, as the public raised concerns and as independent studies and testing were conducted and brought to the attention of MDEQ, the agency's response was often one of aggressive dismissal, belittlement, and attempts to discredit these efforts and the individuals involved. We find both the tone and substance of many MDEQ public statements to be completely unacceptable. In a real way, the MDEQ represents the public, including the very individuals it treated dismissively and disrespectfully in public statements. We recognize that the agency might disagree with the opinions of others on a variety of issues, including testing protocol, interpretation of testing results, the requirements of federal law and rules, and other matters. What is disturbing about MDEQ's responses, however, is their persistent tone of scorn and derision. In fact, the MDEQ seems to have been more determined to discredit the work of others—who ultimately proved to be right—than to pursue its own oversight responsibility.

Failure in MDEQ Interpretation of the Lead and Copper Rule

The federal Lead and Copper Rule (LCR) is central to what happened in Flint, because that rule, at least theoretically, is designed to prevent lead and copper contamination of drinking water. The federal LCR calls for "optimized corrosion control treatment," which the MDEQ did not require in the switch to the Flint River. Prior to the switch, MDEQ staff instructed City of Flint water treatment staff that corrosion control treatment (CCT) was not necessary until two six-month monitoring periods had been conducted. The need for CCT would be evaluated after the results from those two monitoring periods were reviewed. The decision not to require CCT, made at the direction of the MDEQ, led directly to the contamination of the Flint water system.

The MDEQ seems to have taken different positions on whether it faithfully followed the LCR in the Flint situation. It first maintained that it followed the LCR, then stated that it did not follow the rule properly, and most recently claimed that a federal memorandum issued by the US EPA in early November 2015 suggests that the original MDEQ interpretation was possibly correct.

We are not convinced. Even the MDEQ's latest interpretation of the US EPA's November memorandum is overly legalistic and misunderstands the intent of the LCR, which is to minimize risks of lead and copper exposure for human health.

We believe ODWMA's single-minded legalistic focus is the heart of the problem, and it is part of the "technical compliance" culture described above. ODWMA should not be basing its actions solely on a legally possible interpretation of the LCR. It should be focusing on how to protect Michigan's citizens from lead in drinking water.

We met with MDEQ Director Wyant on December 16, 2015, to discuss these issues, as well as many others. We note his substantial agreement with many of our conclusions, particularly as it relates to the regulatory failure and the abysmal public response of his agency. It is our understanding that he has drawn similar conclusions in his own evaluation of the MDEQ's role in the Flint water crisis. At the same time, it was disappointing to hear his weak defense of the CCT decision based on the EPA's November 2015 memorandum.

We are not finished with our work. Other individuals and entities made poor decisions, contributing to and prolonging the contamination of the drinking water supply in Flint. As an example, we are particularly concerned by recent revelations of MDHHS's apparent early knowledge of, yet silence about, elevated blood lead levels detected among Flint's children. We also feel it important to further review local government decision processes under emergency management. Our final report will highlight and discuss those concerns, among many others, to provide some context to a comprehensive series of recommendations. As stated earlier in this letter, however, we believe that establishing responsibility is a critical and urgent need, and one that should not wait for our final report in 2016. Individuals and agencies responsible must be held accountable in a timely fashion.

It is our hope that the heightened awareness of the dangers of lead poisoning can be an opportunity to make Michigan safer, particularly for its children. Drinking water must be recognized as a potential source of health risk exposure when water lines and fixtures containing lead are disturbed or compromised. Proper testing, not only in high-risk areas but also in facilities serving children (e.g., schools), must be considered. Facilitating long-term financing of a model public health program, and also replacement of lead-containing water service lines and fixtures, would enable Michigan to realize a positive lasting legacy from the tragedy of the Flint water crisis. Our final report will address some of these issues.

The City of Flint's water customers—fellow Michigan citizens—were needlessly and tragically exposed to toxic levels of lead through their drinking water supply. They deserve a commitment to properly assess responsibility and ensure accountability. They also deserve a commitment to needed mitigation in both the short and long term. The Flint water crisis never should have happened. Having failed to prevent it, state government should coordinate a sustained, public-health-focused response to remedy, to the fullest extent possible, the impacts on the Flint community.

Respectfully yours,

Flint Water Advisory Task Force:

Matt Davis

Larry Reynolds

Gov. Snyder declares emergency for Genesee County

State Emergency Operations Center activated to assist with relief efforts

LANSGING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today declared a state of emergency for Genesee County due to the ongoing health and safety issues caused by lead in the city of Flint's drinking water.

By declaring a state of emergency, Snyder has made available all state resources in cooperation with local response and recovery operations. The declaration authorizes the Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division (MSP/EMHSD) to coordinate state efforts.

"The health and welfare of Flint residents is a top priority and we're committed to a coordinated approach with resources from state agencies to address all aspects of this situation," Snyder said. "Working in full partnership with the Flint Water Advisory Task Force, all levels of government and water quality experts, we will find both short-term and long-term solutions to ensure the health and safety of Flint residents."

In addition to the emergency declaration, Snyder activated the State Emergency

Operations Center to coordinate state response and recovery activities. State agencies will report to the center to coordinate resources, assess the situation and begin providing assets to assist with local relief operations.

“Our staff recognizes the urgency of this situation and is already working closely with local officials,” said Capt. Chris A. Kelenske, Deputy State Director of Emergency Management and Homeland Security and commander of the MSP/EMHSD. “We will continue to collaborate with state, city and county leaders to coordinate relief efforts, streamline communication and use all available resources to help residents.”

On Jan. 4, Genesee County declared a “local state of emergency,” which activated local emergency response and recovery plans. By requesting a governor’s declaration, the county has determined local resources are insufficient to address the situation and state assistance is required to protect public health, safety and property to lessen or avert the threat of a crisis.

The city of Flint has been under a local emergency declaration since Dec. 14, 2015.

The SEOC is the emergency operations center for the state of Michigan. Located in Lansing, the center is overseen by the MSP/EMHSD and coordinates response and recovery efforts by state agencies and local government. The SEOC is staffed by members of state agencies and other partners for decision making and information coordination during disasters or emergencies in the state of Michigan.

Importance: High

Just spoke with the agency again, this is more of the Flint water system issue. Specifically, the Hamilton Dam has historically, been the secondary water source for the City, however, with the cancellation of the Detroit Water contract, this is now the primary water source, along with the Flint River. Hence the urgency . . .

Unfortunately, no state DEQ/DNR restricted or federal programs are available for dam repair/removal. Therefore, general fund support has been the default for years. According to a CRC report from 2007, ( see page 56 here) the City sought to utilize its sewer and water fund, however, learned it could not borrow from the State Revolving Fund to accommodate the $7.5 million price tag. Given Flint's overall budget situation, and it's water challenges, this is just more of the same . . .

John,

DNR indicates this 100 year old structure, located outside of the U of M Flint campus, is rated as "unsatisfactory" by DEQ/DNR technical staff, with an estimated price tag to repair in the $7.5 million range (2007 report). The City of Flint owns the structure, and State resources to address are simply non-existent.

Specifically, DNR has some $350,000 GF/GP appropriated for dam management assistance statewide. One-time GF/GP support of $2 million was provided in Fy13 for statewide efforts, however, we have been unable to add more monies to date.

[Note: DNR got off of my call to field an heavily anticipated incoming from a scientist knowledgeable about this project. I will provide further update once the agency calls back.]

State To Contribute $1M As Part Of Flint Water Fix

In the short term, Flint residents will have access to water filters, some purchased with state funds, and in the longer term the city will be improving its corrosion controls to keep lead out of water supplies, state and city officials said today in unveiling a plan to address recent water safety concerns in the city.

Moving Flint back to getting water from the Detroit Water and Sewerage System is also still on the table for both state and local officials, but will require negotiations, both sides said.

Both sides said the water itself is not the source of lead and the city will be working in the coming years to replace the lead service lines that are the source.

Environmental Quality Direct Dan Wyant acknowledged that testing shows increased lead levels in the water since the city moved from the Detroit system in 2014, but he argued the problem was the switch and not the water source. He said one of the state's efforts is to ensure the city has sufficient corrosion controls in place so when it switches sources again away from the Flint River, the problem does not recur.

Mr. Wyant said the state has continued quarterly testing of the city's water source and those tests have continued to show no lead.

Eden Wells, chief medical officer for the state, said blood tests for children in the city did not change after the water change, but she said tests of children in two high-risk ZIP codes did, as tests by Hurley Medical Center had shown earlier, show increased blood lead levels in those areas after the water change.

But she and others said it was still not confirmed that the water was the source of the additional lead exposure.

Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said the city was still considering switching back to Detroit water while efforts to finish an agreement with Karegnondi Water Authority are completed. But he said the switch would cost the city up to $2 million a month it does not have.

Mr. Wyant, asked if the state would cover those costs, said only that the state had committed $1 million already toward the problem but that Governor Rick Snyder had said he would be willing to mediate discussions between the city and the Detroit system.

Volume #54, Report #252 -- Monday, December 28, 2015

Auditor General Criticizes, Supports DEQ On Flint Water

Democrats saw "serious failings" of the system in an { HYPERLINK "http://www.audgen.michigan.gov/finalpdfs/15_16/1761032015.pdf" \t "blank" } released Monday from the Office of the Auditor General on the state's ability to adequately address a drinking water crisis in the city of Flint earlier this year.

The report primarily consisted of answers to questions posed by Senate { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=106601&locid=1" } (D-Flint) in a letter he sent to the auditor general in October during the height of the water crisis, but Mr. Ananich and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=358901&locid=1" } (D-Flint) said in a statement that some of those answers "confirmed that Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality failed to ensure proper corrosion control was used to treat Flint River water and that the state was responsible for the decision to use the river as the city of Flint's primary drinking water source."

Mr. Ananich also said the results suggest that legislative oversight of the situation was best and expected hearings on the situation to be "high on the agenda" when the Legislature returns.

"What's clear is that corrosion control should have been used and there are serious failings in our system that must be addressed," he said in the statement. "Between the FOIA emails released recently and these findings, it's obvious that legislative oversight is the best way to see how all of these pieces fit together."

But the administration saw the responses differently.

"The letter from the Office of the Auditor General includes some criticisms, but also reflects that state officials were following accepted protocols, or in one case, an interpretation of the corrosion control program that the EPA later clarified," Dave Murray, spokesperson for { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" }, said in a statement.

"But we need to do better in ensuring Flint residents have safe water and tracking children affected by elevated lead levels. We continue to work with the bipartisan task force that is reviewing all the actions at the state, local and federal level and is expected to offer recommendations in a month or so. Governor Snyder is committed to working with Flint Mayor Weaver and officials on these issues," Mr. Murray said.

And DEQ spokesperson Brad Wurfel said the department agreed with the findings in the AG's review.

"The findings align with our internal department review," he said. "We appreciate the auditor general's work to provide a fair and well considered look at some key issues."

One key finding was supporting the DEQ's decision to drop the two samples with the highest lead content in its second six-month sample. That decision has come under withering scrutiny, but the auditor general report set it was appropriate under federal rules.

The report answered questions on how the Office of Drinking Water and Municipal Assistance ensures the data it receives is accurate - to which the auditor general noted two potential improvements for the Flint water sampling process - and what accountability measures are in place for office staff who fail to follow data verification protocols.

"DEQ does not provide any direct oversight over the Flint Water Treatment Plant (Flint WTP) and, therefore, does not have any accountability measures over the Flint WTP's LTR (Lead Copper Rule) data verification protocols," the report indicated. "We did not identify any instances in which ODWMA staff failed to verify that submitted samples were certified by the Flint WTP."

On accountability measures in place for Drinking Water staff who lie or misrepresent information, the auditor general noted only one e-mail exchange between the DEQ and the Environmental Protection Agency that appeared to be a "significant contributor" to the concern that the DEQ misrepresented information to the EPA.

"The EPA requested clarification on February 26, 2015 regarding the type of optimized corrosion control treatment (their emphasis) the Flint WTP was using. DEQ responded on February 27, 2015 that the city had an optimized corrosion control program in place, but DEQ did not provide any program details," the report outlined. "DEQ informed us that the Flint WTP corrosion control program included performing lead and copper monitoring for two consecutive six-month periods to determine whether corrosion control treatment would be necessary in the future.

"However, it appears the EPA interpreted corrosion control program to mean that corrosion control treatment was being performed," the audit stated.

Still, based on its review of numerous e-mails, the auditor said it had no specific reason to believe the DEQ willfully misrepresented the information to the EPA.

But Democrats pointed out other issues: In response to the question about whether corrosion control treatment should have been maintained when the switch for the water source was made to the Flint River, the AG letter concludes, "We believe that corrosion control treatment should have been maintained," Democrats noted.

And with regard to how the decision was made about using the Flint River as the primary drinking water source, the letter states, "Although the Flint City Council voted in March 2013 in support of moving to the KWA (Karegnondi Water Authority) pipeline, the vote was silent on the use of Flint River water as a temporary drinking water source," Democrats said.

"This is another example of how the state failed initially, and continues to fail by not treating this situation like the emergency it is," Mr. Neeley said in a statement. "We need answers, we need action, and we need them sooner rather than later."

The full report on the ODWMA within the DEQ is not expected until late February.

Lyon: Flint Did Not Meet Lead Expectations, Wants Department More Preventative Oriented

Testing for childhood lead exposure has not typically included water tests, so when Flint-area physicians earlier this year reported children with higher concentrations of lead, the state had to look at what could cause it, Health and Human Services { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=392601&locid=1" } said in an interview. And when it was clear the increased levels correlated with the city's switch to water from the Flint River, the state almost immediately took action, he said.

Mr. Lyon also said finding ways of reducing exposure to lead has been a priority of his and the department. The almost unique circumstances surrounding the Flint situation, "is not my issue," Mr. Lyon said. "My issue is how do I reduce the exposure to lead in children of Flint? That's the immediate concern, and then the next concern is, what sort of interventions are needed in the future?"

In one sense, trying to anticipate what future interventions are needed ties into a theme Mr. Lyon stressed repeatedly in the interview, which was how to make the Department of Health and Human Services more pro-active and preventative-oriented to help prevent issues from arising.

If, for example, the department can help a family that appears to have problems before a child is abused or neglected, then the child and the family both are spared traumas that could have dramatic effects years later, and the state will save the cost of the intervention system it has to go through, he said.

Mr. Lyon has also overseen the integration and adjustment of the department - a merger of the former departments of Community Health and Human Services - through 2015 and said it had forced him to "drink from the fire hose" as he familiarized himself with all the programs offered and the people who worked for the combined department.

And one of the things he found that impressed him most was the "trust and optimism the employees of both agencies displayed in a great period of uncertainty" that "really gave me a belief we could accomplish a lot," he said.

In looking back at the year, the Flint water situation was not initially something anticipated.

The city in 2014, then under an emergency manager, decided to switch its water system away from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department system as Flint worked on its own water system that would draw water from Lake Huron. As a cost savings measure, the city moved to have its water come from the Flint River in the interim.

Officials in the Department of Environmental Quality said the water had met requirements for safety. And while almost immediately residents complained about the taste, the smell and the appearance of the water, state officials insisted the water was safe.

But DEQ officials, speaking on background, have acknowledged that the department did not anticipate the effects the water could have on the antique plumbing systems, causing them to leach lead.

That was also not something DHHS had anticipated, Mr. Lyon said. DHHS was brought into the controversy late, and specifically because of the issue of whether children exposed to the water were seeing increased lead levels.

Typically, children are exposed to lead in houses with old lead-based paint that chips and flakes and is consumed by children. They are also exposed to lead in the overall environment. Mr. Lyon said typically lead levels rise in the summer when doors and windows are opened more, releasing chips of paint, and kids are playing outside more.

Plus, data on lead level exposure is kept on a county level.

DHHS did not anticipate an issue with lead in water due to antique pipes, Mr. Lyon said. And that proves to be a lesson to the state, he said: When issues of lead exposure come up it may mean the state will also have to check plumbing systems in older houses.

Nor did the state see any significant changes in lead exposure in county data from Genesee County, he said.

But Flint-area physicians were reporting higher lead levels in children from the area. "We are never dismissive of the data," Mr. Lyon said. "Data is data."

While saying that now, a department spokesperson told The Flint Journal in September the state had better data than Hurley Medical Center on the question of lead exposure. That spokesperson did say at the time the department was reviewing the Hurley data.

When the state got the reports of the higher lead levels in Flint, DHHS scientists had to look at it. That research showed higher levels in the ZIP Codes where the affected children lived.

And that evidence led to state action. Once he had spoken to the Executive Office about the findings, it began to take steps to reconnect the city to the Detroit system, ensure water filters were distributed and began doing additional testing of exposed children and adults.

In terms of better coordinating services a family or individual may be eligible for, local departments will also play a big role with the state in meeting individual needs, Mr. Lyon said. That will mean overall improved communications between the state and local departments, all with an eye towards recognizing that both agencies are serving the same people.

PROACTIVITY AND COMPACT DEPARTMENT: When the merger of DHS and DCH was announced a year ago, Mr. Lyon - then newly on the job as director of DCH - said he wanted to improve overall coordination to ensure a family had easier access to all the services it was entitled to. Some of that already was in the works because there is a large degree of overlap in people who need both food assistance and Medicaid.

But in terms of having the department take on a more proactive attitude, Mr. Lyon said he hopes to find a way "to use our caseworkers more like success coaches." That will take some work in both the state and local offices, as well as getting buy-in from the federal government "to say what can we do when those individuals walk in the door, what can we learn from them and what do they need a self-determination aspect to be successful and how do we craft that person's needs" with available programs.

In addition, given the state's budget situation which will likely prevent his being able to add personnel, finding ways of helping individuals off the system could go a long way to reducing what Mr. Lyon acknowledged were dramatic caseload levels. Caseworkers often find themselves with as many as 600 to 800 cases to handle.

And by helping those individuals work their way out of programs, that would eventually reduce the overall cost of the programs to the state, he said.

As currently structured, state programs are designed to be reactive, Mr. Lyon said. Taking the example of an abused child, Mr. Lyon said the state will get a report of an incident, investigate the incident, if needed put the child in a foster care situation, if needed search out a permanent placement and, again if needed, involve the courts. All those are reactions, Mr. Lyons said.

But if the state gets a tip of problems brewing, it can do nothing unless there is an actual incident of abuse or neglect. That means a child has to suffer a trauma that could have both dramatic effects on his or her physical and mental health in later years, as well as expose the family to trauma and stigma, he said.

Getting a more proactive approach will require federal government approval to shift funding - and Mr. Lyon said he is working on that - that would look at those at-risk families and try to see if there are services they need to help ensure that "initial mistake or event never happens. If you talk to most parents they don't want to abuse their children or neglect this child. I believe that to the core, and if we can find that family and teach them the skills necessary to prevent something bad from happening" again it will save money, he said, but more importantly prevent the trauma both the child and family can experience.

Asked if that would not draw criticisms of the state acting as Big Brother for these families, Mr. Lyon said he would hope the families would understand and accept why the help is being offered.

"If I can prevent something bad from happening to a child that will impact that child for the rest of their lives, that is something I am willing to save from happening," Mr. Lyon said.

Being proactive applies to other areas. Asked, for example, if the state would need to look at reopening the now closed Maxey juvenile justice center, Mr. Lyon said the state should have the capacity needed to deal with youth in legal trouble.

More importantly, he said, is to find ways to help those kids before they get in trouble. Many have behavioral health issues, Mr. Lyon said, "and what are we doing to make sure they are getting the treatment they need? ... Warehousing them in a jail or juvenile facility, I don't think that's right thing to do."

Ananich Reflects On Rocky Year For Caucus, Hometown

It was a whirlwind of a 2015 for Senate { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=106601&locid=1" }, who not only saw some ups and downs within his own caucus, but also had to deal with emergency appropriations for a Third World-like water emergency in his hometown this year.

And despite the last-minute push from legislative Republicans to pass major election-related reforms late at night during last two session days of the year, Mr. Ananich (D-Flint) said he remains optimistic that his caucus will be united and his relationship with Senate { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151101&locid=1" } (R-West Olive) will still be cordial in 2016.

The Senate adjourned late on December 17, passing very little legislation except a couple of major election-related bills and recessing most of the day otherwise. At one point, it seemed like the elimination of straight ticket voting ( { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation\_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015SB1301" } ), one of those reforms, would be shelved until next year, as speeches of good holiday cheer and well wishes filled the Senate chamber. Both Mr. Ananich and Mr. Meekhof complimented their colleagues on their professionalism for the first year of the new term. And in an interview with Gongwer News Service, the tone was no different.

"The relationship between me and Arlan and our staffs is something that's very strong, and I want to continue that," Mr. Ananich said in an interview on December 17, prior to those controversial elections bills passing. "For 2016, I want to see the Democrats, my caucus and the chamber as a whole doing things in a bipartisan way."

Roughly four hours later, that couldn't have been further from reality, as predominately Republicans eliminated straight ticket voting and substituted what was previously a bipartisan bill ( { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation\_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015SB57101" } ), for a more divisive one that opponents worry will significantly affect local government and its ability to communicate to citizens about ballot questions (See { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=news.cfm&article\_id=542460104" } )

Asked after session if what he viewed as a good, professional relationship with the majority leader may have gone a bit awry with that legislation, Mr. Ananich seemed changed, but not entirely.

"We're going to stand up and have aggressive and robust debates about things and do it in a professional way. We're going to win some and we're going to lose some," he told reporters. "We think our values are right and their values are wrong, and this is one of those opportunities, but that doesn't change the fact we're going to do it in a professional way. We're still going to fight for what we think we're right, and that's what we did tonight."

And it wasn't the first adversity Mr. Ananich had faced, of course. Earlier in the year, Republicans passed legislation to repeal the state's prevailing wage law. Around the same time, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=32801&locid=1" } (D-Detroit) was involved in an incident with his ex-wife that is still playing out in court with potentially felonious implications. Then the Flint clerk told candidates for the mayoral race the wrong deadline to submit their paperwork, requiring a very quick fix in the Legislature or else a costly write-in campaign for most candidates.

And another, more serious situation was developing in his hometown involving lead in the water that would spur numerous headlines in the fall.

To that end, Mr. Ananich said he was in contact with pastors and others working the water issues in Flint, but he was primarily working on the cost of the water initially.

"I heard of a lot of people that were having shutoffs, similar to Detroit, probably proportionally worse in Flint, because the costs are more expensive," Mr. Ananich said in his interview with Gongwer.

Then there was an E. Coli breakout, he said, and other issues, "but we were sure over and over again that this was it, we got it fixed," he said.

Then Mr. Ananich said he saw a report by the ACLU and read findings (sometimes in September) by Doctor Marc Edwards, a Virginia Tech professor who has been following the Flint water crisis and recently alleged the Department of Health and Human Services had data showing elevated lead levels in Flint's water but delayed releasing that data to others for review (See { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=news.cfm&article\_id=542490102" } ).

"I really tried to get the administration and other folks to all come together and fix this problem, and then obviously we saw the administration's sort of denial at first, attacking individuals that were heroes really for trying to help solve this issue, and then they realized they were telling the truth and they started the ball rolling. I expected a lot more urgency," Mr. Ananich said. "I still think it's much more important to protect the citizens than to protect the reputation of certain departments, and I still see a little more of that than I do of making sure we're really addressing this issue, the urgency we need."

"But things are moving in the right direction. I'm going to keep pushing for more action and more tangible results for my citizens, but it's unfortunate it's something some of my citizens are going to have to deal with the ... generation maybe, depending on how bad it ends up being," he said.

In hindsight, Mr. Ananich said he couldn't really complain about the response from his colleagues in the House and Senate, but the administration and some state departments are a different story.

"I was very appreciative of the help with the money and switching back to Detroit, and now we're just going to keep working to make sure the kids get the nutrition they need and the services," he said. "The administration still, I think, seems to lack the sense of urgency that I expect, but they've done some positive steps in the right direction. They still have folks, Brad Wurfel for one, who are still making statements that aren't really true, I think, to the public.

"You can't say it's the faucets in the school. If it wasn't for the corrosive, poisonous water, we wouldn't have a problem. It's another example of trying to make it sound like it wasn't their fault as opposed to just fixing the problem," he said.

Mr. Wurfel, spokesperson for the Department of Environmental Quality, disputed Mr. Ananich's comment.

"The governor's 10-point plan includes an unprecedented look at lead levels in Flint schools, free testing around the community, free home water filters until we can be confident the system returns to acceptable levels, and a series of immediate, near-term and long-term steps to protect Flint families. We are doing the work and presenting the data as it comes forward," he said.

"I'm a department spokesman. I'm as good as the information I get to work with. And we've tried to do a very careful job of making sure folks in Flint get accurate information on this issue, because it is a very serious one for thousands of families. This administration acknowledged an error in October and has been working hard since then to partner with communities and deliver necessary resources to protect kids and families."

But Mr. Ananich did compliment the governor's task force - one of many groups reviewing the issue - whom he believes will come up with an "independent" analysis of the situation. The task force issued some early statements on what it saw as a "disturbing situation" (See { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=news.cfm&article\_id=542470102" }).

And on Monday, Mr. Ananich and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=358901&locid=1" } (D-Flint) got some answers they were seeking when the auditor general responded to Mr. Ananich's request for more information on what happened in Flint (see separate story). The auditor general's full response, specifically on the Office of Drinking Water and Municipal Assistance within the DEQ, is not expected until late February.

BIPARTISANSHIP AND DPS: Asked about his caucus goals for 2016, Mr. Ananich said they are similar to 2015: "to make sure we felt like a united caucus that stands up for the things we believe," he said. "I think we've done that. I think we showed a sense of professionalism and willingness to work together when we have agreement. I think the difference in the tenor and the differences in the House and Senate is obvious to pretty much everyone."

Mr. Ananich said he is hopeful his caucus and Senate Republicans can do more together, and there will be plenty of opportunities to do that, he said.

Among the policy issues are finding a resolution to the crippling debt of Detroit Public Schools, workforce development, skilled trades funding, education funding and energy law overhaul, the minority leader said.

"I think those are the kinds of things that would be best if they came out of the chamber with bipartisan support, and that's what I want to see us do," he said.

He said he genuinely believed Mr. Meekhof wanted to find a bipartisan solution on DPS, and putting { HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=101501&locid=1>" } (R-Hart) in charge of the matter "is a very good step in that direction," Mr. Ananich said.

Democrats, especially within his caucus, will be looking for some form of an elected school board, he said, as well as ensuring that when all the debt is retired that there are resources available to provide a quality education for the students in the district and that the Legislature does not have to revisit such a situation again.

And he said he does not believe current teachers, staff or students should be punished in any way for the actions of others that led DPS into this situation.

"There's going to be a lot conversation going forward, and we'll find some things we want, some things they want ... but I think overall the package, if it's going to be successful, will have those elements in it and won't adversely affect other districts to the point that we're hurting other children to help DPS," Mr. Ananich said.

Though Mr. Hansen has kept talks about the DPS legislation tight-lipped, one thing that has so far been cited about DPS talks is a debate over governance. Mr. Ananich said some of those questions are about whether the governor, the mayor, or others should do the appointing officials to fix DPS, or whether they should be elected.

The minority leader said the Legislature needs to get "very serious" about resolving the matter around the first of the year because it will only become more distant and complicated when the state begins determining its next budget in February.

ELECTIONS: Though the Senate is not up for re-election until 2018, Mr. Ananich said his caucus will continue to help the House with its fundraising and candidate recruitment efforts for their 2016 election.

"The relationship between the House and Senate Democrats is the best it's been in a long time," he said.

But he isn't putting off 2018 for long either.

"Like I said before, the relationship between me and Arlan is very good, but we have a fun competition and we plan on being competitive in 2018," he said.

Supreme Court To Hear Transmission Line Case

The Supreme Court has ordered arguments in a case where a Kalamazoo County township has challenged an award by the Public Service Commission for an electric transmission line across its property.

The Supreme Court agreed to hear the case, Oshtemo Township v. Michigan Electric Transmission Company (SC docket No. 150695), more than 13 months after the Court of Appeals upheld a 2013 order issued by the PSC allowing for the construction of the line in both Oshtemo and Almena Township in Van Buren County.

In calling for arguments, the Supreme Court said the parties should issue briefs on whether the state's Electric Transmission Line Certification Act of 1995 is consistent with the "first sentence" of Article 7, Section 29 of the Constitution.

That sentence reads: "No person, partnership, association or corporation, public or private, operating a public utility shall have the right to the use of the highways, streets, alleys or other public places of any county, township, city or village for wires, poles, pipes, tracks, conduits or other utility facilities, without the consent of the duly constituted authority of the county, township, city or village; or to transact local business therein without first obtaining a franchise from the township, city or village."

A date for the arguments has not been set.

Campaign Finance Bill Presented, But No Signings Anticipated This Week

The last remaining bill awaiting presentation to { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" }, a hotly controversial one involving campaign finance issues, was formally presented Monday.

That means the last two remaining bills to win approval from the Legislature prior to adjourning for the year are now on Mr. Snyder's desk. Those bills would end the ability for voters to select a party's slate of candidates with a single mark on the ballot ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015SB1301" }<sup>3</sup>) and enact a wide variety of campaign finance changes, notably barring local governments and school districts from issuing any communication regarding local ballot proposals ({ HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation\_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015SB57101" } [4]).

Mr. Snyder is out of state vacationing with his family this week, press secretary Dave Murray said Monday. Mr. Murray said he does not anticipate any bills being signed or vetoed this week.

{ HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151301&locid=1>" } could make the signing or veto decision with Mr. Snyder out of state, but typically Mr. Calley has signed noncontroversial bills in which he has personally worked the issue.

Mr. Snyder has until January 5 to sign or veto the end of straight ticket voting. He has until January 11 to sign or veto the campaign finance bill, which also would prohibit corporations from collecting contributions to political action committees not affiliated with the corporation via employee payroll deduction.

Dow Sues Treasury In New Tax Dispute

The Dow Chemical Company is disputing how the Department of Treasury calculated its tax credit under the Michigan Business Tax, { HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/public/Dowsuit.pdf>" } in the Court of Claims on how the department applied tax credits.

In September, the department issued a notice of adjustment to Dow regarding its 2008 Michigan Business Tax return, decreasing its tax credit carryover from the 2008 tax year to the 2009 tax year by about $1.6 million.

The dispute concerns the order in which a business applies its credits.

Dow applied its credits "in a specific order," the company said in its lawsuit, including applying its compensation credits, investment tax credits and research and development credits before applying its Single Business Tax carryover credits.

The department, however, applied the carryover credits first.

Dow pointed to an unpublished November 2015 Court of Appeals ruling (Ashley Capital v. Department of Treasury) holding that compensation credits and investment credits take priority. Dow also pointed to a Court of Claims ruling earlier this month involving Dow Corning.

Snyder Activates Emergency Operations Center In Response To Winter Storm

A winter storm forecast to coat much of the Lower Peninsula with ice, potentially as much as a half-inch in some locations, prompted { HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1>" } to activate the State Emergency Operations Center on Monday.

The major concern with the projected ice storm is the potential loss of electrical power. A half-inch of ice, coupled with the strong winds expected to accompany the winter storm, would likely lead to considerable tree damage and subsequent damage to electrical lines.

Mr. Snyder also ordered all state offices in the Lower Peninsula to close at 1 p.m. to enable employees to leave early with road conditions deteriorating.

The Supreme Court and Court of Appeals closed their offices early. The House closed its offices at noon.

The worst icing was expected to take place on the west side of the state with between 0.4 to 0.5 inches of ice forecast between an area roughly bounded by I-96, U.S. 127, M-55 and the Lake Michigan shoreline. The state's freeways were littered with traffic crashes by early afternoon.

Change Agent Consortium Calls for EAA to be Shutdown in light of Chancellor Covington's Resignation

"(DETROIT) – Yesterday the EAA announced the resignation of John Covington as chancellor. Under Covington the turnaround district had an academic focus on computer based blended learning and student center models. It is not clear if the district's model will change under new leadership. The EAA was created in 2012 to turn around the worst performing schools in the state starting with 15 Detroit schools. In April the EAA came under fire for firing a teacher who broke up a fight between two students in her classroom with a broom after not having the proper equipment in the classroom to contact security. The Detroit News reported last week that the district spent $52,000 on travel for school administrators and teachers to attend conferences in cities around the country – the district has spent a total of $286,000 on travel in two years."

U.S. Supreme Court Rules Against EPA Overreach, Burdensome Greenhouse Gas Regulations

*"LANSING - Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette today praised a 5-4 decision by the U.S. Supreme Court striking down burdensome Environment Protection Agency (EPA) regulations that would have imposed new permitting requirements on large manufacturing facilities and power plants. The regulation would have ultimately required a multitude of smaller facilities, including hospitals, churches, schools, apartment buildings and retailers, to comply with complicated greenhouse gas emission permitting requirements. ## House Adopts Huizenga Amendment Enacting Over $788 Million In Cuts To IRS Budget

*"Washington, DC – Tonight, the House adopted an amendment to H.R. 5016, the Financial Services and General Government Appropriations Act for 2015 by Congressman Bill Huizenga (MI-02) cutting over $788 million from the IRS Enforcement Budget. The amendment was introduced as a response to the Internal Revenue Service's targeting of Americans based on their political beliefs, as well as, the targeting of adoptive families across the nation. I just spoke with Kevin. MSHDA is in fact making a $249,900 grant available to deal with Flint's water issue. We do have to make sure that the request or uses are related to housing. Given that this water issue will have a direct impact on Flint housing and housing values, it shouldn't be too difficult to make the connection. We don't know yet what the grant will be used for, but are happy to help by looking at Flint's request and identify where the MSHDA grant can be used.

Janell:

Can you check to see what kind of support and dollars are being offered by your agency for the Flint water issue? SBO just said something about $250,000 coming from your funds but we don't know what is being used. They are trying to clarify this for the Governor.

Without Apology.... I Support DFT!

Although I've received push back, I was honored to host my former DFT colleagues and their new President Ivy Bailey, in Lansing, during their rally. I shared with WDIV news that teachers have been left out of the conversation for far too long and they have a right to know and to be a part of decisions that are impacting their lives and the children they are committed to. view WDIV report here.

I also met with DFT members this past Saturday to give them a better perspective of the bills that may be introduced early December and cautioned them from acting prematurely as

Detroit Caucus Members are working very hard to ensure the best package possible.

The E.A.A. was a Failure from the Inception!

--Sherry Gay-Dagnogo, M.Ed.

From the inception of the announcement of the EAA, I knew that it would be problematic. As a former teacher with DPS, serving on United Way's Educational Preparedness team, I remember rushing over to Renaissance High School that sunny afternoon to hear the announcement. It was one of Governor Snyder's earlier visits to the city of Detroit.

The entrance was manned by one of the local communications firms hired by EM Roy Roberts, who selected those that could and who could not attend the announcement. On the inside were those that were either civically credentialed, cleared by the EM or foundation community.

My DPS colleagues were calling me asking what the hell is going on. How can they take DPS schools and shift them to this new experiment. And an experiment it was. Everyone at United Way was trying to shift gears as the Ed Team had been working very closely with Clark Hill to develop new legislation that would allow a new authorizing paradigm and partnership for charter and traditional public schools. This was on the backdrop of their turnaround work of which GM had infused a historical 27 million dollar investment. The day of the announcement, United Way's Ed legislation halted.

The announcement began and the smiles on the faces of those in attendance was evidence that educating children was the furthest from their minds.

I left wondering how could they subject Detroit schools only to this interlocal agreement and why would Eastern Michigan University of all schools with a stellar College of Education program participate in creating a separate and unequal school district. That's when my advocacy began. I later learned they were hand selected as they one of the few universities in which Governor Snyder appoints the Board of Regents. Those that held scholarly positions at EMU would never consent to such absurdity.

I strapped my organizer cap on after hearing who the appointed board would be and begin lobbying to express my disdain. After a conversation with a noteworthy board member, I knew that this model would not work and I would do everything in my power to ensure I uncovered the layers of why it would fail.

I met with Chancellor John Covington in October 2010 to determine how the model would work and how our children would be given a fighting chance. I gave him a list of community stakeholders that he should consider meeting with to truly advance a model that would retool, reform, rebuild and return our schools to DPS. I even offered to help if indeed the aforementioned was the goal. However, after attending their focus groups, and learning of the various personal contracts with non educational leaders, I knew it was doomed to fail.

Investigating what was suppose to be individualized academic plans, was nothing short of placing children in front of computers with a software system "Buzz" with no prior testing. Further investigation and FOIA by then State Representative Ellen Cogen Lipton and Sen Hopgood revealed the blatant disregard for the federal IDEA Act for students with special needs, with more than 600 students IEPs were ignored or simply thrown out.

Organizing and advocacy efforts by community activist Helen Moore revealed lies on federal applications positioned this utter failure to receive race to the top funding until an article was placed in the Washington Post raising awareness of Covington lies on a federal application.

Bloated contracts continued to pass through a board that rarely met, many of which are non-Detroit residents with no commitment it accountability to the citizens of Detroit. Meetings were held during inconvenient hours to discourage parents and activist from attending.

As the layers of the EAA lies were uncovered, their student plummeted. Their finances suffered and secret loans were uncovered from the very district they were carved out from Detroit Public Schools, under the leadership of dual EM Roy Roberts and Chair of the Education Achievement Authority.

Their efforts to recruit students gained national attention when student enrollment letters his suburban districts where parents said hell no.

Almost six years later the experiment is behind held together by threads with seemingly more FBI probes than students. As a professional educator committed to Detroit children, this is disheartening. As I anticipate the impact of the legislative process to address our Detroit Public Schools crisis, I can't help but question the mindset of anyone that advanced this model to fail children from the onset.

Hi: Is the Administration working with the city for some sort of assistance? We are likely to see a floor amendment on HB 4102 from Ananich appropriating cleanup funds for a couple big projects, and it would be lovely to see something announced before then, if there's something in the works....

September 30, 2015

Senator Hildenbrand offered the following amendments to House Bill No. 4102 (S-1) Draft 1:

1. Amend page 2, line 8, by striking out "0" and inserting "1,000,000".

2. Amend page 2, line 9, by striking out "7,775,000" and inserting "6,775,000".

3. Amend page 3, line 15, by striking out "0" and inserting "1,000,000".

4. Amend page 3, line 16, by striking out "7,725,000" and inserting "6,725,000".

5. Amend page 3, following line 20, by inserting
" Special revenue funds:
Risk management revolving fund . . . . . 1,000,000".

6. Amend page 3, line 21, by striking out "7,725,000" and inserting "6,725,000" and adjusting the subtotals, totals, and section 201 accordingly.

2 amendments for the supplemental.

1. $1.5 million to help get water filters in the homes of Flint residents. This amount will help 30,000 Flint residents get filters.

2. $12 million to help expedite the goal of sourcing the public water supply from Lake Huron.

*Switching back to the City of Detroit will cost the City of Flint $1.5 million monthly. This money will be used to switch back to that source and/or expedite the construction of the KWA pipeline.

We are asking for money out of the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund. Bottle Deposit escheats (unclaimed deposits that revert to the state) are deposited into the Clean-up and Redevelopment Fund every year. Statute mandates that 80% of this revenue be deposited into the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund.

Fy 14'	$13.6 million revenue
	$16.1 Spent
	$18.1 Balance
Fy 15'	$13.6 million revenue
	$16.6 Spent
	$15.1 estimated balance

The fund will only continue to bring in more money. The percentage of bottles returned has dropped every year since 2007, meaning more money each year in the fund.

Subject: Legislative Update 10/6

Good afternoon,

Sorry for the delay in getting this out. I wanted to update the attached document before sending, so a couple items in the committee section already took place today. Here are some highlights of what's happening in the House and Senate this week:

Session this Week: The House and Senate will hold session Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

School Aid Supplemental: The House and Senate completed work on SB 134 (Pscholka) last week, and the Governor is expected to sign the bill this week.

FY 15 Supplemental (HB 4102)Pscholka: The Senate passed the bill by a 30-5 vote on Thursday, October 1 and added two amendments:

- $100 placeholder intended to continue discussions on the Flint water crisis
- $100 placeholder for potential funding to pay off the county portion of bonds related to the now-vacated DHHS Alger County lease

I expect discussions on both of these issues to continue this week, with potential House floor action likely held off until next week (Oct. 13-15)

- FY 17 Legislator Outreach: John and I have individual FY 17 budget outreach meetings with 8 members of the appropriations committees this week: Reps. McCready, Poleski, Santana, and VerHeulen and Sens. Green, Hertel, MacGregor and Schuitmaker.

Legislation That Costs $: I attempt to maintain a list of bills getting some degree of traction in the Legislature that have a direct appropriation or a negative revenue impact. Just looking at the committee agendas for House Tax Policy, Senate Finance, and full sessions this week, I've added a number of bills to the list. Attached is what I've compiled. Please let me know if you're aware of any others.

Committee Meetings:

- New committee meeting notices are still being posted.
- House Appropriations Committee will be meeting on Wednesday at 9:00 a.m. and will likely vote to report SB 22 (H-2) This is the supplemental payment enhancement for low-income MSP troopers who retired before October 1, 1986. The H-2 version reflects an agreement we reached with Sen. Nofs on the issue. Senate Appropriations Committee will likely not meet this week.

- House State Police Subcommittee: Holding a joint meeting with the House Communications and Technology Committee on First Net. This hearing was today at Noon.
- House School Aid Subcommittee: Hearing on pupil membership counting was today at 10:30 a.m.
- Senate School Aid Subcommittee: MDE will be presenting on the GSRP formula. There will also be a presentation on the Early Learning Neighborhood Collaborative. This meeting is Wednesday at 8:30 a.m.
- House LARA and General Government subcommittees: There will be a joint hearing on Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. on the UIA claims process.

Road Funding: Discussions still ongoing.

Legislation to Watch: If you're aware of any others that pop up, please let me know:

- SB 22 (Nofs) Retirement enhancement for troopers retired before 1986. FY 16 target agreement holds $400,000 in reserve. SB 22 now scaled back to provide a boost to 96 retirees whose pensions are below $16,000—to $16,000. SB 22 is in House Appropriations. We have agreement with Sen. Nofs on an alternative supplemental payment instead of direct pension enhancement. House likely to take up the bill this fall.
- SB 218 (Schmidt)—Fallen officer survivor benefits. Some legislators are looking at ways an individual policy can be purchased instead of adding to the state system, and ORS is working on a prefunding estimate. This bill could move at some point before the end of the year. The House Fiscal Agency estimates this cost at $59,000 in the first year, growing to over $700,000 annually after ten years.
- SB 343 (Schuitmaker) University MPSERS rate cap legislation. Currently in House Appropriations, and the committee is hoping to take the bill up on Wednesday, October 7. We are currently trying to determine whether amendments are needed to reconcile an issue related to state universities overpaying into the MSPERS system.
- SB 388-390 (Casperson, Kowall, Robertson) Local unfunded mandates. These bills could still see action this fall, but it sounds like things might be slowing down a bit. Will keep everyone posted.
- HB 4338 (Forlini) Allows school districts to contract with an alternative provider for DC plans. ORS is awaiting feedback and data from one of the financial advisor groups that is advocating for this legislation.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if you hear of anything that might be helpful for me to know. Have a great week!

Snyder Asks Legislature For $6M To Reconnect Flint To Detroit Water

FLINT – Governor Rick Snyder said today that Flint will reconnect to the Detroit water system and no longer draw water for its residents and businesses from the Flint River, a move that comes in response to insufficient corrosion treatment for the river water causing unsafe levels of lead to leach into the water.

The announcement follows one of the most serious environmental crises to confront the state and a major outcry that Mr. Snyder's administration, and the man he appointed to run the city when it was in a financial emergency, failed to assure the river water – more corrosive than the water from Lake Huron, where the Detroit system draws its water – was properly treated before making the switch to the river. Testing has shown rising levels of lead in the blood of some children in the city and pockets of the city with lead levels in the water that exceed recognized limits for safety.

Mr. Snyder said it will cost $12 million to shift Flint to Detroit water through next summer, when a new pipeline to Lake Huron is expected to be completed to supply Flint and surrounding areas with its water. He said he is asking the Legislature to supply $6 million. The Mott Foundation will contribute $4 million and the city of Flint will chip in $2 million.

Gongwer News Service will have more on this story in today's Michigan Report.

John,

When you have time, I would like to discuss this with you. I've been told that Sen. Ananich plans to offer an amendment to the supplemental on the Senate floor next week to use $13.5 million from the unclaimed bottle deposit fund to address the Flint water issue (please see the attachment).

2 amendments for the supplemental.

1. $1.5 million to help get water filters in the homes of Flint residents. This amount will help 30,000 Flint residents get filters.

2. $12 million to help expedite the goal of sourcing the public water supply from Lake Huron.

*Switching back to the City of Detroit will cost the City of Flint $1.5 million monthly. This money will be used to switch back to that source and/or expedite the construction of the KWA pipeline.

We are asking for money out of the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund. Bottle Deposit escheats (unclaimed deposits that revert to the state) are deposited into the Clean-up and Redevelopment Fund every year. Statute mandates that 80% of this revenue be deposited into the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund.

	$16.1 Spent
	$18.1 Balance
Fy 15'	$13.6 million revenue
	$16.6 Spent
	$15.1 estimated balance

The fund will only continue to bring in more money. The percentage of bottles returned has dropped every year since 2007, meaning more money each year in the fund.

Good morning,

I have not shared that particular document with his office, but the fiscal agencies have it—so no reason for you not to share it you want. Also, the formal supplemental request went to the Legislature (including his office) late yesterday afternoon, and that would include the breakdown as well, along with more detail than this sheet.

Background and Methodology

The purpose of this document is to establish the parameters for urban economic and community development, to align public and private resources, and to create policies resulting in the restoration of Michigan cities. The implementation and adjustment of initiatives and policies against the indicators outlined in this document create the “Michigan Urban Agenda”.

More than simply restoring Michigan cities, stakeholders who worked on this project want vibrant urban cores; they want Michigan cities to become destinations for employment and quality of life.

The Office of Urban and Metropolitan Initiatives (OUMI) initiated discussions across the state using The Global Cities Indicators Facility (an initiative of The World Bank) report as a starting point build the parameters outlined in this document. Stakeholder groups convened in Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, and Kalamazoo to recommend areas for state focus. The composition of the stakeholder groups reflected the full, diverse spectrum of individuals and entities in Michigan urban core areas. Participants represented: business, philanthropy, local government non-profits, neighborhood associations, education, advocacy groups, health care, and several others. A full list of participants is included in the attached spreadsheet. Each stakeholder group was charged with identifying a vision statement for the Urban Agenda and defining key areas important to the revitalization of their cities. Some groups went on to identify specific indicators and strategies, while others discussed the implementation of the statewide urban agenda.

At the conclusion of the stakeholder input process, we convened all local participants in December 2012 in Lansing for a statewide discussion to establish consensus on the information produced from the stakeholder groups. The consensus information was then organized into the 13 focus areas.

OUMI then assembled an Analytical Group made up of researchers, professors, subject matter experts (SMEs) and practitioners in each focus area to identify indicators and best practices critical to achieve success in the focus area. The SMEs provided each focus area with an overarching goal, key objectives, indicators and best practices from which to shape future strategies.

While the Analytical Group met, OUMI convened a few meetings with more than 20 of the state’s Mayors and city managers to recommend the prioritization and direction of each focus area. Discussions with the Mayors centered on state investment and policy, and each focus area was measured by its overall impact within the urban core, and the potential level of impact of state interventions.

The result of the above input reduced the number of focus areas from 13 to 12, and established for each focus area goals, objectives, recommended best practices and indicators. Final revisions and adjustments to this document are pending.

Volume #54, Report #218 -- Tuesday, November 3, 2015

After Years Of Struggle, New Road Funding Set To Become Law

Governor Rick Snyder said Tuesday night he is ready to sign a road funding proposal that will generate $1.2 billion for the state's roads and bridges by 2021 after the House and Senate gave the final green light to an amended package on Tuesday.

With House passage of the key components just before 10:30 p.m., on an extraordinary late evening legislative session taking place as everyone in and around the Capitol kept one eye on election results in three special House primary elections as well as local races, the road funding debate that has consumed the capital city for so long finally came to a crescendo.

"There is time it takes to review all the bills, but I'm ready," Mr. Snyder said at a press event following the House GOP giving the go-ahead to changes made by the Senate to a seven-bill package. "(The legislation) will lead to safer and better roads in our state and do it in a fiscally responsible way. This will not be done at the expense of other people."

Indeed, one of the chief criticisms, especially from Democrats in both chambers who vehemently opposed the package, is that the final proposal does not address a $1.2 billion problem fast enough and not in a fiscally responsible way because it relies so heavily on General Fund money.

Officials in the governor's office had first expressed hesitation about the 600/600 proposal the House first considered in August, and when pressed on what changed his mind about trying to generate $600 million in new revenue and find use $600 million in existing revenue, Mr. Snyder said, "It was really having a good dialogue about talking through things."

He said he worked closely with the Department of Treasury to identify when and how the state might be able to absorb such an impact to the General Fund. He said ultimately, the package is phased-in in a fashion that works.

"I view this as positive progress," Mr. Snyder said.

Outside of the Legislature, the proposal was met with criticism from Democrats and some unions but optimism by most business groups (see separate story), the immediate concern being where some future legislatures might cut hundreds of millions of dollars from the General Fund when the plan is fully implemented in 2021. Mr. Snyder has insisted the General Fund will grow enough to accommodate the $600 million from the General Fund to avoid cuts to other programs.

Meanwhile, House Speaker Kevin Cotter (R-Mount Pleasant), after working his caucus for support for about eight hours from the time the Senate passed the package earlier in the day, agreed with a characterization after session that this was a momentous day.

"I think this is the single-largest issue that's evaded us for five years, and I feel this is a good fix to the problem that's going to be protected against time in the way of inflation, so I feel this is huge," Mr. Cotter told reporters after session. "This is one of a handful of items you look at and say, 'that's something that is going too far outlast my life in Lansing.'"

In his floor speech, Mr. Cotter deflected criticism that the proposal is fiscally irresponsible by saying instead that inaction would be such and "there's a huge cost of inaction," he said.

"Inaction is not acceptable. We've been debating numbers, the size of the problem, the source of the revenue. What we said with this plan ... is let's agree significant investment is needed."

Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof (R-West Olive) also said the changes made by the Senate were "a good start" to fixing the state's infrastructure problems.

"We've been working on it for a number of years, ever since I've been in town, and many would say we were not quite adequate when we passed something 17 years ago," he told reporters after session. "So this is a step in that direction to keep that going, invest in our infrastructure, our economy is moving along quite well and this is another piece of that that's going to help our economy continue to grow."

He admitted that not everything the Senate sent over was perfect but said his caucus has more ideas "for some trailer bills that might make this even better," Mr. Meekhof said. One of the things he'd like to improve upon is getting to $1.2 billion faster, he noted, but he did not go into further details about other potentials related to road funding.

Both Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich (D-Flint) and House Minority Leader Tim Greimel (D-Auburn Hills) were sharply critical of the package's passage in their respective chambers.

"It's taking too long to implement. It will be years down the road, (and there are) $600 million in cuts they won't identify. It's just not a real serious plan, and I think trying to get things done quickly is not the best way to do things," Mr. Ananich said. "It's just not responsible. Tell people they're going to raise tuition for their kids. Tell people they're going to cut money for their schools, cut their police and fire, have the courage to do that if you're going to pass a plan, and I think the Legislature flubbed up today a little bit."

He said his caucus would've been willing to support a plan that "fully supported" roads and could get passed in the House. But this was political plan, he said.

"(This is) checking a box, saying we got roads done. Next year, the year after that, the year after that, the roads are not going to get better," Mr. Ananich said. "I think when you look at all the reports, when it comes to the quality of the roads and what we need, it's just not enough."

Mr. Greimel said the proposal would further burden families and seniors who have suffered enough under the Snyder administration.

"This is the worst of all worlds. It raises taxes on families and seniors who have already seen their taxes go sky-high while draining funding from education and public safety, and still not fixing the roads. The plan won't even be phased in until the year 2021," he said. "Michigan residents deserve their roads fixed now, not six years from now."

And he said it's always difficult politically for future legislators to undo tax relief, so when a future Legislature does have to deal with the General Fund cuts, the problem is complicated.

"What the majority voted for tonight is a snowballing budget deficit that will hit future generations, and it's very easy for the current legislators to not have the courage to identify where the cuts are going to come from, and rely on future legislators ... to make the tough decisions," Mr. Greimel said. "This is kicking the can further down the road both when it comes to making tough budgetary decisions and when it comes to actually fixing the roads."

Mr. Ananich also did not have confidence in the assertion by Sen. Dave Hildenbrand (R-Lowell), chair of the Senate Appropriations Committee, that public safety, education and public health would be protected in upcoming budgets.

"Is he running for a third term? He'll be out of there by the time we have to make the cuts. It's easy to say that when you're not having to make the cuts," Mr. Ananich said. "I think it's important to make sure we pass things we have responsibility for, not other folks, and we just didn't do that today."

In the Senate, Sen. Patrick Colbeck (R-Canton Township) was equally as critical of the proposal when it was being taken up on the floor.

"We all agree it takes money to fix the roads. In light of all the financial pressures upon our families due to increasing costs in all facets of their lives, don't you think it would be the responsible thing to do to find ways to fix the roads without taking more of their money?" he said in a statement on the floor. "They pay us to pinch the pennies of state government so they don't have to pinch their pennies at the kitchen table. Over the past five years, our state budget has increased from $46.8 billion to $54.5 billion, yet we are told we don't have enough money to fix the roads with existing funds. What is a higher priority than roads?"

He said the proposal was "politics as usual," and urged his colleagues to break the pattern of thinking that raising taxes was always the answer.

But Sen. Virgil Smith (D-Detroit), the lone Democrat who joined Republicans in support of any (and all) of the bills, said he would support the package because, "It is an embarrassment that the Motor City, the heart and soul of the auto industry that produces the majority of our vehicles, is home to some of the worst roads in the country. Every day that we do nothing, we are threatening the economic security and even the physical safety of Detroiters, Michiganders and anyone who drives on our roads.

"I am tired of hearing about Detroit families having to sacrifice their budgets, not putting food on the table, and paying bills to sink money into their cars because they hit another one of the city's potholes," Mr. Smith said.

THE VOTES: The day in the Senate began as business-as-usual, though rumors had been swirling since Monday afternoon the chamber would take another shot at getting the package (HB 4614, HB 4616, HB 4370, HB 4736, HB 4737, HB 4738 and SB 414) back to the House for concurrence and enrollment.

Indeed, the chamber ran through General Orders on unrelated bills and recessed until 2 p.m., at which point they again recessed at the call of the chair. The Senate Republicans held an off-site caucus retreat, though sources close to them said the purpose was not to talk about road funding. By 2:30 p.m., the chamber began voting on amended versions of the bills sent to them by the House.

The biggest change in the new proposal is how much money is generated from registration fee increases. The Senate, when it passed its proposal in July, did not rely on registration fee increases at all except for an increase to hybrid and electric vehicles. But the House had hoped to get some $400 million in new revenue from a 40 percent increase for passenger vehicles and trucks.

Ultimately, the substitute adopted by the Senate generates $200 million from a 20 percent increase in HB 4736, which cleared the Senate 20-18. All Democrats except for Mr. Smith voted in opposition to the bill. Republicans Mr. Colbeck, Sen. Jack Brandenburg of Harrison Township, Sen. Judy Emmons of Sheridan, Sen. Joe Hune of Whitmore Lake, Sen. Phil Pavlov of St. Clair, Sen. John Proos of St. Joseph, Sen. Tory Rocca of Sterling Heights and Sen. Tonya Schuitmaker of Lawton also opposed its passage.

Upon arriving in the House, Republicans were about five votes short of the necessary minimum 54 votes needed. But as the hours passed, eventually the votes materialized.

The House concurred in the changes made by the Senate by a vote of 55-54 with three more individuals voting in opposition Tuesday than did the last time the House took the bill up. Rep. Gretchen Driskell (D-Saline) was absent the last time the House took the bill up but cast a no-vote this time, and Rep. Peter Lucido (R-Shelby Township) switched his vote to oppose it Tuesday.

The other major difference comes with the gas tax increase. The Senate proposal relied heavily on this aspect of the proposal to generate new revenue while the House did not. The Senate proposal would have eventually increased the gas tax by 17 cents on January 1, 2017 and the House proposal would've only upped the gas tax by 3.3 cents on October 1, 2018.

Instead, HB 4738 increases the gas tax from 19 cents per gallon to 26.3 cents per gallon, a 7.3 cents per gallon increase overall, beginning January 1, 2017. The bill was passed by the Senate 20-18, with all Democrats except Mr. Smith voting no and Republicans Mr. Brandenburg, Mr. Colbeck, Sen. Mike Green of Mayville, Mr. Hildenbrand, Mr. Hune, Mr. Pavlov, Mr. Proos, and Ms. Schuitmaker joining the opposition.

In the House, the bill was concurred in 55-52 (previously it cleared the House 56-50). Rep. Ray Franz (R-Onekama) switched from a no to a yes vote, and both Rep. Gary Glenn (R-Midland) and Rep. Henry Vaupel (R-Handy Township) switched from yes to no votes on Tuesday.

The diesel parity bill, HB 4616, cleared the Senate by the same margin and with the same individuals who opposed the gas tax increase opposed to it. The House passed the bill 56-51, the only change from previously coming from Ms. Driskell tallying a no vote.

The last time the Senate took up both the gas tax and the diesel tax increases, Sen. Dave Robertson (R-Grand Blanc) voted in opposition but he supported the measures on Tuesday. The reason for his switch was not immediately clear as he did not return a call for comment after session.

The two tax increases are intended to generate $400 million in new revenue, according to an analysis of the updated bills handed out Tuesday. Inflationary increases are included in both gas tax bills and are indexed to the national Consumer Price Index. Under the compromise, they will begin January 1, 2022 (sooner than the House and later than the Senate proposal, respectively).

And HB 4737 allows the Michigan Transportation Fund to accept funds from any source, as well as adds provisions related to road construction warranties. The bill would also effectively allow, with approval from the director of the Department of Transportation, the city of Detroit to use up to 20 percent of its MTF distribution for public transit purposes. It also includes language creating the Roads Innovation Task Force to prepare a report no later than March 1, 2016 evaluating road materials and construction materials, and allowing MDOT to build roads that could last at least 50 years.

The Roads Innovation Fund created within the bill would collect $100 million each fiscal year beginning in 2016-17 from the fuel taxes, and every year thereafter. That money is to be placed in a so-called "lock box" and can only be "unlocked" via a concurrent resolution indicating the funds will be used specifically for "higher quality, longer life cycle road construction purposes."

That bill cleared the Senate 27-11, with Mr. Smith in support and Ms. Emmons in opposition.

In the House, the bill passed 73-34 (previously it was 101-5, though the concept of a lock box did not exist then either). Only Democrats voted in opposition on Tuesday, though some lent their opposition to this bill, including Mr. Greimel.

HYBRID/ELECTRIC REGISTRATION, INCOME TAX ROLLBACK: Both the House and the Senate agreed, under HB 4614, to increase registration fees for hybrid electric vehicles and non-hybrid electric vehicles, so nothing about that proposal changed. The bill was passed 21-17 with Mr. Brandenburg, Mr. Colbeck, Mr. Hildenbrand, Mr. Hune, Mr. Pavlov, Mr. Proos and Mr. Rocca joining all Senate Democrats except Mr. Smith in opposition.

In the House, the bill passed 55-52, a difference from the previous vote of 56-50, though the changed votes were not immediately available.

And the income tax rollback policy the Senate needed to secure some Republican votes in its chamber for a tax hike was also maintained and only slightly modified. Under the amended version of SB 414, the rollback would occur when General Fund growth exceeds the rate of inflation times 1.425, the latter part being new to the mix. The compromise also holds the rollback off until January 1, 2023 (the Senate had proposed it begin January 1, 2018, and the House moved that up to 2019).

SB 414 was passed 28-10, Mr. Smith joining Republicans in support of the bill. In the House, the bill passed 61-46, Ms. Driskell again joining the opposition where she was absent previously.

HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX: HB 4370 to expand the Homestead Property Tax Credit - a proposal put forward by the House - did not see major changes. The household resources cap will remain at $60,000, as the House proposed, but the income multiplier did change from 3.4 percent in tax year 2017 to 3.2 percent in tax year 2018. The maximum tax credit for tax year 2018 remains at $1,500, but the compromise also increases the renter credit available. And the taxable value threshold, household resources cap and max credit amount will be indexed to inflation beginning tax year 2021 now instead of calendar year 2022.

The bill passed the Senate 28-10, with Mr. Smith joining all Republicans in support.

And the House gave the bill the go-ahead by a vote of 62-45, Ms. Driskell additional vote being the only difference from previously.

'Nightmare Over' As Gamrat, Courser Lose Comeback Attempts

Mary Whiteford and Gary Howell easily defeated former Reps. Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser in special election primaries Tuesday in 80th House and 82nd House District primaries, respectively, ensuring that neither disgraced ex-legislator will return to the Capitol.

With 90 percent of precincts reporting late Tuesday, Ms. Whiteford of Casco Township had 5,065 votes, or 51.7 percent. Ms. Gamrat of Plainwell came in with 912 votes, or 9.3 percent of the vote. In second place was Allegan County Commissioner Jim Storey, with 2,380 votes, or 24.3 percent.

Mr. Howell defeated Mr. Courser with 3,070 votes compared to Mr. Courser's 415 votes. A total of 14,733 votes were cast. Jan Peabody lost to Mr. Courser in the 2014 primary. On Tuesday she came in second again with 2,418 votes. Chris Tuski of Hadley Township came in third with 2,396 votes.

Both will be heavily favored to win their traditionally Republican seats in the March 8 special elections, and Republican relief was palpable.

"Voters of these districts have spoken and are now one step closer to having the effective representation that is the right of every Michigan resident," Michigan Republican Party Chair Ronna Romney McDaniel said in a statement. "It is time to move forward. Most importantly, I would like to extend very special congratulations to Mary Whiteford in the 80th House District and Gary Howell in the 82nd House District on their primary wins. I look forward to working with these exceptional candidates in an effort to get them elected this March."

Ms. Gamrat and Mr. Courser spent much of their terms surrounded in controversy, as first rumors swirled of an extramarital affair going on between the two, that was later proven when former staffers provided audio proof to The Detroit News. The audio also showed Mr. Courser wrote an over-the-top email accusing himself of having sex with a male prostitute and calling Ms. Gamrat a tramp in an attempt to taint any real information about the affair.

Mr. Courser also asked his former staffer to send out the email, the request resulted in the House Business Office opening an investigation into the two lawmakers. The internal investigation found the two misused taxpayer resources for attempted personal and political gain. Ms. Gamrat was expelled from the House and Mr. Courser resigned before the final vote could be taken.

Both accused lawmakers in Lansing of forcing them out without justification, and announced their bids for election almost immediately after leaving office.

Ms. Whiteford, the target of searing attacks from Ms. Gamrat, said she was grateful the voters chose her.

"I am just humbled and honored that the people of Allegan County have chosen me to represent them," she said. "I am just excited to hit the ground running."

Ms. Whiteford said between now and the general election on March 8 she will continue to work on the local committees she is a part of, and start to introduce herself to those in Lansing. She said she has already met a few representatives who came to help her campaign.

"I feel inspired because there are so many wonderful people that live here," she said of the district. "It is a passion for me to help my neighbors."

Mr. Howell said he was savoring the victory.

"I am gratified that the people of Lapeer County have placed their faith in me," he said. "I will live up to their expectations."

He said his main goal is to be an effective legislator, and he will spend his time between now and the general election on March 8th campaigning and becoming more familiar with the legislative process.

"I want to spend some time in Lansing, getting to know the other representatives so that I can be effective from the very first day," he said.

Ms. Gamrat said throughout the process the voters should have a voice instead of politicians in Lansing.

She said Tuesday after her loss she thought it was important to fight for the voice of the people.

"That is one of the reasons I ran for office, because of the disparity I saw between government the people," she said. "The people wanting one thing and the government doing another."

Ms. Gamrat said it was a tremendous honor to serve the people of the 80th District, and she did her best while in office.

"We worked really, really hard. I think I did everything I could do and at the end of the day you do your best and you have to allow the results to be what they are," she said.

Ms. Peabody and Mr. Courser did not return calls for comment late Tuesday, and Mr. Courser had yet to post anything on social media. Mr. Tuski said he was not watching the election results and would find out who won later.

House Speaker Kevin Cotter (R-Mount Pleasant) congratulated Ms. Whiteford and Mr. Howell in separate statements Tuesday. He described both as hard-working and solid advocates of sound policies for the state.

U.S. Rep. Fred Upton (R-St. Joseph) said in a statement following the special election, "this embarrassing nightmare now seems over."

"Allegan County has made a wise decision - they can again count on the GOP nominee as they were able to do in the past with folks like Paul Hillegonds, Patty Birkholz, Fulton Sheen and Bob Genetski," he said. "Service and leadership in Lansing will soon be restored under Mary Whiteford."

Fevered Lobbying Underway Ahead Of Possible Energy Vote

A potential House committee vote Wednesday on long-anticipated legislation overhauling energy laws in Michigan set off a furious round of lobbying and vote counting and major questions about whether supporters could muster the votes needed to get the legislation to the House floor.

The House Energy Policy Committee will meet at 9 a.m. Wednesday on HB 4297, HB 4298 and HB 4575.

Substitutes were in circulation for the bills, and those favoring more choice in the electric market than the existing 10 percent cap fumed at a new provision that would prohibit a customer from choosing an alternative electric supplier for 20 years if they initially decline to sign up with one. Environmental groups were stepping up their attacks on the legislation's new definition for renewable energy that would allow waste incineration to count as a renewable source.

Sources following the issue closely said Rep. Aric Nesbitt (R-Lawton), the committee chair, and the state's major utilities, Consumers Energy and DTE Energy - the major backers of the legislation - face a problem of having both conservatives favoring more choice and environmentalists aiming daggers at the bill. Bill opponents were adamant late Tuesday that the committee was short of the necessary 13 votes to report the legislation to the full House.

Several committee Republicans were especially upset at the process, saying they had been given too little time to review the lengthy and detailed bills.

Mr. Nesbitt could be seen talking to various committee members during the lengthy session Tuesday, including Rep. Gary Glenn (R-Midland), the vice chair, and Rep. Bill LaVoy (D-Monroe), the minority vice chair.

Mr. Nesbitt said late Tuesday progress was being made and he was "hopeful we will be able to see movement this week." Mr. Nesbitt wouldn't say with certainty that the bills may move Thursday instead of at the committee's scheduled meeting Wednesday.

One possibility making the rounds Tuesday was that the committee would adopt substitutes Wednesday and discuss them but vote later in the week.

Mr. Glenn said he was "absolutely not" supportive of the draft H-3 substitute circulated to committee members late last week. He also said there was "widespread discomfort" among members that the substitute was being pushed quickly.

But Mr. Nesbitt said he has held 28 hours of hearings on the legislation. He asserted there are philosophical differences on some of the issues, including the 10 percent choice market.

"I have already made significant changes and compromises," on the choice piece of the legislation, he said.

Mr. LaVoy said Tuesday evening he was negotiating with Mr. Nesbitt, the administration and leadership on both sides to get some changes to the bills that would allow some Democrats to vote yes to report the bills.

He described talks as positive, but said an official agreement had not yet been reached.

Rep. Peter Pettalia (R-Presque Isle) said he felt comfortable with the package and did not believe it to be rushed.

Energy Choice Now, the group favoring elimination of the 10 percent cap on competition, said the new substitute in circulation contained troubling changes. It said the changes would ease the ability for utilities to hike rates and reduce transparency.

One of the major changes in the legislation would enable more proposed new plants and plant purchases to go through the state's certificate of necessity process. The current threshold of $500 million for eligibility for that process would drop to $100 million under the substitute.

Integrated resource plans that the utilities would file would have to include plans and options for meeting current and future energy needs as well as reserve margins. They would have to project the impact on customer rates. They would have to project the amount of customer self-generation and the amount of electric generating capacity in the utility's area even from sources not owned by the utility.

The integrated resource plans would have to include five-, 10- and 15-year capacity forecasts. The Public Service Commission would have 270 days to approve, modify or reject an integrated resource plan.

Bonds, Millages Win, Two High-Profile Leaders Lose In Local Elections

Most of the communities asking for new funding or to borrow money got permission, but voters in two communities ousted their leaders in Tuesday's elections.

Of the results available Tuesday evening, the majority of local ballot issues were approved, including most of the requests for bonding authority and new millages, as well as all of the millage renewal requests.

Twenty-eight of the 35 school bond issues on the ballot won, including most of the biggest ones, such as those in the Rochester, Grand Rapids and Portage schools, all of which asked their voters to raise their property taxes to support borrowing more than $100 million each for infrastructure improvements.

Sinking fund millage requests did well, passing in six of the nine districts where results were available.

Road millages fared poorly, losing in six of the nine proposals where results were available.

Descriptions of the various ballot proposals, as well as whether they were successful, are posted on the Gongwer News Service website.

On the heels of reports of high lead levels in Flint's water, Flint Mayor Dayne Walling lost his seat to challenger Karen Weaver. A state appointed emergency manager made the decision to switch the city's water source to the Flint River while awaiting construction of a permanent new pipeline to Lake Huron, and insufficient corrosion controls allowed lead to leach into the water at levels requiring remediation.

But Mr. Walling, while he had no power at the time of the switch, gave it his blessing, pushing the button to change the water source and posing for photos with a glass of Flint River water.

East Lansing Mayor Nathan Triplett, who had three terms on the East Lansing City Council and has been a regular in Lansing-area politics for more than a decade, lost his seat as former East Lansing Mayor, and ex-House member, Mark Meadows, returned to the council. Shanna Draheim and Erik Altmann took the other two seats.

Results Tuesday showed that opinions on term limits appear to be shifting, at least in some communities. Both Keego Harbor and Lathrup Village handily defeated proposals that would have limited council members.

Prohibitions against marijuana continued to fall. Keego Harbor and Portage joined the list of communities approving possession of small amounts of the drug (one ounce) on private property.

Southfield eliminated its primary elections, so city officials will now all be selected at the general election, even if there are more than twice as many candidates as there are open seats. City officials noted on a fact sheet on the issue that Southfield was one of only five cities in the county still using primary elections, and said the change would save $76,000 per election cycle.

Putnam Township (Livingston County) voters rejected a proposal to use a 1 mill tax increase to fight a proposed natural gas pipeline through the community.

Eaton Rapids Public Schools lost in its effort to develop a sinking fund, but barely. The 1 mill plan fell by three votes.

Even closer, one voter tipped the decision for New Buffalo to post its meetings on its website rather than in the local newspaper.

And Royal Oak revised its charter to eliminate all gender references.

Former Rep. Richard LeBlanc won the Westland clerk post. The Burton mayor, former Rep. Paula Zelenko, narrowly won re-election.

Split Reaction To Roads Package Finally Passing

Business groups mostly hailed the Legislature completing action on a plan to raise $600 million in new revenue for roads and commit $600 million from the General Fund as well several years into the future, but other organizations decried the package as destabilizing funding for programs that rely on the General Fund and failing to solve the road funding shortage.

The Grand Rapids Regional Chamber of Commerce, the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Association of Michigan were among the groups praising the plan on its way to Governor Rick Snyder.

"Road and bridge repair is a key economic development issue of primary importance to small business owners, the communities in which they live and the economic recovery of the entire state," said SBAM President and CEO Rob Fowler in a statement. "The transportation and infrastructure funding package will provide the tools Michigan needs to fix our infrastructure, help our businesses grow and create jobs. It's an investment opportunity for Michigan's future."

Two business organizations that had sharply criticized the initial 600/600 plan from the House - Business Leaders for Michigan and the Detroit Regional Chamber - offered tepid praise. Both groups had criticized insufficient revenue from new taxes and raised worries about what the General Fund commitment would mean for higher education and other services.

"This road funding package provides substantial funding toward fixing our roads. While it doesn't meet all of our objectives for funding transportation - it meets many of them," said Doug Rothwell, BLM President and CEO, in a statement. "Moving forward, we will monitor the state's finances to ensure the goals of this multi-year funding plan are met and continue to encourage the state to prioritize investments to make college more affordable and to support job training and economic development as these are also critical priorities that are important to growing jobs and our economy."

Brad Williams of the Detroit Regional Chamber criticized the lack of new revenue prior to January 1, 2017.

"Michigan motorists deserve to have their roads fixed before 2017, but this appears to be the best this Legislature can do," he said in a statement. "It's time to move on and hope the long-term sustainability issues with this plan can be addressed in the future."

Lance Binoniemi of the Michigan Infrastructure and Transportation Association praised the plan and rejected criticism that the $600 million from the General Fund - which will phase in starting in the 2018-19 fiscal year through the 2020-21 fiscal year - cannot be relied upon.

"It's a plan that's a long time coming," he said. "We obviously would have loved to see a quicker ramp up, and we will make efforts over the next few years to see if we can get more money in the next two or three construction seasons than this legislation allows for."

Nonetheless, Mr. Binoniemi said the General Fund money has the benefit of being enshrined in statute. He dismissed concerns that the next governor or future legislatures would vote to change that provision.

"We feel good there will still be demand from the public and there will still be demand from legislators that we continue to put more money into roads," he said.

The Michigan Municipal League cast the plan as underwhelming.

"It's an over-statement to say that a $1.2 billion plan with $600 million in new revenue and $600 in General Fund dollars will fix Michigan's crumbling infrastructure," said MML Executive Director and CEO Dan Gilmartin in a statement. "This is especially true given that two-thirds of the new revenue will simply replace money already budgeted for roads in the current fiscal year and the plan doesn't fully phase in for almost a decade."

AFL-CIO President Ron Bieber said the numbers in the plan do not add up.

"This bill is based on fuzzy math and accounting gimmicks, and it won't do anything to actually fix our roads for at least two years," he said. "You don't fix the roads by cutting education, public safety, and health care, and you don't fix the roads by giving tax breaks to millionaires while raising taxes on working people."

Karen Holcomb-Merrill of the Michigan League for Public Policy said the proposal jeopardizes other key services.

"Our schools, public safety and local communities will all be put into jeopardy with $600 million in unspecified future budget cuts and an income tax rollback that will further starve dollars available for many of the things Michigan residents value," she said in a statement. "This plan doesn't get us where we need to be funding-wise for years, when our roads will be even worse than they are now. It perpetuates the problem instead of offering a true solution."

LaGrand Wins Dem Nomination In 75th House, Looks Forward To General

After easily defeating his primary opponent in the special election for the 75th House District, Democrat David LaGrand of Grand Rapids pointed to the Republican candidate's "few" votes and said he is confident heading into the March 8 general election for the seat.

Mr. LaGrand won the nomination with 4,085 votes compared to 948 votes for Michael Scruggs of Grand Rapids, his primary opponent.

And Blake Edmonds, the sole Republican candidate in the district, received 1,289 votes, which Mr. LaGrand said made him confident heading into the general. The district is considered solidly Democratic.

"I feel grateful," Mr. LaGrand said. "Nobody owes me a vote, nobody owes me support. I am just really glad to be able to serve the community."

Mr. LaGrand said he will continue to campaign and also get to know more people current serving in Lansing.

"It is going to exponentially more difficult to get a consensus in 110-member body," Mr. LaGrand said, compared to smaller boards he has served on. "I understand that."

While Mr. LaGrand was not fazed by Republican Mr. Edmonds results Tuesday, House Speaker Kevin Cotter (R-Mount Pleasant) released a statement expressing the opposite view.

"Blake Edmonds is the best candidate to serve the people of Grand Rapids and to represent their views in the state Capitol," Mr. Cotter said. "I look forward to seeing him bring his plan for a stronger Michigan to the people of this community over the next few months and working with him to grow our strong legislative majority."

DHHS: Transfer From Maxey Traumatic For Youth

A Department of Health and Human Services official told House members Tuesday closing the W.J. Maxey Training School for juvenile offenders was indeed traumatic for the 48 children who were transferred from the facility, but one lawmaker challenged that claim, saying some youth might be more comfortable with their new placements.

The transfer from the facility, which officially closed October 1 at the beginning of the 2015-16 fiscal year, was traumatic for the youth, and considered yet another failure from adults to support them, Herman McCall, director of the Juvenile Justice Programs within DHHS, told the House Appropriations Human Services Subcommittee of the Health and Human Services Subcommittee.

Mr. McCall said some youth transferred to other facilities had to completely start over in their treatment.

"Some of these youth had four-to-five previous placements that didn't work for them and now they experience, through no fault of their own, in their minds adults letting them down," he said.

But Rep. Robert VerHeulen (R-Walker) asked if Mr. McCall had spoken to all of the 48 inmates from Maxey after their transfer. Mr. McCall said he had not.

"You don't know if they would perceive if they were better or worse," in their new placements, Mr. VerHeulen said.

"I would hope most would say they were better," Mr. McCall said. "I am just merely identifying a transfer as a traumatic event."

However, two children transferred to a jobs corps program have not fared well, according to Mr. McCall. One is in jail on a weapons charge and another went AWOL after a weekend outing, Mr. McCall said after a question from Rep. Brian Banks (D-Detroit), the minority vice chair of the committee.

Mr. McCall said the department will track the youth transferred from Maxey for two years.

Of the remaining youth who were transferred, 18 went to a public facility, 16 went to private providers, eight went home to parents or grandparents, three went to supervised independent living and one to a county program.

In terms of the savings from the closure, Mr. McCall said the appropriation for Maxey was $9 million when it was open, and $1 million in the most recent budget to address the closure.

He said there is still a $397.2 million bond out, with only a portion of that being for Maxey.

The 64 staffers at Maxey had an average of 23 years' experience and only six served for less than 12 years, Mr. McCall said.

He praised the staffers handling of the inmates when they discovered they would be transferred and potentially have to start their treatment over.

"I certainly want to report that the staff, who were also going through similar types of things, handled that very well," he said.

Mr. McCall said 26 of the staffers were eligible for retirement and 15 were laid off. He said, since the Department of Community Health and the Department of Human Services merged, some staffers were able to be transferred to mental health facilities.

And four elected to transfer to the state run Shawono facility.

Robert VanderLaan, GOP Legislative Leader, Top Lobbyist, Dies

Robert VanderLaan, 85, who served as both majority and minority leader of the Senate, whose one election defeat showed the nation how serious the Watergate crisis was, and who helped found one of Lansing's best-known lobbying firms, died Sunday.

Funeral services for Mr. VanderLaan will be held on Thursday.

Mr. VanderLaan died a little more than one month after his wife of 64 years, Millie, died.

Mr. VanderLaan was one of a group of moderate Republicans - whose numbers included former Governors George Romney and William Milliken - who came into state office in the 1960s, sweeping out older, harder conservatives who had helped push the state to the brink of financial disaster in 1950s. Affable, steady, hardworking, never given to histrionics and extremes, Mr. VanderLaan was in the middle of many of the critical decisions that helped shape the state to its governing structure today.

He was born in Dutton, and attended a one-room school until the ninth grade. He graduated high school from Grand Rapids Christian High School and then graduated from Calvin College. He later earned a master's degree in political education from the University of Michigan and pursued a doctorate in education from Michigan State University.

He was a teacher to begin his professional life, teaching at Christian high schools in the Grand Rapids area and also at Calvin College.

He also was involved in local and state politics. In a biographical statement in the 1970s he was proud that he had been a delegate to every Republican state convention since 1952.

He served in the Legislature from Kentwood, but he served Kentwood before it was Kentwood. He was a Paris Township trustee, clerk and supervisor. The township eventually became Kentwood.

He was elected to the Senate in 1962. During the 1960s, Mr. VanderLaan was an ally to Mr. Romney's push to modernize the state's administrative structure and financial basis.

In a 2007 story about the 40th anniversary of the passage of Michigan's income tax, Mr. VanderLaan was among those lawmakers present at the time who recalled the action was not filled with the same stress and drama that would overshadow virtually every other tax increase.

The state's economy was one of the strongest in the nation, the population had grown, businesses and politicians both wanted to avoid the public relations fiascos Michigan had endured during the payless paydays of the 1950s.

The income tax passed just before the Independence Day holiday in 1967, and legislators were largely unmolested by critics during the parades that weekend.

It was the last time lawmakers could enjoy such peace over tax issues, as with Mr. VanderLaan leading Senate Republicans through most of the 1970s the state endured several recessions and an ongoing spate of budget crises.

The election of 1970 left the Senate equally divided between Democrats and Republicans, but with Republican Lt. Governor Jim Brickley in the chair, the Republicans claimed the majority and Mr. VanderLaan was the caucus leader.

For several years, however, the focus politically was more on Washington and the Watergate scandal and Mr. VanderLaan played a role in that pivotal era.

After then-Vice President Spiro Agnew resigned following criminal allegations, former President Richard Nixon chose the House minority leader, U.S. Rep. Gerald Ford of Grand Rapids, as the new vice president.

Mr. VanderLaan was the consensus Republican candidate to succeed Mr. Ford in Congress. He had already been elected from essentially the same district several times to Lansing, it was the Grand Rapids area, Mr. VanderLaan was a Republican. In any other election Mr. VanderLaan's victory was as certain as the sun rising in the east.

But not in 1974. Almost from the first, the election was a problem for the GOP, and surprisingly so. National figures came in to help with the election, but it was clear the Republican everyone was voting on was not named VanderLaan. The real Republican on the ballot was Richard Nixon.

And when the voters shockingly elected Democrat Richard VanderVeen to Congress, it was arguably the first hard slap in the face the Nixon administration took realizing the depth of American anger at the ongoing scandal. (Mr. Nixon himself campaigned in the Thumb region that spring during another special congressional election, and was directly rebuked when the voters chose Democrat Bob Traxler. Some four months later, Mr. Nixon resigned.)

Though disappointed, Mr. VanderLaan was stoic about his loss, recognizing that he was a victim of history. He never sought a spot in Congress again, though. He was re-elected twice more to the Senate, and returned as GOP leader, though now minority leader.

Much of the remaining 1970s was dedicated to keeping the state's budget balanced during two of the worst recessions the state had seen. The years saw Mr. VanderLaan working with the administration of Mr. Milliken on a series of maneuvers, including tax increases and shifting the state's fiscal year, to maintain balance. His last three years in office were marked by on-going struggles to keep the budget balanced as the economy went into near collapse and the state's unemployment rate, in 1982, averaged more than 15 percent.

He himself, however, would list a series of other bills that he was proud of. He sponsored campaign reform legislation, helped raise the minimum wage and sponsored the Fair Bus Act, which allowed public school buses to carry children to parochial schools.

Mr. VanderLaan decided against running for re-election in 1982, and he and then Democratic House Speaker Bobby Crim (who also decided to step down in 1982) formed Governmental Consultant Services, Incorporated, which became one of the better known lobbying firms in Lansing. He retired from the firm in the 1990s.

Once retired, Mr. VanderLaan essentially walked away from politics, splitting his time between Pentwater and Florida, playing golf and travelling.

Visitation will be 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Zaagman Memorial Chapel, 2800 Burton Street, SE, Grand Rapids.

Funeral services will be 11 a.m., Thursday at the Millbrook Christian Reformed Church, 3661 Poinsettia Avenue SE, Grand Rapids.

Motorists Acquiring Park Passports, Park Usage Up, Panel Told

More Michigan motorists are acquiring park state park passports with their vehicle registration and more people are using the state parks, the House Appropriations Natural Resources Subcommittee was told Tuesday.

Ron Olson, chief of the parks division in the Department of Natural Resources, told the subcommittee that owners of some 30 percent of the passenger vehicles in the state - nearly 7 million vehicles - acquire the passport when updating the vehicle's registration.

In 2011, 24.7 percent of the vehicles had the passport, and in September, 31 percent of the vehicles that renewed registration. In September 2014, 26.6 percent had added the passport.

A major source of the growth has been the success in rehabilitating Belle Isle in Detroit. Before the park went under state supervision, just 7.22 percent of Detroit vehicle has the passport. Now more than 30 percent do.

And passport registrations in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties are especially critical to the revenues the passport produces. Each 1 percent of the vehicles with a passport in those three counties generates $319,455. For the entire rest of the state, each 1 percent generated $531,101.

At those levels, the passport is running well above the former vehicle stickers that were sold for park entry, Mr. Olson said. When the passports were introduced, the state calculated it would need to sell passports to 17 percent of all vehicles to match the stickers.

That increase comes as more than 25 million people visited state parks in fiscal year 2014-15, nearly 3 million alone to Belle Isle.

And the state is now the second most visited in terms of camping nights, topping more than 1 million camping nights, he said. Camping nights are up by 8.9 percent in state parks and by 16 percent in state forest campgrounds, he said.

House Panel Allows Corrections, Probation Officers To Carry In Gun-Free Zones

Current and former corrections officers and parole and probation officers would be able to carry concealed pistols in gun-free zones under legislation approved Tuesday by the House Judiciary Committee.

The bill (SB 516), reported on a nearly party-line vote, would require the officers to show they had law enforcement weapons training.

In addition to most of the Democrats on the panel - Rep. Vanessa Guerra (D-Bridgeport) joined Republicans supporting the bill - gun rights groups also opposed the legislation.

Greg O'Neil with Michigan Gun Owners Incorporated and Jason Gillman with Michigan Open Carry both urged that the chamber amend the bill to allow all trained concealed pistol license holders to carry in gun-free zones.

"It's the only realistic way to protect the public at large," Mr. O'Neil said.

Mr. Gillman said one of the arguments in favor of the bill is that the officers and their families are targets.

The bill was reported with no discussion from committee members.

ELECTRONIC FILING: The committee began discussions Tuesday on a package of bills that would allow a statewide electronic filing system for court documents.

The bills (SB 531, SB 532, SB 533, HB 5028, HB 5029 and HB 5030) would add a $25 fee to certain court documents. The $42 million the new fee is projected to raise would be used to create the new filing system.

The goal of the system, Supreme Court Justice David Viviano told the committee, is to allow courts that already have their own case management systems to share files and for litigants to electronically add files to those cases.

The system would be an expansion of e-filing systems already in place as pilot programs in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Ottawa counties as well as the 13th Circuit Court in the Grand Traverse County area.

Mr. Viviano said the plan is for a system that would allow the counties to still select their own vendor for case management, and for litigants to log into the system they prefer to file documents anywhere in the state.

The new system should save money for those in the pilot areas because it changes how the fees are charged, Mr. Viviano said. "It moves from a transaction-based system to one that's free any time any place," he said.

To questions from Rep. Jeff Irwin (D-Ann Arbor) and Rep. Klint Kesto (R-Commerce Township), who both live in counties that have already implemented e-filing systems, Mr. Viviano said it was not the intention for those counties to subsidize development of the system for other counties, but he said it would be easier for them to join the system.

Some of the funds collected by the new fees would be dedicated to infrastructure for counties that have not moved far in electronic case management, but Joseph Baumann, chief legal counsel for the Supreme Court, said there would be limits to those funds. He noted, for instance, that there would not likely be funds to install fiber optic cable between courts in the Upper Peninsula, an example Mr. Irwin had offered in asking how the funds would be used.

The bill would sunset in five years, allowing the Legislature to determine if the new fee is still needed.

Mr. Viviano said the change should save enough in reduced work for local clerks that the additional funds would not be needed long-term.

Bruce Timmons, retired policy analyst, urged the committee to ditch the new fee and merely increase existing fees. He said the new fee would mean added bookkeeping work for local clerks.

"Simply change that filing fee and all that headache would not be there," he said.

Snyder Signs Alert System To Track Fleeing Cop Killers

A notification system would alert the state of any identifying characteristics of a person suspected of harming or killing a police officer who has fled the crime scene under a bill signed into law Tuesday by Governor Rick Snyder.

Under SB 336 (PA 167, effective February 1), the Department of State Police will establish and maintain a notification system to disseminate the name, physical description and vehicle type of such suspects.

Mr. Snyder also signed:

SB 22, POLICE RETIREMENT (Casperson) Provide one-time increase in monthly
PA 168 retirement allowance for certain retirants to provide cost-of-living adjustment.

Signed: November 3, 2015; Effective: November 3, 2015

SB 195, PHARMACY FINGERPRINTS (Hune) Removes fingerprint requirement for PA 169 application of a new pharmacy, manufacturer, or wholesale distributor licenses.

Capital Notebook: Recall Petition Filed On Snyder

A recall petition has been filed against Governor Rick Snyder by Angelo Scott Brown. The Board of State Canvassers will meet at 10 a.m. November 13 to consider whether the petition states factually and clearly the reasons for recall. Only after meeting that threshold could Mr. Brown attempt the monumental task of collecting the necessary signatures to put a recall election on the ballot.

LONGTIME UNION LOBBYIST HUGHES RETIRES: Tim Hughes, one of the most well-known figures around the Capitol from his time as a lobbyist for the Michigan AFL-CIO, Governor Jennifer Granholm and most recently the United Auto Workers, has retired.

PUBLIC INFORMATION ACTIVIST DIES: Patrick Clawson, a sometimes journalist and sometimes activist and always tenacious in his pursuits, died last week at the age of 60. Mr. Clawson was a regular visitor to legislative committees to testify on bills, usually ones addressing access to public records. Just recently, he tangled with Sen. Rick Jones (R-Grand Ledge), the Senate Judiciary Committee chair, on holes Mr. Clawson said legislation before the committee had in making court records public.

Mr. Clawson also was a key figure in exposing one of the more embarrassing episodes a governor has faced when he uncovered the fact that a con man had tricked the Michigan Economic Development Corporation into thinking he had a legitimate business seeking an incentive. The con man wound up sharing a stage with then-Governor Jennifer Granholm at an announcement of business incentives for several companies at which point Mr. Clawson and others figured out who he was.

Campaign Notes

PAVLOV ENDORSEMENTS: Sen. Phil Pavlov (R-Saint Clair) announced a number of endorsements from local leaders in his run for the 10th U.S. House District to succeed retiring U.S. Rep. Candice Miller (R-Harrison Township).

Among his latest endorsements are Rep. Dan Lauwers (R-Brockway), Port Huron Mayor Pauline Repp, Mayor Pro Tem Sherry Archibald and Police Chief Mike Reaves; St. Clair County Commissioners Jeffrey Bohm, Bill Gratopp, Greg McConnell, Tom Reilly, David Rushing, and Karl Tomion; St. Clair County Sheriff Tim Donnellon; St. Clair County Clerk Jay DeBoyer; and former Rep. Terry London.

Tax Breaks For Switch, Data Centers, Clear Senate Amid Growing Criticism

Although the agreement on just how much of a sales/use tax exemption colocation centers such as Switch, a company out of Nevada looking to expand in Michigan, should receive varied from Thursday morning to Thursday afternoon, the Senate ultimately decided to allow such entities to receive the full extent of an exemption on a 21-15 vote.

{ HYPERLINK

on the sales and use tax exemptions saw minimal discussion on the Senate floor, but outside of the Capitol, the debate roared, especially among traditional allies for Republicans.

The House, although it was widely expected to, did not vote on similar legislation in its chamber on Thursday.

Gideon D'Assandro, spokesperson for House Republicans, said members still have a lot of questions on the issue and want to take more time to discuss the legislation before making decisions.

Sources familiar with the situation speaking on background said the caucus is struggling - ideologically - with the concept of providing a tax break for one industry. There are also questions about existing data centers, which have operated in the state without the exemptions being proposed now.

Leading the charge of conservatives against the legislation was the Michigan Chamber of Commerce. Rich Studley, the chamber president and CEO, lambasted the legislation repeatedly on Twitter. And it was the strong opposition from his organization that sources said had slowed efforts to pass the bills in the House.

"We are very disappointed with the Michigan Senate's decision to hastily grant hundreds of millions of dollars in sales and use tax breaks to an out-of-state company without the guarantee of a single job," Mr. Studley said a statement. "It's time for state lawmakers to stop the bait-and-switch approach to tax policy. From failed state battery credits to ineffective Hollywood film subsidies, we've seen this movie before, and it ends badly for Michigan taxpayers."

Besides Mr. Studley, the National Federation of Independent Business-Michigan ripped the bills, hitting them with criticism sure to sting usual legislative Republican allies that the legislation was Granholmian. And then prominent Republican strategist Greg McNeilly called legislation "corporate cronyism" and "sad" on his Twitter feed and made sure to mention the House and Senate Republican caucus Twitter accounts to be sure they got the message. { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=204901&locid=1" } (R-Cascade Township) said the legislation would "destroy" jobs.

The bills would provide a 15-year exemption from the sales tax and the use taxes at the full rate of 6 percent - a version that cleared the Senate Michigan Competitiveness Committee earlier in the day permitted only exempted 4 percent - for collocated data centers.

Senate { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151101&locid=1" } (R-West Olive) said the change from 4 percent to 6 percent was a result of their belief of what the House would end up doing as well.

The bills go on to specifically define "internet data center," "data center equipment," and a "collocated business." The bills were expected to apply only to collocated data centers, a relatively small number, not captive data centers, of which there are more.

But they do not include another provision the Chamber sought to have included, Tricia Kinley, senior director of tax and regulatory reform for the Chamber, said.

"In their rush to pass this legislation, senators declined to protect businesses already located in Michigan by refusing to adopt a simple amendment to close the door on the Treasury Department's relentless effort to impose the sales tax on cloud computing and data services," she said in a statement.

And Charlie Owens with the National Federation of Independent Businesses-Michigan likened the proposal to Democratic former Governor Jennifer Granholm's "failed economic development policies" that are "still haunting our state with more than $9 billion in unclaimed credits," he said, likely referring to the now defunct Michigan Economic Growth Authority tax credits.

"While we appreciate attempts to broaden the focus of the bills to include all data center operations, the legislation is still a narrowly targeted proposal," Mr. Owens said. "We offered, in both House and Senate committees, an opportunity to make changes to these bills to broaden their scope by increasing the current small business Personal Property Tax exemption of $80,000 of True Cash Value to $160,000. Since more than 90 percent of all businesses in the state are small businesses ... this change would have made the proposed legislation a more broad-based economic development proposal."

But without that change, he said, NFIB Michigan cannot support their passage.

And { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=204901&locid=1" } (R-Cascade Township) tweeted that the "corporate welfare deal" would "result in higher taxes on everyone down the road, harm Michigan's economy and destroy jobs." He later sent followers to { HYPERLINK "https://t.co/4kCxToZ3cG" } for a more detailed explanation on why the "targeted tax breaks" were a bad idea.

But contrary to those opinions, the Grand Rapids Area Chamber of Commerce said it supports the legislation, recognizing that its views differ from the state chamber.

"(Our members are) excited about the potential of supporting and growing this industry in Michigan," Andy Johnston, vice president of government and corporate affairs, told Gongwer News Service in a phone interview. "Our board has been extremely supportive of the legislative package."

In committee and on the Senate floor, some senators, especially { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=155301&locid=1" } (D-Ann Arbor), took issue with the potential loss of revenue for schools.

"(The legislation) doesn't bind us to any future payments to these companies, but it shortchanges our School Aid Fund and our General Fund and funds to our local communities that they would otherwise be getting. That's a concern," she said. "We have gone through this process many times where we have considered tax policy that makes carve-outs and special exemptions to a particular industry or a particular industry that has made it very difficult for our budget. And we have found too often in the past that the promises in the press releases don't end up being honored on the ground here."

An amendment by { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=308601&locid=1" } (D-Dearborn Heights) was adopted on the Senate floor to SB 616 that assures the appropriation of money from the General Fund to the School Aid Fund if any SAF funds were lost as a result of the legislation.

And Mr. Johnston said the GRCC's members hadn't really raised such a concern on schools.

"The question before policymakers is whether or not we want to have a competitive tax structure in order to grow this industry in Michigan. It's about making sure we do it in a way that's best for Michigan," Mr. Johnston said. "We're happy to see the Senate take action today and move the process forward."

Ms. Warren said she and the rest of her caucus wanted to get to a "yes" vote, but "we need assurances the taxpayers' monies are going to be protected, these jobs are going to be protected, that those investing in our state aren't going to be harmed by a competitor ... that doesn't have to play by the same rules."

She continued, "I can't assure my colleagues we've done our due diligence. I can't assure my constituents we're being good stewards of the taxpayer money, and I can't assure them this company is even going to come, let alone spend a dollar or hire one employee, because we have no assurances of that at this time."

To that end, Mr. Meekhof said such requirements are worth discussing, and they may become part of the final product, but for now, "It's kind of like a poker game - we have to put the ante in to be able to compete, and we put the ante in, so now we're ready to compete."

PERSONAL PROPERTY EXEMPTION: The chamber also passed on a 21-15 vote {
HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015SB61801" }<sup>[9]</sup>, which provides a 10-year exemption for eligible internet data center property if the local governments approved the exemption no later March 31 of the first year the eligible Internet data center property would be subject to the collection of those taxes, or if the local governments did not reject the exemption via resolution or ordinance by April 1, 2016.

Mr. Knezek and { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=32801&locid=1" } (D-Detroit) broke with the majority of their party to support the bills while Republicans { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=60301&locid=1" } of Sheridan, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=52901&locid=1" } of Whitmore Lake, { HYPERLINK

Bill Would End Most Weekend In-Person Absentee Voting

Clerks could no longer be open during most weekends to process or issue absentee voter ballots, nor could they issue absentee ballots from a satellite office under a bill introduced Thursday in the Senate.

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015SB63901" }<sup>[9]</sup>, sponsored by { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=54001&locid=1" } (R-Grand Blanc), the chair of the Senate Elections and Government Reform Committee, is sure to create a fury among Democrats as the latest potential salvo from Republicans to skew the electoral playing field to the GOP's advantage, coming as the Legislature also moves on a separate bill to end straight ticket voting and change the schedule for electing the Oakland County executive.

The prohibition on weekend hours to process absentee ballots or issue those ballots would begin 45 days before the election and run through Election Day, although the existing requirement that clerk offices remain open until 2 p.m. the Saturday before the election to receive absentee ballots would remain.

The bill also would prohibit city, township and village clerks from processing or issuing absentee voter ballots at satellite locations and mandate such activities only occur at the clerk's main office.

Mr. Robertson said the bill is about equal protection regarding election laws. The state should not have a patchwork of communities with some clerks opening during the weekends and having satellite offices and some not having those options.

"We want to make certain that the equal protection concerns are addressed," he said. "If you operate a satellite office in one place and not another, aren't you putting your thumb on the scale in favor of one municipality making it different than another."

But Angela Wittrock, spokesperson for the Senate Democratic Caucus, said the state should be making it easier for registered voters to cast their ballots.

"This bill, as written, appears to be nothing but another attempt to limit access to the ballot box. That's not something Senate Democrats will ever support," she said.

Lansing City Clerk Chris Swope, past president of the Michigan Association of Municipal Clerks and a member of the association's legislative committee, said the bill "would be a catastrophe for voters."

Lansing uses a city building on the city's south side as an additional location for voters to obtain an absentee ballot that Mr. Swope said is more convenient than the clerk's main office at City Hall in downtown Lansing. There is free, close parking, unlike City Hall.

"Taking that away doesn't seem to benefit voters in any way," he said.

The loss of weekend and non-regular hours also would cause problems, Mr. Swope said. Besides the Saturday before the election (required now by law and maintained as an exception in the bill), the Lansing clerk office also opens two Sundays before the election to handle absentee ballots.

If voters work far from their home municipality, getting to the clerk's office during regular 9 to 5 hours will be difficult, Mr. Swope said.

"Eliminating the ability to have extra hours in jurisdictions that need it to accommodate their voters just seems punitive to voters," he said. "I'm kind of flabbergasted."

Mr. Robertson said he expected his committee to take up the bill soon.

Straight-Ticket Voting Elimination Stalls In House Committee

The House Elections Committee on Thursday did not report a bill that would end voters' ability to choose a party's slate of candidates with a single selection on the ballot after listening to nearly 2 hours of testimony, mostly in opposition of the legislation.

The committee met for about an hour and 15 minutes, and then went at recess for House session. At 4:30 p.m., the committee reconvened for another half an hour but did not adopt amendments nor vote to report it.

"We are going to discuss this with the committee members. There were several amendments put before us. I want to take some time to look at several of those," said { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=284201&locid=1" } (R-Alto), chair of the committee. "And take some time to digest a lot of the information we heard today and do some research on my own and come back next week and see where we go from there."

Ms. Lyons is also pushing for her bill ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015HB472401" } on "no-reason" absentee voting. Under the bill, a person would have to come show their ID to get their ballot for each election. Many testifying Thursday called for the bills to be formally linked via a tie-bar. Ms. Lyons said that is an option she is considering.

"Secure no-reason is something I am pushing, so we will continue to talk about what the best procedure and the best strategy to move forward on all of our election policy over the next ... week," she said.

Senate { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151101&locid=1" } (R-West Olive) has said he opposes no-reason absentee legislation, but Ms. Lyons said the two are discussing the issue and will continue to do so.

She said next week is the last week bills originating in the House can pass for the first time, so she will be advocating a floor vote on the bill.

Rumors have been swirling that Ms. Lyons will run for Kent County clerk when she is term-limited out of the House next year. She said Thursday she is actually "tempted to go off the grid."

"I've got 13 months left in the House. I don't know where that will take me. It's something I have looked at, but we have an incumbent clerk there who I think has done a good job. ... I've got a lot of options," she said.

The Michigan Association of Municipal Clerks, Michigan Association of County Clerks and the Michigan Townships Association all expressed opposition to the straight-ticket elimination bill, saying it would likely create longer lines, confusion and frustration at the polls.

Sarah Bydalek, the Walker city clerk, told the committee eliminating straight-ticket voting would take the last tool out of the toolbox for clerks to help run election days more smoothly. She did say pairing the bill with HB 4724, no-reason absentee voting, would help.

However, the House bill would require a voter to come into the clerk's office each election to show ID and get their ballot in person, which she said still disenfranchises the voter. Ms. Bydalek said true no-reason absentee voting would be better.

Ms. Bydalek said the average wait time in the state is 22 minutes to vote, and that would likely double under { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015SB1301" }<sup>4</sup>.

"It will be chaos," she said.

Ms. Lyons said anecdotal evidence was presented by both sides of the issue, and she could not say for certain if the "chaos" described is an exaggeration or not.

Both { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=271501&locid=1" } (R-Oxford)

and { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=359301&locid=1" } (R-Hillsdale) said they had never seen long lines at the polls.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=274601&locid=1" } (D-Ann Arbor) said if rural communities and more affluent suburbs are not waiting in line at the polls, that means those who do wait are waiting much longer than 22 minutes.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=80001&locid=1" } (R-Troy), sponsor of SB 13, dodged questions on if he would be willing to couple the legislation with other reforms to shorten lines, such as no-reason absentee and online voter registration.

"I am focused on this particular bill," he said to questions from Democrats on the panel.

He said voters would still be able to vote for all Republicans or all Democrats if they chose to, and if voters had to wait longer so they could read all the names, that is a good thing, he said.

While Mr. Knollenberg said the bill makes elections about the actual candidates instead of political parties, Mr. Irwin countered it shouldn't be about the candidates, but the actual voters.

And { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=318101&locid=1" } (D-Saline) said SB 13 "puts the cart before the horse" because other measures, like no-reason absentee voting, that would reduce wait times at the polls, should be implemented as well.

The bill also includes a $1 million appropriation, which would make it referendum-proof.

Mr. Knollenberg said that could be used to educate elections workers, new voting equipment or other things. He said it was left open for the Department of State and local clerks to decide.

However, the bill stipulates the funding should be used for the following:

- Assess the impact of eliminating straight party ticket voting;
- Assist in ongoing compliance and fraud prevention in elections;
- Conduct thorough post-election audits of selected precincts after each election;
- Provide remedial follow-up with local election officials to correct any election errors and to correct any compliance issues;
- Audit file maintenance by local election officials; and
- Provide equipment to facilitate the integrity of the election process.

Lansing City Clerk Chris Swope said the appropriation in the bill would provide no additional funds for clerks to address the additional cost that would come from the legislation.

Tom Frazier, with the Michigan Townships Association, said the group would remove their opposition if no-reason absentee voting was tie-barred to SB 13.

He said the state already has one of the longer ballots in the country and moving people through polling lines quickly is important. He said eliminating the option to vote straight party will make voting take longer.

{ HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=316701&locid=1>" } (R-Commerce Township) also suggested during the committee that more polling precincts in communities might help move lines along faster.

However, Mr. Frazier said that is not an option because many schools are hesitant to let the general public into their buildings given various shootings that have taken place in recent years.

W. Paul Mayhue, representing the Grand Rapids group Voices Not Heard in Michigan, said the bill had "racist" undertones. And Frank Lynn, a Grand Rapids man advocating for senior citizens and people with disabilities, said the bill would disenfranchise those voters as well.

Ms. Lyons said she will thoughtfully consider those comments going forward.

Eric Doster also testified in support of the bill. Mr. Doster serves as general counsel for the Michigan Republican Party, but said he was representing himself and "democracy."

"By reducing the influence of the candidates' political parties in elections, this legislation represents an important step in helping Michigan turn the page on partisanship," he said.

Ms. Lyons said she does not think eliminating straight-ticket voting would necessarily benefit one party more than the other.

"I am from west Michigan, I have a very high Republican seat, I don't necessarily think that is the case statewide," she said of Republicans having the disadvantage when it comes to straight-ticket voting. "I think straight-ticket voting can cut both ways, which is why I don't want to view this as a party issue."

And the Michigan AFL-CIO wrote a { HYPERLINK "<http://miaflcio.org/2015/12/eliminating-straight-party-voting-could-hurt-republican-reps-like-klint-kesto-holly-hughes/>" \t "blank" } post saying two Republicans, { HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=219601&locid=1>" } of White River Township and { HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=316701&locid=1>" } of Commerce Township, benefited from straight-ticket voting.

The post notes Mr. Kesto won his seat in the 39th House District with 51.4 percent of his 16,740 total votes from straight-party ballots, and his Democratic opponent, Sandy Colvin, only received 43.3 percent of his 15,300 votes from straight-party tickets.

"Kesto defeated Colvin by a margin of 1,440 votes. His 1,984-vote margin among straight-party ballots was more than enough to put him over the top," the blog said.

Ms. Hughes' close election tells a similar story, the blog said, as she received 47.5 percent of her 12,734 total votes from straight-party ballots, while her opponent - former Rep. Colleen Lamonte (D-Montague) - received 45 percent of her 12,681 total votes from straight-party tickets.

"Hughes defeated Lamonte by a margin of just 53 votes, which made her 343-vote advantage among straight-party tickets decisive," the blog said.

Deficit Districts Decline; 11 Headed For Preliminary Review

The number of deficit districts has declined for the first time since 2002-03 and 20 districts emerged from deficit at the end of the most recent school year, { HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=393401&locid=1>" } reported Thursday, but 11 deficit districts are also now slated for preliminary review by the Department of Treasury under the new early warning system for financially distressed schools.

Only five new deficit districts - the Bay City Academy in the Bay-Arenac ISD, Tahquamenon Area Schools in the Eastern Upper Peninsula ISD, Sarah J. Webber Media Arts Academy in Oakland Schools, Posen Consolidated School District #9 in the Cheboygan-Otsego-Presque Isle ESD, and Gaudior Academy in the Wayne RESA - joined the list in 2014-15, the fewest since 2002-03.

Twenty-one districts were able to reduce their deficits in 2014-15.

All told, the state dropped from 56 deficit districts in the 2013-14 school year to 41 at the end of June. Under the new structure of the early warning system, 24 of those deficit districts will stay with the Department of Education while the other 17 will be under the oversight of the Department of Treasury.

And 11 of those districts have deficit elimination plans projected to take longer than five years, subjecting themselves to the preliminary review. The highest projected end balance of those schools goes to Hazel Park City School District, part of Oakland Schools, which projects to have a 25.1 percent deficit based on revenue as of June 30, 2016.

Following Hazel Park is Mackinaw City Public Schools (24 percent deficit), Flint Community Schools (14.9 percent), Westwood Community Schools in the Wayne RESA (12.4 percent), Mount Clemens Community School District (10.9 percent), Lincoln Consolidated Schools (3.3 percent), Bridgeport Spaulding Community School District (2.5 percent), Vanderbilt Area Schools (0.2 percent) and Southgate Community School District at 0 percent deficit.

Also on that list of 11 is New Haven Community Schools, which projects to come out of its deficit with a 0.4 percent fund balance at the end of this school year, and Clintondale Community Schools, which projects a 1.1 percent fund balance.

While most of the members of a joint committee of the House and Senate Appropriations School Aid subcommittees were pleased with the progress, some were still cautious.

"It's discouraging to see that schools under our watch are growing deficits," { HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=179401&locid=1>" } (R-Saginaw Township), chair of the House subcommittee, said.

But Mr. Whiston said he will continue to work with the administration to ensure all districts, especially those in deficit, will not fall by the wayside. One key to that, he said, will be to ensure those schools losing students and thus putting themselves at further risk of financial instability can at least maintain, or even attract, students based on their academic offerings.

"If you're losing kids on a constant basis and you're making cuts, you're losing programs parents want. We have to improve educational offering so more kids come back," Mr. Whiston said. "We have to find that balance between balancing budgets and offering an education program that entices people to stay or come back to that district."

And he said he is working with various school officials on such issues.

But { HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=93801&locid=1>" } (R-Saint Clair) still had some concerns. He questioned how some schools getting substantially more in a foundation allowance could continue to have performance issues if finances are following quality as Mr. Whiston and { HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=393601&locid=1>" } suggested.

"There are additional dollars going into the school buildings that have poor academic performance, yet that performance isn't following the dollars," Mr. Pavlov said.

"In these days with limited resources, we look for ways to provide economies of scale, to provide the services more efficiently," Mr. Khouri said, but that doesn't always work out, Mr. Whiston added.

"And that's okay," Mr. Whiston said, noting that the state will be in a continual process of development with these schools and, consequently, their students.

And { HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=207001&locid=1>" } (D-Saint Clair Shores) suggested it might be worth reviewing schools of choice, especially the way in which a charter school, for example, can open a new building whenever it wants for whatever reason, which then draws students out of other buildings and increases the financial distress for districts, she said.

Senate Panel Told Reform Office Has Tools To Pursue School Improvements

Since being moved to the Executive Office earlier this year from the Department of Education, the state's School Reform Office has the tools it needs to help drive Michigan's worst schools to improve, the Senate Education Committee was told Thursday, as the office can focus now on working with district superintendents and use data to better drive improvements.

Committee members pressed Karen McPhee, { HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1>" }'s education policy director, and Natasha Baker, the state's school reform officer, to say if the strategy the state was pursuing now to deal with Michigan's worst performing schools means the strategies used since 2010 had failed.

"We are refocusing the effort," Ms. McPhee said to chair { HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=93801&locid=1>" } (R-St. Clair). The state cannot solve the problems of its lowest performing schools without fully understanding what the dynamics are that drive problems, she said, and "it takes tremendous capacity to do that."

And the state was somewhat caught during those previous years trying to improve its poorest schools while also competing with other states for promises of major federal funding for school improvement efforts, she and Ms. Baker said.

The state now has 214 schools designated as priority schools. While the largest number is in southeast Michigan, the schools are spread across the state. Most tend to be in urban districts. A total of 100,000 students attend those schools.

Since the state began identifying in 2010 the lowest performing schools - those in the lowest 5 percent of all schools - there have 331 marked as priority schools. Of those, 73 closed and 44 released after improving.

Earlier in 2015, { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } issued an executive order moving the school reform office out of the Department of Education into the Executive Office. The move was greeted with some controversy, especially as Mr. Snyder has promoted efforts such as the Education Achievement Authority in Detroit that has been under ongoing fire and has been investigated by law enforcement.

But Ms. Baker said since the move, the office has been better able to customize its efforts to work with districts and the individual schools.

One step she has taken is to work with the district superintendents more than the individual school buildings. "We are more triage, more like an emergency room," she said.

While the department can work with the specific building personnel, her office sends the superintendent data on a variety of factors, including attendance, every six to eight weeks.

"We can customize intervention based on data," Ms. Baker said.

She and Ms. McPhee also said that while other states have had greater success in terms of turning schools around, it was important for Michigan to develop its own plan to fix low performing schools.

Even so, one of the primary elements of making that fix will be to focus on actual instruction, they said.

Midwives Bill Clears House Despite Physician Opposition

A bill establishing licensing criteria for midwives in Michigan passed the House on Thursday despite the two physicians currently serving in the House opposing the legislation.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=292001&locid=1" } (R-Vulcan), the bill's sponsor, said he would continue to work with stakeholders in the Senate, including those in the medical profession. He said many stakeholders came to him at the final hour asking him to wait on the bill.

Mr. Canfield said he does not want to limit a person's choice, but he is hesitant to license someone "who has a very limited education."

The Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs would license a person for midwifery if they paid the posted fees and met the following criteria:

- Received a high school diploma or passed the general educational development diploma test or any other high school graduate equivalency examination approved by the board;
- Completed an educational program or pathway accredited by the Midwifery Education Accreditation Council or a successor organization;
- Holds the credential of certified professional midwife from the North American Registry of Midwives or holds an equivalent credential from another accredited midwifery training program approved by the Michigan Board of Licensed Midwifery created in the bill; and
- Successfully passes an examination approved by LARA in consultation with the board.

The fee for the license under the bill is $200. There is also a $450 one-time, start-up fee to get the program going. However, that fee is expected to drop to $75 after the department covers its costs to start the licensure program.

Flint Blood Lead Survey Results Released By State

Since October 1, data indicates that 30 adults and children of 1,361 tested in Flint had elevated blood lead levels, the state said Thursday in releasing its first report as part of the state's efforts to assist in resolving the Flint water crisis.

The state called on helping the city deal with health issues as part of its efforts to restore safer drinking water to the city.

In October, after more than a year of the city getting its drinking water from the Flint River - it ended a contract with the Detroit Water and Sewerage System largely over cost issues and is working on a new water system that will draw from Lake Huron - and after more than a year of complaints on taste, smell and safety of the water, the city switched back to Detroit water when it was discovered lead levels in some children were elevated because of the water system.

In the { HYPERLINK "http://www.michigan.gov/deq/0,4561,7-135-3313\_3675\_73946---,00.html" \t "blank" }, the Department of Health and Human Services said 969 children were tested and 21 showed elevated lead levels. Another 392 adults were tested and nine had elevated levels.

The report also showed the number of Flint children with higher lead levels declined during the summer months this year - lead levels tend to be higher in the summer, the report said - to 6.4 percent from 7.5 percent a year ago.

However, in 2013, before the city switched from Detroit water to the Flint River, the percentage stood at 4.1 percent. That was down from percentages as high as 8.3 percent in 2010.

Senate Passes Aviation Fuel Tax Changes

Airports in the state would receive state funding to help with repair and maintenance costs under legislation approved by the Senate on Thursday.

would dedicate 2 percent of the sales tax on aviation fuel with to aviation purposes and split those funds, as well as the current 3 cents per gallon tax, between the Aeronautics Fund, overseen by the Aeronautics Commission, and the Qualified Airport Fund, which provides for capital projects at certain airports.

"This is a matter of fairness," { HYPERLINK

City), sponsor of most of the legislation, said in a statement. "The legislation makes sure Michigan's airports - including those in Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula - receive the needed funding for routine maintenance and repairs."

The new fund would appropriate to the state's airports via a formula based on volume of air traffic and resources used.

"As chairman of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation, I've fought to secure additional dollars in this year's budget for the airport improvement program to help support projects at our local airports," { HYPERLINK sponsor of SB 613, said. "Passage of this legislation will create a reliable, dedicated funding source for the State Aeronautics Fund that will ensure the continued safety and efficiency of Michigan's aviation system."

House Panel Considers Requiring Civics Test For High School Students

Students would be required to take a civics test similar to the test taken for immigrants to become citizens under a bill the House Education Committee debated Thursday.

Under { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation\_billdetail.cfm&billid=2015HB413601" }
all Michigan students would have to take the test and pass with 60 percent in order to receive their high school diploma. The test must include only identical questions to some or all of the civics portion of the naturalization test.

If a student does not receive 60 percent, they could retake the test as many times as necessary. Local school districts are permitted under the bill to determine when and how to administer the test, and what questions to use.

{ HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=351701&locid=1>" } (R-Shelby Township), sponsor of the bill, said students should be required to know the information on the test, as they are "privileged" enough to be born in the United States and will eventually be the ones working in state and federal government.

"We are trying to accomplish the basic elements that a non-citizen has to perform," he said. "If we are going to have a real dear desire and appreciation of American government, we should be able to pass basic questions that an immigrant, who so proudly and privileged wants to be a member of this country, (can pass)."

{ HYPERLINK "<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=371701&locid=1>" } (R-Holland), vice chair of the Education Committee, said social studies standards in the state already include a civics component. She also noted the lack of civics understanding among students is one of many crises in education, including reading proficiency.

She also said there is a fundamental problem about civics understanding and told the committee her own retired government teacher called her "congresswoman" the last time they spoke.

"If we expect our students to know, we first and foremost need our teachers to understand," she said.

Bob Kefgen, with the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals, said the group is opposed to the bill. Mr. Kefgen said the naturalization test does not represent what they want students to know.

He said the questions on the test would mostly involve students memorizing facts, and they would like to see students analyzing and critiquing concepts.

But { HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=360301&locid=1>" } (R-Levering) countered students cannot analyze and critique what they do not know.

"You can only analyze something that you know. You can only critique something that you know," he said. "Before we teach kids how to read, normally we make them memorize the alphabet. Before kids can analyze their government and how it operates, and critique it ... they have to know it. And the fact is, they don't."

The committee did not act on the bill.

Hansen Still Hopeful On DPS Solution

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=101501&locid=1" } on Thursday said he remained optimistic about introducing legislation to resolve Detroit Public Schools' $715 million debt problem even as a legislative week passed without the introduction of any such legislation.

"We're hoping to do it before the first of the year. I think we're close on that with some changes that were made, and I think by the first of the year we should be able to put it in," Mr. Hansen (R-Hart) said. "We're waiting for some drafts right now. I want to see how it's written and then shop it with some of my colleagues."

Mr. Hansen said there seems to be consensus on the number at hand - estimated by { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } to be $715 million over 10 years - but there are other "ancillary things" like governance where discussions are still being had.

"Somewhere in there," Mr. Hansen said on the number by Mr. Snyder. "It's like when we got to the point with the road funding that all the sudden $1.2 billion was the number and ... then we worked on how we get there."

He said he was first able to present some of his ideas to the caucus earlier this week but has otherwise been very tight-lipped with only a handful of relevant players like Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan, legislators, emergency managers, the school board president and various foundations, among others.

Mr. Hansen said there were a lot of questions from his caucus, but "I think people are willing to be part of the solution," he said. "But it has to be the right solution. We have to make sure we have things in place to make sure it doesn't go way back into the same issues."

And ensuring it is the right solution will remain paramount throughout the process, he said.

"We're trying to be very sensitive to my Detroit colleagues, working with them, trying to make sure that this is Detroit's solution," Mr. Hansen said. "It's not Lansing's solution. It has to be Detroit's solution."

House Republicans Sign Letter Urging Disapproval Of Planned Parenthood Grant

About 30 House Republicans on Thursday signed a letter asking the State Administrative Board not to approve a $1.2 million grant increase to Planned Parenthood because it goes against the "spirit" of a budget amendment adopted this year.

On December 8, the Finance and Claims Committee of the State Administrative Board will take up a grant increase for Planned Parenthood of Mid and South Michigan. The increase will come from the restricted dollars in the Maternal Children's Health Fund (8 percent); federal funding (35 percent); fees generating through the clinic (49 percent) and local dollars (8 percent).

"We believe this is a clear violation of the spirit of the budget amendment that was voted on and passed by the Legislature during the last appropriations process," the letter reads.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=281601&locid=1" } (R-Stevensville), chair of the House Appropriations Committee, said the grant increase does not go against the budget.

When the amendment was adopted, House { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=288901&locid=1" } (R-Mount Pleasant) said no clinics would lose money because of the amendment. He said during the last two budgets Planned Parenthood had not received any state dollars (See { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=news.cfm&article\_id=540840103" } ).

The committee is scheduled to meet at 11 a.m. on December 8.

Former Aramark Worker Convicted In Assault For Hire Plot With Inmate

An ex-employee of Aramark, the state's former prison food service provider, has been convicted of trying to recruit an inmate to orchestrate the assault of another inmate.

A statement from the Department of Attorney General said Michael Robert Young, 27, of Kincheloe, was convicted in the 91st District Court on one felony charge of Solicitation to Commit Assault with Intent to Cause Great Bodily Harm.

Mr. Young was an employee of Aramark at the Kinross Correctional Facility at the time of the crime. The inmate he wanted assaulted was housed in a different prison.

The inmate whom Mr. Young was convicted of trying to have assaulted was in prison for murdering one of Mr. Young's family members. But the inmate Mr. Young asked to arrange the incident instead reported the conversation to prison officials.

"No matter the situation, our system of justice demands that individuals not take the law into their own hands, for revenge or any other reason," { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=77201&locid=1" } said in a statement.

Mr. Young faces up to five years in prison. No sentencing date has been set.

Senate Remembers Rosetta Ferguson

Days after her funeral, the Senate briefly memorialized former Rep. Rosetta Ferguson, who became known for one of the most controversial incidents in legislative history during her 10 years in the House.

The House is planning to memorialize Ms. Ferguson, who died on November 18 aged 95, at a later time. The Senate acted after { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=209301&locid=1" } (D-Southfield) asked to remember her.

Ms. Ferguson was born in Florence, Mississippi, and will be buried there. She attended schools in Mississippi, New Orleans and Detroit, and spent much of her career in business. She was politically active for the Democratic Party before being elected to the House in 1968.

Among the issues Ms. Ferguson was proudest of was legislation requiring that textbooks purchased and used in Michigan schools fairly recognize the history and accomplishments of all ethnic groups.

But she became best known for her ferocious opposition to drugs, especially the legalization of marijuana, and abortion.

Her intensity against the two was so strident, she said in a long speech on the House floor in the 1970s - when the House debated legislation imposing just a civil fine on the use of marijuana - that if she could find a way to let white people have drugs and abortion but save African-Americans from them she would do it.

It was during those debates on marijuana that Ms. Ferguson became known for the "ashtray incident."

The debates took place over an intense series of days. The late former Rep. Perry Bullard of Ann Arbor - who everyone acknowledged was brilliant but extremely short-tempered - was leading the effort to loosen penalties on marijuana. He was a controversial figure who had taken part in Ann Arbor's notorious hash bashes.

During one of the debates, former Rep. Matthew McNeely, also now gone, gave an impassioned speech against marijuana, focusing on his son who had died following drug addictions. Ms. Ferguson sobbed so loudly during the speech that she was led from the chamber to compose herself.

On one day, the House approved the marijuana measure. On the next, after reconsideration, it defeated the bill.

After the bill failed, a furious Mr. Bullard stormed over to Ms. Ferguson and accused her of lying in one of her speeches on the issue. He turned to leave and Ms. Ferguson - who was a heavy smoker in the days when smoking was allowed on the floor - grabbed her glass ashtray and threw it at Mr. Bullard, hitting him in the head, while she screamed he was a drug user.

Of course, the House exploded in an uproar. Mr. Bullard turned to charge back at her, and Ms. Ferguson was ready for him. Other members intervened, blocking the two. Mr. Bullard regained his composure as he was led away, but other members had to restrain Ms. Ferguson.

A famous photograph of the aftermath shows Mr. Bullard, head slightly bowed, being led away by former Rep. Gil DiNello (who died in the 1990s) while others hold on to Ms. Ferguson who was continuing to shout.

Both lawmakers later apologized to the House. Some months later, the last reconsideration vote on the bill was held - around much joking that the House had ordered all ashtrays glued to the desks - and while the debate was pointed, it never reached the fever pitch it had earlier. The bill failed in that attempt, and until the passage of the state's medical marijuana act in 2008, there were no serious efforts to change marijuana laws following the 1977 debates.

Ms. Ferguson decided not to seek re-election in 1978 but remained active in the anti-abortion movement.

House Committee Votes To Change Electrician-Apprentice Ratio

The ratio of apprentices to master or journeyman electricians on jobsites would go from one-to-one to three-to-one under a bill reported Thursday by the House Workforce and Talent Development Committee.

As originally introduced, the bill would have gone with a two to one ratio and only allowed three to one if one of the apprentices met certain training thresholds.

The professional development courses would have to be approved by the Department of Education.

Regional Unemployment Rates Mostly Unchanged

October saw little change in regional unemployment rates across the state.

The Detroit-Warren-Livonia region reported the largest unemployment rate increase among the seven regions with increases, going from 5.7 percent to 6.3 percent. The Bay City region reported a decline of 0.1 percentage point. Jobless rates in the remaining nine areas were unchanged.

Ottawa County reported the lowest unemployment at 3 percent, leading 15 counties with rates below 4 percent. Schoolcraft County had the highest unemployment rate at 8.6 percent, followed by Wayne County at 7.7 percent. Oakland's rate was 5.1 percent and Macomb was 6 percent.

Canvassers Reject Snyder Recall Petition

Detroit Pastor Angelo Scott Brown said he is not yet done trying to oust { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } for his handling of the Flint water crisis, after the Board of State Canvassers issued its second unanimous rejection of a proposed recall petition.

Mr. Brown has officially submitted three recall petitions against the governor, but withdrew the second before the board took it up.

"I've done recall petitions before. I know it's a process," Mr. Brown said after the vote. "I'll refine my words."

But he argued the board, two Republicans and two Democrats, was too easily rejecting his language. "We're getting to the point where we're insulting the intelligence of the people of Michigan," he said.

In his testimony to the board, he said the governor's response to his language amounted to a personal attack.

"He's hinting at my intelligence rather than the content of the petition. ... There's a lot of mean-spirited things," he said of the response. "That's not clarity and the facts of the petition."

Mr. Brown said his petition language was clear and, as required, laid out a factual basis for removing Mr. Snyder from office.

"{ HYPERLINK

"<http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1>" } did not protect taxpayers did not ensure the residents basic service of clean water," the hand-written petition said.

"I think the reasoning is clear and it is the fact," Mr. Brown told the board.

John Pirich, attorney for Mr. Snyder, said the petition was largely opinion.

"It's neither factual nor accurate," Mr. Pirich said of Mr. Brown's first assertion that Mr. Snyder did not take proper actions regarding Flint water. "It's an opinion, plain and simple."

The same was true, he said, of the assertion that the governor did not protect taxpayers.

As to leaving Flint residents at risk from corrosive water and lead, "it fails to connect what governor Snyder did or failed to do," he said.

Mr. Pirich also took issue with the assertion that his rebuttals were personal attacks. "It's not based on character assassination," he said. "It's based on what was filed."

The board found that Mr. Brown's petition was not factual and so did not meet the requirements in the statute.

OUT-OF-STATE CIRCULATORS: The board continued its discussion Thursday on how to address the new requirement that allows essentially any adult to circulate petitions.

In response to court rulings that overturned the state's requirement that petition circulators be registered to vote in the state, new law requires that the petitions carry a check box to indicate that the circulator is not a Michigan resident.

The board appeared united in the idea that, where a non-resident does not check the box indicating that, the petitions are invalid. But there appeared some split on the notion that petitions would be invalid if a Michigan resident did check the box.

"Check boxes are tricky things," Elections Director Christopher Thomas said. "Sometimes they are missed. Sometimes people check them all to be safe."

Mr. Thomas said the law is clear that non-residents have to check the box, but it does not address what happens if a resident does.

"It just seems harsh," board member Julie Matuzak said. "I hate to discount all of those signatures because someone was trying to do a good job."

But board member Colleen Pero said the petition also makes it a crime to provide false information. "At the end of the day, they are incompatible," she said of being a resident and indicating one is not.

There was some agreement, though, to bold or enlarge the words "If the circulator is not a resident of Michigan" to bring attention both to the box and who should mark it.

In response to questions, Mr. Thomas said the law mandates minimum font sizes and does not speak to bolding.

"I never heard anyone complain about a font being too big," Mr. Thomas said.

The hitch with the new law may come in the requirement that circulators provide a home address.

The first petition filed to carry the new language was the recent prevailing wage repeal attempt. Mr. Thomas said the petitions, which fell to evidence of massive duplication of signatures, showed relatively high compliance with the new residency indication.

But Mr. Pirich, who represented the opposition that helped to uncover the signature duplications, said the circulator addresses were also problematic.

"We were unable to locate over half of the out-of-state circulators," he said, adding that many listed addresses, and sometimes cities, that did not exist.

"Without some enforcement, I'm not sure how we're ever going to know that this is being done correctly," he said.

Mr. Thomas said an improper address for the circulator would be a reason to challenge a petition, but he indicated that, absent a requirement that circulators be registered to vote, it would be difficult for his bureau to check the addresses.

"We all know residency is Jello on the wall sometimes," he said.

Mr. Thomas said campaign finance disclosures would have to provide the mailing addresses of any circulators paid more than $50, even if they were hired by a signature gathering firm.

"You could certainly be talking about a fraudulent situation if these people put down false names and false addresses," he said.

It would not, though, help in keeping an issue off the ballot because the information would be available too late in the process. To questions from board members, he said the Legislature could require that the filings be made sooner, but he said that requirement might be difficult to meet.

EXPIRING SIGNATURES: The board also began discussing concerns over the process for verifying signatures on petitions where signatures begin expiring. The board's current policy requires, in some cases, obtaining an affidavit both from the signer and from the local clerk that the person was registered to vote at the time he or she signed the petition.

Jeffrey Hank, an attorney representing one of the marijuana legalization efforts, urged the board to reconsider that policy, adopted in 1986, and instead use the Qualified Voter File as the check on those registrations.

"Using the QVF is the simplest and makes the most sense," Mr. Hank said. "What we would propose is simply submitting a QVF report and someone signing an affidavit that they prepared the QVF report."

Mr. Thomas said the system would provide the historical information.

But Mr. Pirich said the change would require statute, not merely a policy from the board.

Mr. Thomas said at least some of the change could come through policy. "It's not really self executing. It needs something," he said of the statutory provision.

NEW PARTY: The board did approve the form of a petition to add the Working Class Party to the ballot.

FLINT, Mich. – Flint residents need to have access to safe, clean, water now and long into the future, Gov. Rick Snyder said, announcing a comprehensive action plan created with state, federal and city leaders to address concerns about drinking water.

The water leaving Flint's drinking water system is safe to drink, but some families with lead plumbing in their homes or service connections could experience higher levels of lead in the water that comes out of their faucets.

The action plan focuses on increasing water testing, offering additional precautions for families with lead plumbing in their homes, and providing long-term solutions to address the city's water infrastructure challenges. The plan was created at Snyder's direction by the Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Health and Human Services (DHHS), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the city of Flint.

“We are focused on helping ensure safe, clean, accessible drinking water and addressing and mitigating concerns and protecting public health,” Snyder said. “Today’s action plan builds upon ongoing work with local, state and federal agencies and our partnership with city and community leaders. Together, we are working to ensure that all Flint residents have accurate information and know that help is available to address potential problems.”

The city and the state also are working together to gather more data to ensure the water that leaves the treatment plant as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe for all residents. The plan includes:

- Testing in Flint public schools immediately to ensure that drinking water is safe, with testing also available at no cost to any other school in Flint.
- Offering free water testing to Flint residents to assure their drinking water is safe.
- Providing free water filters to residents.
- Expanding health exposure testing of individual homes.
- Accelerating corrosion controls in the Flint drinking water system.
- Accelerating water system improvements to address replacing lead service lines.
- Expediting the completion of the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline.
- Expanding a Safe Drinking Water Technical Advisory Committee to ensure the best technology, practices and science are being followed by adding an expert from the Environmental Protection Agency’s Office of Research and Development to the group.
- Naming Dr. Eden Wells, chief medical executive for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, as the Flint drinking water public health adviser.
- Boosting a comprehensive lead education program to make sure residents have detailed information about how to protect themselves and their homes.

Residents can have their water tested by calling 810-787-6537 and pressing 1, or emailing flintwater@cityofflint.com. The DEQ is covering the cost of this testing.

State leaders have been working closely with state and federal lawmakers to tap resources at all levels of government to address concerns.

State health experts said there has been an increase in elevated childhood blood lead levels in some specific communities. Initial analysis of MDHHS data found that blood lead levels of children in Flint have followed an expected seasonal trend. While this analysis for Flint as a whole remains true, a comprehensive and detailed review breaking down data by ZIP codes with the city revealed that MDHHS data is consistent with a study presented recently by Hurley Children’s Hospital.

“While we cannot conclusively say that the water source change is the sole cause of the increase, this analysis supports our efforts as we take active steps to reduce all potential lead exposures in Flint,” MDHHS Director Nick Lyon said. “As part of this, we are working closely with our public and private partners to provide Flint residents on MDHHS assistance programs with free water filters and inform families about the steps they can take to reduce all lead exposures in their home.”

As a part of the action plan, National Sanitation Foundation certified water filters will be made available to Flint residents through emergency state funds and coordinated efforts with local community agencies and donors. Information about how to obtain the filters will soon be available. ....

“This action plan offers concrete steps we will take in a local, state and federal partnership to ensure all Flint residents have safe water to drink,” DEQ Director Dan Wyant said. “The DEQ will work closely with the city to gather further data to ensure the water that leaves Flint’s system as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe to drink.”

Flint's Water Crisis

Earlier this week, Flint got more bad news about its water system when a new report estimated it will cost the city $1.5 billion to repair the damage done since the switch to the Flint River as a water source.

In 2014, the city switched its drinking water source to save money. Flint Mayor Dayne Walling was a quest on Stateside this week saying the state should approve a corrosion-control plan "as fast as humanly possible" to help keep lead out of the water.

If you have missed parts of the Flint water story, here's a quick rundown.

FLINT, Mich. – Flint families and children will be better protected by reconnecting with the Great Lakes Water Authority as the source of the city's drinking water until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder said Thursday that he will request the state Legislature to provide half, or $6 million, of the $12 million needed to reconnect with the authority through next summer, when the KWA is expected to be completed. The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

“All Flint residents need clean, safe drinking water,” Snyder said. “The technical experts helping the city on its water advisory all agree this move back to the Great Lakes Water Authority provides the best public health protection for children and families. This effort today is the result of people coming together to solve a problem. I appreciate Detroit’s willingness to reconnect with Flint, the Mott Foundation’s generous commitment, and the dedication of all parties to come together to protect Flint families and children.”

Flint city leaders requested the state’s help to fund the reconnection and to assist with health and infrastructure issues. Flint’s move to the Great Lakes Water Authority is expected to cost about $1.3 million per month until the Karegnondi Water Authority is completed next summer.

“It’s heartening to know so many people are working at so many levels to bring safe, clean water back to Flint,” Mott Foundation President Ridgway White said. “We believe this transitional solution is the right and necessary thing to do, and we’re glad we could help the state and the city make it happen.”

The move to Detroit water, which is expected to carry, carries many public health benefits. As large bodies of water, the Great Lakes are naturally prone to fewer problems from large rain events and other runoff issues that can sometimes be present in shallower rivers. Additionally, the Great Lakes Water Authority water already has additional corrosion control, using phosphates to help coat the insides of pipes and limit lead from leaching into the water.

However, reconnecting with the authority will not completely resolve the city’s problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control. Additionally, some households in the city could experience lead in their drinking water until all lead pipes and plumbing are replaced.

“Reconnecting to Detroit is the fastest way to deliver clean, safe water to Flint and stabilize the infrastructure system,” Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said. “I appreciate the state, the Mott Foundation, Detroit, and the county’s participation in a solution for Flint’s water problems. The health and safety of Flint’s families, children and seniors is my top priority, and reconnecting to Detroit is a major step that the city could not take alone given budget constraints.”

To best protect public health, Snyder said state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services today also committed an additional $3.5 million for water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Free filters are available for current MDHHS clients at the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office locations. For residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs, free filters are available at the Genesee County Community Action

Resource Department offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation. At the Lippincott location only, extended hours will be offered this weekend, including until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Other good practices for residents concerned about lead include turning on the cold water tap and running the water until it's as cold as it will go. Additionally, only use cold water for cooking, drinking and especially mixing baby formula.

School test results released; more investigation planned

The state today also released the first results from its lead screening program in schools and homes. Of 37 total samples taken at 13 buildings, four samples spread over three buildings exceeded the federal action level of 15 parts per billion.

However, this sampling provides only an initial screen, and the state is committing to further testing water and inspecting plumbing at these schools. Until testing is complete, schools are advised to continue using bottled water and filtration as a precaution to protect children.

In addition, free testing is still available for any other Flint school, including daycares and Head Starts. Free testing is also available for any Flint resident.

Additional information, including more detailed lead screening results, is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

Flint returning to Detroit water, but problems persist

A year and a half after city leaders stood in Flint's water plant and raised plastic glasses to toast the city's switch to the Flint River, the city is going back to Detroit's water system after the state, the city and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation agreed to kick in $12 million to make the switch. Despite the proposed change, there are new concerns about lead in the water in Flint schools. Steve Carmody has details on the latest developments.

Having trouble viewing this email? View it as a Web page.

DEQ Director Dan Wyant today made the following statement as he announced DEQ Chief Deputy Jim Sygo will immediately assume the role of interim chief of the department's Office of Drinking Water and Municipal Assistance:

"It recently has become clear that our drinking water program staff made a mistake while working with the City of Flint. Simply stated, staff employed a federal protocol they believed was appropriate, and it was not. The water testing steps followed would have been correct for a city less than 50,000 people, but not for a city of nearly 100,000.

As details of the situation emerge, I am convinced our program staff believed they were doing their job right. As the state recognized there could be a health threat to Flint residents, we took appropriate steps. We are now embarked on an unprecedented effort to safeguard Flint residents and families with near-term, intermediate and long-term actions to protect and educate city residents.

The issue in DEQ is experience and protocol with respect to corrosion control. The Governor has called for an independent, third-party after-action review. I have taken the step of changing leadership in the division. We are working with our federal partners and committed to being part of the U.S. EPA's effort to strengthen its Lead and Copper Rule.

All who brought this issue to the department deserve credit for bringing it forward. Lead is a serious issue, particularly for young people, and we take it seriously. The Governor's plan incorporates the suggestions outlined by the EPA and researchers at Virginia Tech.

We will learn from this. We will make necessary changes to see to it that our program becomes a national leader in public health protection."

Flint did not follow federal rules to keep lead out of water

Earlier this week, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality admitted Flint did not follow federal rules designed to keep lead out of water. The city didn't do any kind of corrosion control when it started pumping water from the Flint River. The treatment helps keep lead from corroding from old service lines and pipes in people's homes, and is required under federal law.

If you live in Flint, Michigan Radio's Infowire has compiled this guide to what you need to know about the water crisis, including how you can get your water tested.

Freeman Elementary water testing shows lead exposure limited to fixtures

Experts release water testing results on schools and homes in Flint

Nov. 9, 2015

For More Information:
George Krisztian, 517-284-6719, krisztiang@michigan.gov

As part of Gov. Rick Snyder's action plan for Flint drinking water, the DEQ today released water testing data from nearly 400 homes and businesses in Flint as well as comprehensive sampling results from Freeman Elementary School.

Both sets of data indicate the problems with lead are localized to individual buildings or even individual faucets, rather than system-wide issues.

"The results from this data underline the need for water testing at all homes, businesses, schools and other buildings in Flint," said George Krisztian, the DEQ's Flint Action Plan Coordinator. "Problems with lead exposure appear to be localized to individual service lines or plumbing fixtures, and we want to see all families in Flint take advantage of free water testing from the state."

Freeman Elementary testing results

At Freeman Elementary, 31 faucets were tested using a series of four samples each. Twenty-two outlets did not show elevated lead exposure, but nine faucets came back with initially high results.

Those nine outlets involve brass components, indicating the problem involves the fixtures or plumbing immediately surrounding the fixture. When the faucets and fountains were operated for several minutes, lead levels fell significantly, in some cases to non-detectable levels.

Additional testing designed to look deep into the school's plumbing did not suggest larger, systemic issues.

Freeman Elementary has several options for remedying the issues at these nine faucets and fountains. The school can elect not to use those particular fountains, or implement a formalized flushing regimen. The sampling results indicate that for all but one tap, a 3- to 4-minute flushing period each morning would drastically reduce lead exposure.

For a permanent solution, the school should opt to replace the faucets and fountains of concern.

"The safety and health of our students are our primary concern at Flint Community Schools, so we will start work as soon as possible to replace faucets, aerators and other related components where high lead levels were detected," FCS Superintendent Bilal Tawwab said. "Once those fixes have been made, the DEQ has offered to provide additional testing of the water at Freeman Elementary to ensure the water from every sample is safe for our students. Flint Community Schools appreciates the efforts by the DEQ, working with all stakeholders to make sure our water continues to be tested and that our students have access to safe, clean drinking water."

For Freeman Elementary's complete sampling results and more information about how sampling was conducted, visit www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

The DEQ and the DLARA also have conducted sampling at other Flint schools, and results will soon be available on the DEQ's website. Additionally, the state will test every other school in the Flint Community Schools district, as well as any school or daycare in the city. Interested schools and daycare centers should contact George Krisztian at krisztiang@michigan.gov.

Homeowner and other customer-requested testing results

Results from the 381 samples from homes, businesses, schools and other facilities that took advantage of free water testing through the state showed similar, localized results. More than 75 percent of the samples analyzed demonstrated lead results of 5 parts per billion or less, and more than 91 percent demonstrated lead results of 15 parts per billion or less.

This data suggests that while some homes experience elevated lead level results due to lead service lines or in-home plumbing, many other homes experience little to no lead. This can make it difficult for homeowners and businesses to predict their lead exposure.

"Since it's not easy to predict if an individual home's water is at risk for lead, the best thing all residents can do is get their water tested," Krisztian said. "It's a free test that provides valuable information for families."

Testing is available for free by contacting the Flint Water Plant at 810-787-6537 and pressing 1, or by emailing flintwater@cityofflint.com.

For more information about water samples received through the state's free testing program, visit www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

How school sampling was conducted

To conduct this comprehensive sampling, the DEQ and Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs began on Oct. 23 with a thorough plumbing assessment of the school to gain a detailed understanding of how water moves through the building and what types of plumbing materials are used. The assessment also identified 31 faucets or fountains in the school that provide water for drinking, cooking and/or food preparation.

On Oct. 24, the DEQ and DLARA took four, 125-milliliter samples from each of the 31 identified faucets and fountains. The first two samples were taken immediately after turning on the faucet, followed by a 30-second flush and then the third sample, followed by a 2-minute flush and then the fourth sample. These samples provided information on the impact of any lead sources in or around each specific faucet and fountain as well as its connecting plumbing.

On Oct. 31, the DEQ and DLARA took an additional 30 samples, 10 each from three sites in the school. These 1-liter samples were taken consecutively, and provided information about the impact of any lead sources deep in the building's plumbing.

For a video about these results, visit <https://youtu.be/Amy4cDW7RtA>.

The Refugee Debate in Michigan

The Paris terrorist attacks ignited a debate over whether Syrian refugees should be allowed into Michigan. After first saying he was hitting the "pause" button on bringing more refugees to the state, Governor Snyder tried to clarify his position. Local officials weighed in also, saying Syrian refugees were welcome in Grand Rapids, but in Oakland County...not so much!

Meanwhile, here are four things you should know about the current vetting process for refugees.

New MI Curious Questions

We've got three new Detroit questions up for vote on MI Curious. They deal with streetcars on Gratiot Avenue, a time capsule at the Soldiers and Sailors Monument, and the Masonic Temple. Cast your vote to let us know which one we should investigate.

Subject: RE: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

Lisa,

I've pulled the following from MEDC's CDBG Application Guide, which leads me to believe providing Flint CDBG Funds would not be permitted.

Eligible applicants for CDBG funds are small cities, townships, and villages of less than 50,000 in population, and non-urban counties. A specifically declared ineligible applicant is Genesee County (and local governments in the county jurisdiction except for Clio, Davison, flushing, and Lennon). CDBG Funds were provided for the UP Freeze emergency under the CDBG Urgent Need program. Urgent Need projects are typically permitted after declaration of a State of Emergency by the Governor.

Still waiting on a response from Beth, as I am by no means an expert on CDBG.

Lisa,

Nancy caught me as I was attempting to leave the building this evening, and noted that John is looking to receive detail on the Flint water issue funding solution by 10 am tomorrow, Wednesday, 7 Oct 2015.

Mind you, my 3 pm phone call to DEQ's budget staff this afternoon has remained unanswered, and Chris Harkins has yet to hear from DCH. Our commitment is $6 million, and I was hoping our CDBG folks could revisit a strategy utilized last year towards a UP freeze, whereby, an obscure rule in the federal CDBG regulations allowed for funding support to assist a municipality in repair of frozen underground piping for their water system, to the tune of > $7 million if I recall correctly.

We are only seeking a million (or more) towards the Flint water reconnect effort, and asking for a Steve Arwood commitment by 10 am is certainly ridiculous. . . Nevertheless, I am indeed asking Madame for any assistance you can provide towards accomplishing such.

John, Harkins, and myself will be attending an 8 a.m. meeting of Dir. Wyant on this matter in Constitution Hall, and I will have my pad with me if we need to dialog. Thanks !

Jacques

City of Flint Warns of Potential Health Risks Caused by the City's Drinking Water

The city says there's been too much disinfection byproduct in Flint's water system recently, something that -- over many years could cause liver, kidney or central nervous system problems and an increased risk of cancer.

The notice from the city says Flint water is safe to drink but warns that those with a severely compromised immune system, who have an infant or who are elderly may be at increased risk and should seek advice about drinking water from their health care provider.

For others, there is no need to boil water or take other actions, the notice says.

It is recommended that licensed child care providers and licensed adult foster care and homes for the aged providers seek medical advice or use bottle water when serving individuals at increased risk as outlined above.

For more information, go to to the city's website at <http://cityofflint.com>.

On Friday, October 2, 2015, Gov. Rick Snyder announced a comprehensive action plan created with state, federal and city leaders to address concerns about Flint drinking water so that residents have access to safe, clean, water now and long into the future. The water leaving Flint's drinking water system is safe to drink, but some families with lead plumbing in their homes or service connections could experience higher levels of lead in the water that comes out of their faucets.

Everything You Missed at Great Lakes Week 2015

Calm winds and dropping water temperatures have significantly reduced the algae bloom on Lake Erie, although the topic of algae was a hot one at Great Lakes Week in Chicago. See our story on the "Politics of Algae" here or catch up with the Bi-National Challenge of Algae session.

Of course, being in Chicago meant that Asian Carp and the separation of the Great Lakes from the Mississippi Basin by restoring the original flow of the Chicago River was a key item on both the Great Lakes Commission and the Great Lakes Restoration Conference agenda. Several presentations focused on this question, and are available online at Great Lakes Now.org >

Great Lakes Week 2015 introduced another bio-indicator of the health of the Great Lakes: beluga whales. A unique population of the white whales live at the mouth of the St. Lawrence Seaway – where all Great Lakes water eventually goes. Researchers in Quebec and at Chicago's Shedd Aquarium are concerned about increasing levels of cancer in the mammals as well as a higher-than-expected rate of calf mortality. ## Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant has resigned in response to the water crisis that erupted three months ago in Flint.

“MDEQ Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, and I’ve determined that it’s appropriate to accept it. I’m also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force,” Governor Rick Snyder said in a statement.

“But changes in leadership and staff are not enough. I understand there can be disagreements within the scientific community. That is why I have directed both the departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services to invite every external scientist who has worked on this issue to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water,” Mr. Snyder said. “Let’s share research on water and blood lead level testing so we can arrive at accurate and mutually supported conclusions. Together, we should work to affirm that we’re using the very best testing protocols to ensure Flint residents have safe drinking water and that we’re taking steps to protect their health over the short and long term.”

The DEQ has come under major criticism for how it handled testing for lead in Flint drinking water after the city switched to the Flint River as its water source. The water was not properly treated for corrosion, causing lead to leach from service lines into the drinking water.

“I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened. And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure,” Mr. Snyder said. “I know many Flint citizens are angry and want more than an apology. That’s why I’m taking the actions today to ensure a culture of openness and trust. We’ve already allocated $10 million to test the water, distribute water filters, and help in other ways. Last week, I called Flint Mayor Karen Weaver, and we’re going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.”

Dan WYANT, the director of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ), is resigning in the wake of criticism about how the state handled elevated lead levels in Flint drinking water.

Gov. Rick SNYDER announced Wyant's resignation in a statement today. Also, in the statement, the Governor said his administration would invite scientists who have been tracking the situation “to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water.”

“I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened,” Snyder's statement added. “And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure.”

On Wyant, Snyder said Wyant offered his resignation, “and I've determined that it's appropriate to accept it.”

“I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force,” Snyder's statement said.

Those other changes haven't been finalized yet, according to Laura BIEHL, a spokesperson for the Governor.

The news of Wyant's resignation comes as a task force continues to work on a report about the Flint water crisis, which occurred after the city's water source was switched to the Flint River in 2014.

“Although the task force's final report is not yet completed, members have made me aware of some interim findings and corrective steps that I have decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how the state keeps its citizens safe and informed,” Snyder said today. He continued, “We'll continue to work with the community members to make sure we hear and respond to their concerns.”

Snyder also noted the he called Flint Mayor Karen WEAVER last week and the two are going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.

Wyant has been MDEQ director since Snyder took office in 2011.

Previously, Wyant was the director of the Department of Agriculture under former Govs. John ENGLER and Jennifer GRANHOLM.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Comprehensive action plan will help Flint residents address water concerns

Collaborative effort with state, federal and city leaders focuses on testing, assistance

FLINT, Mich. – Flint residents need to have access to safe, clean, water now and long into the future, Gov. Rick Snyder said, announcing a comprehensive action plan created with state, federal and city leaders to address concerns about drinking water.

The water leaving Flint's drinking water system is safe to drink, but some families with lead plumbing in their homes or service connections could experience higher levels of lead in the water that comes out of their faucets.

The action plan focuses on increasing water testing, offering additional precautions for families with lead plumbing in their homes, and providing long-term solutions to address the city's water infrastructure challenges. The plan was created at Snyder's direction by the Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Health and Human Services (DHHS), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the city of Flint.

“We are focused on helping ensure safe, clean, accessible drinking water and addressing and mitigating concerns and protecting public health,” Snyder said. “Today’s action plan builds upon ongoing work with local, state and federal agencies and our partnership with city and community leaders. Together, we are working to ensure that all Flint residents have accurate information and know that help is available to address potential problems.”

The city and the state also are working together to gather more data to ensure the water that leaves the treatment plant as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe for all residents. The plan includes:

- Testing in Flint public schools immediately to ensure that drinking water is safe, with testing also available at no cost to any other school in Flint.
- Offering free water testing to Flint residents to assure their drinking water is safe.
- Providing free water filters to residents.
- Expanding health exposure testing of individual homes.
- Accelerating corrosion controls in the Flint drinking water system.
- Accelerating water system improvements to address replacing lead service lines.
- Expediting the completion of the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline.
- Expanding a Safe Drinking Water Technical Advisory Committee to ensure the best technology, practices and science are being followed by adding an expert from the Environmental Protection Agency’s Office of Research and Development to the group.
- Naming Dr. Eden Wells, chief medical executive for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, as the Flint drinking water public health adviser.
- Boosting a comprehensive lead education program to make sure residents have detailed information about how to protect themselves and their homes.

Residents can have their water tested by calling 810-787-6537 and pressing 1, or emailing flintwater@cityofflint.com. The DEQ is covering the cost of this testing.

State leaders have been working closely with state and federal lawmakers to tap resources at all levels of government to address concerns.

State health experts said there has been an increase in elevated childhood blood lead levels in some specific communities. Initial analysis of MDHHS data found that blood lead levels of children in Flint have followed an expected seasonal trend. While this analysis for Flint as a whole remains true, a comprehensive and detailed review breaking down data by ZIP codes with the city revealed that MDHHS data is consistent with a study presented recently by Hurley Children’s Hospital.

“While we cannot conclusively say that the water source change is the sole cause of the increase, this analysis supports our efforts as we take active steps to reduce all potential lead exposures in Flint,” MDHHS Director Nick Lyon said. “As part of this, we are working closely with our public and private partners to provide Flint residents on MDHHS assistance programs with free water filters and inform families about the steps they can take to reduce all lead exposures in their home.”

As a part of the action plan, National Sanitation Foundation certified water filters will be made available to Flint residents through emergency state funds and coordinated efforts with local community agencies and donors. Information about how to obtain the filters will soon be available.

“This action plan offers concrete steps we will take in a local, state and federal partnership to ensure all Flint residents have safe water to drink,” DEQ Director Dan Wyant said. “The DEQ will work closely with the city to gather further data to ensure the water that leaves Flint’s system as

Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint

State, Mott Foundation, city form partnership to fund switch until KWA is ready

FLINT, Mich. – Flint families and children will be better protected by reconnecting with the Great Lakes Water Authority as the source of the city's drinking water until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder said Thursday that he will request the state Legislature to provide half, or $6 million, of the $12 million needed to reconnect with the authority through next summer, when the KWA is expected to be completed. The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

"All Flint residents need clean, safe drinking water," Snyder said. "The technical experts helping the city on its water advisory all agree this move back to the Great Lakes Water Authority provides the best public health protection for children and families. This effort today is the result of people coming together to solve a problem. I appreciate Detroit's willingness to reconnect with Flint, the Mott Foundation's generous commitment, and the dedication of all parties to come together to protect Flint families and children."

The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services today also committed an additional $3.5 million for water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Flint city leaders requested the state's help to fund the reconnection and to assist with health and infrastructure issues. Flint's move to the Great Lakes Water Authority is expected to cost about $1.3 million per month until the Karegnondi Water Authority is completed next summer.

"It's heartening to know so many people are working at so many levels to bring safe, clean water back to Flint," Mott Foundation President Ridgway White said. "We believe that reconnecting the city's water supply to Lake Huron is the right and necessary thing to do, and we're glad we could help the state and the city make it happen."

The move to Detroit water, which is drawn from Lake Huron, carries many public health benefits. As large bodies of water, the Great Lakes are naturally prone to fewer problems from large rain events and other runoff issues that can sometimes be present in shallower rivers. Additionally, the Great Lakes Water Authority water already has additional corrosion control, using phosphates to help coat the insides of pipes and prevent lead from leaching into the water.

However, reconnecting with the authority will not completely resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control. Additionally, some households in the city could experience lead in their drinking water until all lead pipes and plumbing are replaced.

"Reconnecting to Detroit is the fastest way to deliver clean, safe water to Flint and stabilize the infrastructure system," Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said. "I appreciate the state, the Mott Foundation, Detroit, and the county's participation in a solution for Flint's water problems. The health and safety of Flint's families, children and seniors is my top priority and reconnecting to Detroit is a major step that the city could not take alone given budget constraints."

To best protect public health, Snyder said state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure.

Free filters are available for current MDHHS clients at the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office locations. For residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs, free filters are available at the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation. At the Lippincott location only, extended hours will be offered this weekend, including until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Other good practices for residents concerned about lead include turning on the cold water tap and running the water until it's as cold as it will go. Additionally, only use cold water for cooking, drinking and especially mixing baby formula.

School test results released; more investigation planned

The state today also released the first results from its lead screening program in schools and homes. Of 37 total samples taken at 13 buildings, four samples spread over three buildings exceeded the federal action level of 15 parts per billion.

However, this sampling provides only an initial screen, and the state is committing to further testing water and inspecting plumbing at these schools. Until testing is complete, schools are advised to continue using bottled water and filtration as a precaution to protect children.

In addition, free testing is still available for any other Flint school, including daycares and Head Starts. Free testing is also available for any Flint resident.

Additional information, including more detailed lead screening results, is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint

State, city, Mott Foundation, join to fund switch until KWA is ready

FLINT, Mich. – Flint families and children will be better protected by reconnecting with the Great Lakes Water Authority as the source of the city's drinking water until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder said Thursday that he will request the state Legislature to provide half, or $6 million, of the $12 million needed to reconnect with the authority through next summer, when the KWA is expected to be completed. The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

"All Flint residents need clean, safe drinking water," Snyder said. "The technical experts helping the city on its water advisory all agree this move back to the Great Lakes Water Authority provides the best public health protection for children and families. This effort today is the result of people coming together to solve a problem. I appreciate Detroit's willingness to reconnect with Flint, the Mott Foundation's generous commitment, and the dedication of all parties to come together to protect Flint families and children."

Flint city leaders requested the state's help to fund the reconnection and to assist with health and infrastructure issues. Flint's move to the Great Lakes Water Authority is expected to cost about $1.3 million per month until the Karegnondi Water Authority is completed next summer.

"It's heartening to know so many people are working at so many levels to bring safe, clean water back to Flint," Mott Foundation President Ridgway White said. "We believe this transitional solution is the right and necessary thing to do, and we're glad we could help the state and the city make it happen."

The move to Detroit water, which is expected to carry, carries many public health benefits. As large bodies of water, the Great Lakes are naturally prone to fewer problems from large rain events and other runoff issues that can sometimes be present in shallower rivers. Additionally, the Great Lakes Water Authority water already has additional corrosion control, using phosphates to help coat the insides of pipes and limit lead from leaching into the water.

However, reconnecting with the authority will not completely resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control. Additionally, some households in the city could experience lead in their drinking water until all lead pipes and plumbing are replaced.

"Reconnecting to Detroit is the fastest way to deliver clean, safe water to Flint and stabilize the infrastructure system," Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said. "I appreciate the state, the Mott Foundation, Detroit, and the county's participation in a solution for Flint's water problems. The health and safety of Flint's families, children and seniors is my top priority, and reconnecting to Detroit is a major step that the city could not take alone given budget constraints."

To best protect public health, Snyder said state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services today also committed an additional $3.5 million for water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Free filters are available for current MDHHS clients at the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office locations. For residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs, free filters are available at the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation. At the Lippincott location only, extended hours will be offered this weekend, including until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Other good practices for residents concerned about lead include turning on the cold water tap and running the water until it's as cold as it will go. Additionally, only use cold water for cooking, drinking and especially mixing baby formula.

School test results released; more investigation planned

The state today also released the first results from its lead screening program in schools and homes. Of 37 total samples taken at 13 buildings, four samples spread over three buildings exceeded the federal action level of 15 parts per billion.

However, this sampling provides only an initial screen, and the state is committing to further testing water and inspecting plumbing at these schools. Until testing is complete, schools are advised to continue using bottled water and filtration as a precaution to protect children.

In addition, free testing is still available for any other Flint school, including daycares and Head Starts. Free testing is also available for any Flint resident.

Additional information, including more detailed lead screening results, is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

Hi Dave,

Jennifer passed your note along to me so I wanted to get back to clarify for you. The supplemental request will include $6 million for reconnection to Detroit, and then almost another $3.5 million for filters, testing, and additional agency support...so the total supplemental request will be for $9.35 million. The confusion is coming from the fact that we already announced $1 million in money from filters last week and that money does not require a supplemental appropriation. The actual total commitment from the state is $10.6 million...but some of the money won't require a supplemental appropriation. Call me if you have questions. Thanks!

Gov signs Flint water bill

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder has signed bipartisan legislation that will direct funding to the City of Flint's emergency water services to reconnect the city's water supply to the Great Lakes

Water Authority until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed.

“This funding is a coordinated response to a serious problem and I’m pleased so many parties came together to help deliver safe drinking water to the city of Flint,” Snyder said. “Reconnecting to the Great Lakes Water Authority is only the first step, as the state will continue testing and inspections to ensure Flint families and children have clean water in their homes and schools.”

House Bill 4102, sponsored by state Rep. Al Pscholka, authorizes $6 million to move the city back to Detroit’s water system until the new pipeline is finished.

In addition to the $6 million:

- $300,000 goes to the Department of Environmental Quality’s drinking water and environmental health services;
- $1 million will provide for DEQ to test drinking water samples;
- $1 million allows the Department of Health and Human Services to purchase and distribute water filters to Flint residents;
- $850,000 will aid in follow-up services for children, including testing, investigations, and case management for those with elevated blood lead levels;
- $200,000 will fund state plumbing inspections for schools and health facilities.
- The City of Flint city government will provide $2 million toward reconnecting the water supply and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

The bill was approved unanimously in both the House and Senate and is now Public Act 143 of 2015.

Gov. Rick Snyder announces Flint Water Task Force to review state, federal and municipal actions, offer recommendations

Experts in public health, water management, environmental protection to focus on steps to protect residents

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today announced the creation of an independent advisory task force charged with reviewing actions regarding water use and testing in Flint and offer recommendations for future guidelines to protect the health and safety of all state residents.

Task force members include experts in public health and medicine, water management, and environmental protection from both sides of the aisle, and will be co-chaired by Ken Sikkema of Public Sector Consultants and Chris Kolb, of the Michigan Environmental Council. Also serving will be Dr. Matthew Davis of the University of Michigan Health System, Eric Rothstein, of the Galardi Rothstein Group and Dr. Lawrence Reynolds of Mott Children's Health Center in Flint.

"Transitioning back to the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department-Great Lakes Water Authority is a good first step to protecting public health in Flint, but it's not the last step," Snyder said. "Bringing in outside experts to evaluate our actions and help monitor and advise on potential changes to law, procedures and practices will be key to continuing work on the comprehensive action plan and ensuring safe drinking water for all the residents in Flint and all of Michigan."

Snyder said the administration will fully cooperate with task force members, saying he wants an unbiased report focusing on steps taken in the past and recommendations that could improve practices to ensure all residents have access to safe, clean water.

Ken Sikkema is a senior policy fellow at Public Sector Consultants, where he specializes in public finance, environment, and energy policy. Prior to joining the firm, Sikkema served in both the Michigan House and Senate, culminating with four years as Senate majority leader. He has also served as both an adjunct and visiting professor at Grand Valley State University.

Chris Kolb is president of the Michigan Environmental Council, a statewide coalition of 70 environmental, public health and faith-based nonprofit groups. Before joining the MEC, Kolb represented Ann Arbor in the state House for six years and served six years on the Ann Arbor City Council. He has been president of the MEC for six years.

Matthew Davis, M.D., M.A.P.P., is professor of pediatrics and internal medicine at the University of Michigan Health System and professor of public policy at the Gerald R. Ford School at the University of Michigan, having joined the faculty in 2000. Davis also is a professor of health management and policy at the School of Public Health. He previously served as the chief medical executive of the Michigan Department of Community Health/Department of Health and Human Services.

Eric Rothstein is a national water issues consultant and principal at the Galardi Rothstein Group. He served as an independent advisor on the creation of the Great Lakes Water Authority. Rothstein also has served as Jefferson County, Alabama's rate consultant and municipal adviser for litigation related to the county's bankruptcy and issuance of $1.7 billion in sewer warrants and led strategic financial planning for the City of Atlanta's Department of Watershed Management. He has more than 30 years of experience in water, wastewater and stormwater utility finance and rate-making assessments.

Lawrence Reynolds, M.D., is a pediatrician in Flint who serves as president of the Mott Children's Health Center. He received his medical degree from Howard University College of Medicine and has been in practice for 36 years. He has served as president of the Genesee County Medical Society and the Michigan Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics. He has been honored for his humanitarian and advocacy efforts on behalf of children from the Community Foundation of Greater Flint.

Snyder has said reconnecting with the authority is a critical step to resolving water quality issues and addressing related health concerns. It will not immediately resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control.

To best protect public health, state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services are continuing to provide free water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Greimel: DPS Debt Relief Should Not Come From School Aid Fund

House Minority Leader Tim Greimel told reporters Monday he is ready to work in a bipartisan way to solve the debt issue in Detroit Public Schools, but that the funding should not come from the School Aid Fund at the expense of other districts in the state.

Mr. Greimel (D-Auburn Hills), in a year-end meeting with reporters, said there are other options in the budget to fund a DPS solution at $715 million, which would cover some debt and give the new district startup money. Governor Rick Snyder has called for redirecting the 18-mill property tax on non-principal residence property in the district away from the School Aid Fund and instead dedicate it toward paying down DPS debt.

"The vast majority of this debt was incurred while the school district was under state control," Mr. Greimel said. "As a result, the state has a significant responsibility to address that debt. But we don't want to see that done at the expense of other school districts in the state."

Republicans have voiced deep resistance to Mr. Snyder's proposal, and now with Mr. Greimel declaring that House Democrats cannot support it either, that concept is in serious trouble, to say the least.

Mr. Greimel said he is also open-minded on the order in which DPS solutions are legislated. Some have said to deal with the money first and then go into the governance and academic portions of the plan.

"Ultimately the end goal is not about the budget, it is not about governance, ultimately the end goal is about adequately and appropriately educating young people so that they will succeed," he said. "I want to make sure that any policy changes related to finance or governance are related to the ultimate end goal of making sure we are properly educating our young people."

He also said he has no assurances from Mr. Snyder that the Education Achievement Authority will close under a DPS solution.

"We have long called to shut down the EAA. Frankly it is scandalous that the EAA is still operating in light of what has become public of its profound failures," he said. "It is absolutely baffling that the governor has refused to shut this thing down."

CAUCUS DRAMA: Mr. Greimel did not address Rep. Leslie Love (D-Detroit) and Rep. Erika Geiss (D-Taylor) being stripped of their leadership titles in caucus and use of central staff.

All that House Democrats officially have said about Ms. Geiss and Ms. Love is that they are still members of the caucus. The sanctions occurred after both voted for a bill limiting municipal liability on sidewalks while the rest of the caucus voted against the legislation.

"We have said all we are going to say on that topic. And I know in the Lansing bubble what happens in that regard is big news, but I want to focus on the issues that everyday voters care about," Mr. Greimel said. "We don't talk about what happens in the caucus room. They are both still valued members of the caucus. And we're not going to discuss internal caucus affairs."

CAMPAIGN FINANCE: Mr. Greimel said Mr. Snyder should veto SB 571, which makes a variety of changes to campaign finance laws, including not allowing a local government entity, including schools, to use taxpayer dollars on ballot question communications. He said Mr. Snyder should also veto SB 13, which eliminates straight-ticket voting in the state.

"My hope is that Governor Snyder, who has always held himself out as a nonpartisan and bipartisan governor, will do the right thing and veto those bills, so that he can uphold the legacy that I know he wants to have of being a truly nonpartisan governor who is focused on solving problems in the state," he said. "Not passing new laws to make it easier for Republicans to stay in power."

Mr. Greimel he said he believes there are elements of Mr. Snyder's record where he hasn't acted partisan.

"We saw that with Medicaid expansion; we saw that with the assistance to the city of Detroit; we've seen it support of mass transit in the state," he said. "But it's these kinds of power grabs that we have seen from the House Republicans in the last two weeks that jeopardize the governor leaving office with a true legacy of nonpartisanship."

On the portion of SB 571 that bars local government entities, including schools, from creating materials talking about a ballot question in the 60 days preceding the election, Mr. Greimel said if there are abuses, they should be fixed.

"That would be a smarter and more appropriate approach than simply prohibiting any communication," he said.

Mr. Greimel said the Democrats are still combing through the bill, which saw a 53-page substitute adopted quickly last week before the bill passed.

"We know that his bill would allow more money into politics with less disclosure. And I have talked to thousands of voters across the state and have yet to have found anybody who says: 'You know what we need? We need more money and less transparency in politics,'" he said.

DEMOCRATIC WINS: In terms of what the Democrats were able to accomplish this year, Mr. Greimel said their biggest wins were the School Aid Budget and getting Attorney General Bill Schuette and the Department of State Police to investigate the affair and taxpayer dollar abuses that occurred between former Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat.

"This past year's school aid budget is the best school aid budget we have had in at least the past four or five years," he said. "Through Democrats coming to the table and working in a bipartisan way we were able to get big improvement over previous year's school aid budgets."

Mr. Greimel took another swipe at the Senate for its planned move into the leased space at the Capitol View building.

On the investigation into the Mr. Courser and Ms. Gamrat situation, Mr. Greimel said the Department of Attorney General officials told him they are still investigating and cannot provide updates.

However, he said so far during this term, there have been no significant bipartisan initiatives passed. He said last term the Legislature was able to get Medicaid expansion and funding toward Detroit's bankruptcy.

"Those are the kinds of bipartisan solutions the people of Michigan expect and deserve. And it is disappointing that under the current House leadership we have not seen those kind of bipartisan solutions," he said. "The House Republicans have become increasingly dominated by the far right wing members of their caucus and the Republican party overall. As a result I think we have seen more partisanship from them and I think we have seen more ideology and less pragmatism and bipartisanship."

Asked about legislation that passed the House with bipartisan support to overhaul medical marijuana laws and ease parole for those at their minimum release date, Mr. Greimel said those were not the most pressing issues for typical voters.

Mr. Greimel said he did not have a count on how many meetings he has had with House Speaker Kevin Cotter (R-Mount Pleasant), but they meet less than he did with former Speaker Jase Bolger.

Moving forward, Mr. Greimel said he would like to see more investments in education, particularly after the results of the education study, designed to show how much it costs to educate a student in the state, are released.

"We will soon be getting the results of the education funding study and my hope is that the governor and legislators on both sides of the aisle take those results very seriously and use it as a springboard to finally fund education adequately and appropriately, so that all of Michigan's children have a bright economic future," he said.

Mr. Greimel said Democrats also want policies that facilitate an economy that works for everyone.

He said that includes improving wages and working conditions for all employees.

"It also means making sure we are doing more to ensure small businesses receive the support and especially the access to capital that they need to succeed and grow," he said. "We have seen a lot of attention the part of Republicans to the big corporations. ... It's long past time that the state focuses more on making sure that small businesses grow and succeed."

Virginia Tech Researcher Claims Stonewalling On Lead Data

The Department of Health and Human Services had data that showed there were elevated lead levels in Flint's water, but delayed in releasing that data to others for review, Virginia Tech professor Marc Edwards said in an article posted to his website documenting the city's water crisis.

Department officials agreed and said the experience led to changes in how they examine data.

Mr. Edwards said the department had data from shortly after Flint changed its water source that showed a spike in blood lead levels in children in two at-risk neighborhoods, but did not disclose that data until September 2015.

"They discovered scientifically conclusive evidence of an anomalous increase in childhood lead poisoning in summer 2014 immediately after the switch in water sources, but stood by silently as Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) officials repeatedly and falsely stated that no spike in blood lead levels (BLL) of children had occurred," he said in the post.

DHHS spokesperson Jennifer Eisner agreed the department had data that showed the spike, but said its analysis at the time overlooked factors that, in retrospect, would have shown there was a water quality problem.

"When initially looking at the citywide and county elevated blood lead level numbers, the increase appeared to be consistent with the seasonal fluctuation seen in the summer months," Ms. Eisner said. "It wasn't until the Hurley report came out that our epidemiologists took a more in-depth look at the data by ZIP code, controlling for seasonal variation, and confirmed an increase outside of normal trends. As a result of this process, we have determined that the way we analyze data collected needs to be thoroughly reviewed."

Mr. Edwards said DHHS officials also stonewalled him on getting access to that data.

He said data he had gotten easily in 2006 documents for a similar review took several weeks to receive after his request sent September 2. When he did finally receive the data, he said it was a version that omitted the lead level spike from summer 2014 that the department had created in July.

He said a series of emails he received under a recent Freedom of Information Act request showed and intention by DHHS officials to keep the reports from the public.

"Our FOIA reveals a shocking DHHS graph created in October 2015. It shows the statistically significant spike in blood lead that occurred in summer 2014 - the scientific result that DHHS has never publicly acknowledged," Mr. Edwards said in his post.

Ms. Eisner said the department has worked to make the data available. "Summary reports outlining blood lead level testing are posted online on a bi-weekly basis, and we work closely with local partners to fulfill data requests as we receive them," she said.

Trump Names Hagerstrom To Lead Michigan Campaign

Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump has named someone to helm his Michigan efforts, tabbing Scott Hagerstrom, former director of Americans for Prosperity-Michigan.

Throughout his rise to lead other GOP candidates in national polls, and perform well in the limited Michigan polling of the race so far, Mr. Trump has had no Michigan staff presence. Mr. Hagerstrom, prior to his stint with AFP-Michigan, worked as an aide in the Michigan House.

After his departure from AFP, Mr. Hagerstrom worked for the leading ballot committee to defeat Proposal 15-1, the unsuccessful ballot proposal in May to raise new funding for roads.

"Scott will be a great asset to our team as we continue to build infrastructure beyond the early primary states and share my vision to Make America Great Again," Mr. Trump said in a statement.

In the statement, the Trump campaign said it expected to announce additional hires and candidate visits in the near future. Mr. Trump spoke in Birch Run earlier this year and was set to speak in Grand Rapids on Monday.

"It is a great honor to serve as Mr. Trump's Michigan state director," Mr. Hagerstrom said. "He is a proven success with the leadership capabilities to accomplish what those in Washington, D.C., cannot. I believe in his message, his vision and his ability to make our country better than ever before."

House Republicans Boast Half Of Action Plan Finished

House Republicans on Monday said they have completed 51 percent of the caucus' 78-point action plan in the first year of the 2015-16 term.

"We set the bar high, and included initiatives we knew could be a challenge to accomplish. Ending the status quo in Lansing is a difficult proposition, but we continue to remain steadfast in our goal to create great public policy for the people of Michigan," a blog post from the House Republicans said.

The policy initiatives accomplished included a balanced state budget months before the October 1 deadline; "significant" education reforms to help students develop important reading skills by the third grad; early-warning financial reforms for Michigan's schools to give all students a chance at a bright future; and an end to the "onerous and costly" film subsidy program.

The post said 74 percent of the Action Plan items have been introduced as legislation, and 49 percent of the Action Plan items have been signed into law.

Feds Praise State's Child Welfare Progress

The federal government complimented the changes made to the state's child welfare services, saying it is leading to more vulnerable children finding safe and permanent homes, according to the Department of Health and Human Services.

U.S. Administration for Children and Families Commissioner Rafael Lopez recognized a variety of changes made to the child welfare system, a statement from DHHS said. The state's Children's Services Agency oversees protective services, foster care, adoption and juvenile justice systems.

"The successful completion of this program improvement plan is a milestone for both Michigan and ACF," Mr. Lopez wrote. "It represents dedication and commitment from staff at every level."

The federal government told the state in 2009 it was not in compliance with federal guidelines, and the state has been working on improving its child welfare system since then.

The statement said when Governor Rick Snyder took office in 2011, he made improving the state's child welfare system one of his top goals, and now the state has succeeded in meeting the federal goals, leading to potential federal penalties of at least $2.8 million being rescinded.

"I am proud of the progress that Michigan has made in taking care of children who have been abused and neglected," Mr. Snyder said. "It is gratifying to know that the U.S. Administration for Children and Families has recognized the reforms we have implemented. We have more work to do, but there is no doubt that Michigan's vulnerable children receive better services today than they did five years ago."

The letter demonstrates that Michigan is succeeding in providing coordinated services to vulnerable children and families, said DHHS Director Nick Lyon.

"We want kids in the state's child welfare system to safely return to their homes or find a loving, permanent home through adoption if it's determined it is not safe for them to be reunited with their parents," he said. "There are about 13,000 children in Michigan's foster care system at any given time who have been removed from their homes due to abuse or neglect."

Former Assistant AG Loses Final Round In Court

The bid of a former assistant attorney general, who was fired more than five years ago as a result of his repeated verbal attacks and tirades against a then-University of Michigan student government leader who is gay, to win back his job and unemployment benefits appears to finally have run its course.

In two orders released Saturday, the Supreme Court declined to grant leave to appeal to Andrew Shirvell, who had appealed to the court after losing in the Court of Appeals.

In 2010, then-Attorney General Mike Cox fired Mr. Shirvell, alleging misconduct in his repeated criticism of the U-M student leader. Mr. Cox asserted that Mr. Shirvell had gone against a directive to stop his efforts against the student and also conducted some of his activity on state time.

Mr. Shirvell filed suit in the Ingham Circuit Court challenging his dismissal and lost at every level of the court system. However, the Ingham court did agree he was entitled to unemployment benefits, finding that he did not commit misconduct. The Court of Appeals overturned that ruling.

Forecast: New Home Construction To Rise 25% In 2016

New home construction will see a robust increase in 2016, according to a forecast from the Michigan Association of Home Builders.

The association estimates that 16,831 permits for new construction will be issued in 2016, up from 13,467 estimated for 2015.

Association CEO Bob Filka said the increase stems from job growth and increasing shortages of existing housing stock. New home construction slowed to nearly nothing during the Great Recession of 2008-09.

"The reality is the forces of supply and demand are finally kicking in," Mr. Filka said in a statement. "Existing home prices continue to rise in most markets because fewer and fewer choices are available to homebuyers. This price pressure will push more to look at building new."

Price: M-STEP Results Opportunity To Improve

House Education Committee Chair Rep. Amanda Price says the Michigan Student Test of Educational Progress results should be seen as an opportunity to improve.

"While general statewide data was released in October, this week's information is specific to school districts," Ms. Price said in a statement issued late Friday. "It's clear from the results that there is a need to improve, but we need to emphasize that this is the first year for this specific test. This shows where we are in terms of education across the state of Michigan and should be used as a road map going forward."

Ms. Price also said she was hopeful key education policy items currently before the Legislature would move in 2016.

"My hope is that our work in Lansing in 2016 can go hand-in-hand with what the Department of Education and local districts are doing in the classroom to improve proficiency in all subjects," she said. "That is the ultimate goal, to provide our children with a world class education so they are career or college ready."

Gov. Rick Snyder takes action on initial findings from Flint Water Task Force

Changes to take place at DEQ, meeting planned with Mayor Karen Weaver

In response to initial findings from the Flint Water Task Force, Gov. Rick Snyder today issued the following statement:

“When I became aware that the city of Flint’s water showed elevated lead levels and that the state’s handling of the situation was being questioned, I requested funding to switch the source back to the Great Lakes Water Authority and appointed an independent task force to identify possible missteps and areas for improvement.

“The task force has done an exceptional job, reviewing stacks of documents and interviewing scores of Flint, Genesee County, state and federal officials. Although the task force’s final report is not yet completed, members have made me aware of some interim findings and corrective steps that I have decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how the state keeps its citizens safe and informed.

“We’ll continue to work with the community members to make sure we hear and respond to their concerns.

"In addition, MDEQ Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, and I've determined that it's appropriate to accept it. I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force.

"But changes in leadership and staff are not enough. I understand there can be disagreements within the scientific community. That is why I have directed both the departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services to invite every external scientist who has worked on this issue to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water. Let's share research on water and blood lead level testing so we can arrive at accurate and mutually supported conclusions. Together, we should work to affirm that we're using the very best testing protocols to ensure Flint residents have safe drinking water and that we're taking steps to protect their health over the short and long term.

"I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened. And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure.

"I know many Flint citizens are angry and want more than an apology. That's why I'm taking the actions today to ensure a culture of openness and trust. We've already allocated $10 million to test the water, distribute water filters, and help in other ways. Last week, I called Flint Mayor Karen Weaver, and we're going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.

"These are only initial steps - we fully expect to take more actions following the recommendations of our task force. When it comes to matters of health and quality of life, we're committed to doing everything we can to protect the well-being of our citizens."

Subject: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Attachments: City of Flint Water Funding Solution.pdf
Importance: High

Attached is a summary of the funding commitments to address the Flint Water situation. The total state commitment is $10.4m; $7.9m of that amount is GF/GP. [The DHHS number needs to be verified tomorrow morning, but the final number should be close to this estimate.]

The funding will address 4 priority areas:

1. Provision of filters for residential service;
2. 50% of the estimated cost to reconnect temporarily to the Detroit Water System;
3. Funding for testing water samples; and
4. Other state assistance (e.g., home/school/health facility inspections and follow-up for children with elevated blood levels).

We are preparing a formal supplemental request to transmit to the Legislature tomorrow. John intends to talk with Rep. Pscholka and Sen. Hildenbrand about including this funding in HB 4102, the pending supplemental bill now awaiting House concurrence. Assuming that they agree, we would ask for final action next week.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our planned approach.

Nancy

Hi Jennifer,

I am looping in Wurfel on this as I just provided her with the attached spreadsheet. There is some confusion out there on the $3.5 million and Jonathon Oosting also called on this. Sara, do you want me to just call Eggert and walk him through the spreadsheet so he understands? Oosting just called me directly and I explained it to him, so I can do the same with Eggert.

Hi Dave,

Jennifer passed your note along to me so I wanted to get back to clarify for you. The supplemental request will include $6 million for reconnection to Detroit, and then almost another $3.5 million for filters, testing, and additional agency support...so the total supplemental request will be for $9.35 million. The confusion is coming from the fact that we already announced $1 million in money from filters last week and that money does not require a supplemental appropriation. The actual total commitment from the state is $10.6 million...but some of the money won't require a supplemental appropriation. Call me if you have questions. Thanks!

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — State officials pledged $2 million Tuesday for Flint's troubled water system, which has drawn complaints from residents and lost a major industrial customer over quality concerns.

Gov. Rick Snyder's administration announced that the grants, from a program designed for financially distressed communities, will provide $900,000 to hire a contractor to perform a leak detection survey of city water lines. An additional $1.1 million will go toward shutting down the current Water Pollution Control Facility incinerator and replacing it with new facilities allowing for waste disposal in landfills.

City officials say the money is welcome and necessary to deal with the city's aging infrastructure. Emergency Manager Jerry Ambrose said it will also free money for the city to accelerate the replacement of major pipelines, which he said will increase water circulation and improve quality.

He added the city is bringing in experts in the next couple weeks to evaluate its efforts and "make sure we're doing what we need to do" with water treatment and improvements.

"The water today is within all acceptable guidelines — and that's an improvement over where it was a couple months ago," Ambrose said. "That says the water is safe. It doesn't say the quality is acceptable, and that's not acceptable to us."

Flint gets water from the Flint River, but residents have complained about the smell, taste and appearance. They also have complained about rashes and other health problems. The city says the water is safe to drink, but the federal government has cited Flint for high levels of a disinfectant byproduct — a result of treating the water to kill microorganisms that can cause illness.

Residents with infants, older people and those with severely compromised immune systems also have been told to seek advice from a health care provider about drinking the water.

Flint cut ties last year with Detroit's water system to save money and is building a line to Lake Huron that's at least 16 months away.

A General Motors engine plant last year stopped using water from the Flint River after the automaker said it caused rusting on its engine parts. The decision is expected to cost the city about $400,000 per year in lost revenue.

Earlier Tuesday, U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee's office and volunteers distributed thousands of gallons of bottled water at two locations, drawing hundreds of residents.

Loretta Cole was volunteering, and made sure she took some water home as well.

"The water in the toilet looked soapy," said Cole, 80, who added she treats it with bleach. "It may be all right, but I don't trust it."

State Adds 'Transformative,' High-Cost Drugs To Medicaid Formulary

Two so-called "miracle" drugs - one that can apparently cure Hepatitis-C and the other that can dramatically improve the quality of life for children with cystic fibrosis - have been added to the state's Medicaid formulary, but adding the drugs also means the state will have to deal with financing their costs, which could run more than $100 million.

Addition of the drugs Sovaldi (to treat Hepatitis-C) and Orkambi (for cystic fibrosis) also marks one of the first actions dealing with drugs that Debra Eggleston, chief medical director of the Medical Services Administration of the Department of Health and Human Services, called "transformative," and that many experts believe could significantly change medical treatment in years to come.

Both drugs were added to the state's Medicaid formulary by the Pharmacy and Therapy Committee in DHHS at its December 8 meeting.

Other drugs being reviewed for federal approval include oral chemotherapy medications and new blood lipid lowering drugs that the state will "need to look at very closely," Ms. Eggleston said.

But the costs of these medications can raise eyebrows. The state already has some experience with Sovaldi as the Department of Corrections has used it for the inmates who are the sickest with Hepatitis-C, and Chris Gautz, spokesperson for the department, said it has cost the department $80,000 for each treatment course. There have been as many as 60 courses performed, and the department was able to secure $5 million in the 2014-15 budget to cover the costs of Sovaldi.

With the drug now available to treat Medicaid patients with Hepatitis-C, the number of potential patients would be higher and total potential costs higher.

While studies have indicated Sovaldi can cure Hepatitis-C, Orkambi cannot cure cystic fibrosis, but has the potential to limit hospitalizations and greatly improve the quality of life for children with cystic fibrosis. But the estimated cost per year of using the drug is now $250,000 for each child, said DHHS Director Nick Lyon.

The costs of handling both drugs could approach $120 million annually, Mr. Lyon said. Covering those costs will require legislative action of some sort, and for the current fiscal year that could include either a supplemental appropriation or a transfer.

The state's Budget Office has already been engaged in discussions on the anticipated costs, officials said.

Corrections is expanding the number of inmates sick with Hepatitis-C who can be treated with Sovaldi (though they would still be among the sickest inmates with the disease), but Mr. Gautz said it was uncertain at this point what the additional treatments would cost.

In terms of Sovaldi, which received federal approval in 2014, Michigan is behind many other states in adding it to its Medicaid formulary. Ms. Eggleston said during the committee review process, it discussed the medication with specialists and looked at the Medicaid systems in other states before adding it to Michigan's formulary.

Orkambi was approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration this past July. While Ms. Eggleston did not know how many states in total have approved the drug, just two other Great Lakes states - Ohio and Wisconsin - had added it to their formularies.

While the costs of the drugs can appear startling, the potential of the drugs to help patients and possibly save the state in more expensive long-term treatments at a later time justify the costs, officials said.

Ms. Eggleston said "studies do demonstrate" that Sovaldi can cure Hepatitis-C.

And while there is no definitive study that Orkambi could prolong life for children with cystic fibrosis, it can improve the quality of their life, she said, and researchers hope it can extend those children's lives.

Mr. Gautz said for the sickest inmates with Hepatitis-C their future could include cancer treatment or liver transplants, which would cost the department or Medicaid (if they are paroled) as much or more than the cost of Sovaldi.

And, "to deny a drug for financial reasons is not supportable," Mr. Gautz said.

Meekhof, Cotter Working Auto Insurance Reforms For Next Year

While the energy debate and resolving Detroit Public Schools' debt are sure to be main headlines in 2016, Senate Majority Leader Arian Meekhof also plans to continue work on auto insurance reforms sent to the House this year with some help from House Speaker Kevin Cotter.

"We have some of the highest auto insurance rates. Some of it is related to the medical side, some of it is related to the collision side - we're just trying to find a better path," Mr. Meekhof (R-West Olive) said in a recent interview with Gongwer News Service. "This has been an ongoing battle, especially for seniors and folks who don't drive their car very much but they have that piece on there that gets on every car."

Mr. Meekhof said one thing he and the speaker are looking to avoid is "something like Colorado, who went totally away from auto no-fault and it significantly raised their Medicaid rates," the majority leader described.

"My preference would be not to get rid of no-fault. I think there's pieces of it that are really, really good but we need to do it better," he said. "The courts have made some rulings that have made it difficult where we didn't make it clear so we need more clarification."

The Senate sent a pair of bills (~~SB 248~~ and ~~SB 249~~) over to the House in April, and the House Insurance Committee reported them shortly thereafter, but there has been no action on the bills since the end of April.

Mr. Meekhof said those are the bills he and Mr. Cotter are working to try to figure out: "Either amend them and send them back, or concur in pieces of it to get it done," he said.

One point of difference, though, between the House and Senate priorities is on the issue of retail "dark stores." The House has put together a work group on the issue (See Gongwer Michigan Report, December 11, 2015), but when asked if that would be an item on his list for 2016, Mr. Meekhof said it hadn't come up as a caucus issue just yet.

"But it probably bears a lot of scrutiny, especially in these communities where there's a lot of property owned by the public where they don't have as much opportunity to make up that tax base if something happens," he said. "It's a significant issue in many communities, especially if they don't have economic growth opportunities."

He said Sen. Tom Casperson (R-Escanaba) was at the forefront of that issue last term and could be the point-person on it again. The issue wasn't resolved, Mr. Meekhof said, simply because other things were in front of it. Mr. Casperson again has introduced legislation on the bill.

"There was no effort to keep it back," Mr. Meekhof said.

ENERGY AND DPS: Mr. Meekhof was not shy in stating two major policies as the likely focus for 2016: crafting the right energy policy and getting bipartisan support for a package of bills that would help resolve the request of Governor Rick Snyder to provide $715 million for Detroit Public Schools' debt over 10 years.

Mr. Meekhof said he was unsure when the full Senate could vote on an energy policy, "but it's likely Senator Nofs will introduce something in January," he said of the Senate Energy and Technology Committee chair. "Given the other stuff that's on our plate right now, I think Senator Nofs is wise to say, in order for this not to get caught up in the discussion for this year, let's move it into the first part of next year."

"This is one of those policy areas in which if we make some changes here, it has ramifications for 10, 20 and 30 years," Mr. Meekhof said. "He's cognizant of that and wants to make sure he can sell it to his colleagues, land in the right spot for Michigan."

On DPS, the majority leader said the first hurdle the policy has to get over is finding sponsors from the other side of the aisle, "folks that actually represent that geographic area," Mr. Meekhof said.

"Not that they're reluctant, it's just this is difficult stuff. You're talking about peoples' kids" he continued. "Sen. Hansen has done a terrific job walking through this, trying to find a spot to get it introduced. ... The (number one) item to me is performance for those kids - how do we get in front of them performance improvement, that they want to improve, that qualifies them to get those cool jobs in Detroit that continues to attract and build Detroit?"

Mr. Meekhof said part of the discussion between Senate Democrats and Mr. Hansen, among others involved in the issue, is the question of governance structure. Democrats have been adamant that they want to try to return power to school boards and locally elected officials who are closest to the situation in the city.

MORE ON ROAD FUNDING: When the Senate finished its work on a road funding solution for the state, Mr. Meekhof indicated that there would likely be more to come yet on the issue, and he maintained that in his interview with Gongwer.

"There's a small group that had a few ideas that didn't make it into the package that they still want to work on," he said.

"What I hope doesn't happen is there's something critical that happens, a bridge fails and we have to re-allocate or do something differently."

But he said he has confidence in the Department of Transportation to know and be held accountable to accomplishing the most critical things first.

"There may be some other things around that, but that would be a case-by-case basis," he said, declining to dive deeper into further specifics.

GUBERNATORIAL RUN: As most candidates currently holding office with time to spare would say, Mr. Meekhof said in response to a question about his interest in running for governor in 2018 that he is "very happy" in his current role as majority leader.

"I haven't grown up at my age at 56. I don't think I have to, so I don't know what I want to do," he said. "I still enjoy this job and I'm having a lot of fun doing it. I honestly don't know."

But he did not turn down the possibility either.

"I've said, if I do this job well, I have plenty of opportunities. And that's not why I'm doing this job. I think every one of my colleagues would agree - in the normal course of business, they probably made more money. Nobody cared what they did on the weekend. And people didn't demand you be at every parade and everything like that when you weren't an elected position.

"The burden of leadership is great, but it's also an opportunity to shape Michigan for the future," Mr. Meekhof said. "For most of my colleagues that are my age, a lot of those opportunities may not exist like they do for our kids and grandkids, and we try to make it better for their opportunities."

He said he still maintains his mantra from his first campaign when he talked about the Great Lakes (because he lives on the lakeshore) and how important it is to turn that asset over to kids and grandkids so they can enjoy it just the same.

"We are stewards to that and making sure that can happen, and I think that's true of our economic things and educational institutions," Mr. Meekhof said. "The effort is to try to make it better for them."

Kivela Pleads Guilty To Lesser Drunken Driving Charge

ST. JOHNS - Rep. John Kivela on Friday pleaded guilty to operating while intoxicated while a more serious charge of drunken driving with a high blood alcohol content was dropped through a plea deal with the Clinton County prosecutor. Mr. Kivela will be sentenced at 8:30 a.m. January 19. He will be required to pay $1,510 in fines, will receive six points on his driver's license and faces up to two years' probation, Judge Michael Clarizio with the 65A District Court said.

Mr. Clarizio asked Mr. Kivela a series of questions before accepting his guilty plea to ensure Mr. Kivela understood his rights.

"Are you pleading guilty because you are indeed guilty, sir?" He asked Mr. Kivela.

"Yes, sir," Mr. Kivela responded.

Mr. Kivela's lesser charge comes after he was arrested on November 9 for driving drunk on U.S. 127 just outside of Lansing. He told the judge Friday he had a blood alcohol level of .22 and a .23 when he returned to the police station. Mr. Kivela also told the judge he had consumed beer and vodka the night of his arrest. Mr. Kivela's charge for having an open intoxicant in the vehicle was also dropped, but according to the Detroit Free Press, Mr. Kivela did have an open bottle of whiskey in the vehicle.

The judge also permitted Mr. Kivela to leave the state early next month with his family.

Josh Pugh, a spokesperson for Mr. Kivela with Grassroots Midwest, said Mr. Kivela's alcoholism treatment continues to go well. Mr. Kivela sought treatment immediately after his arrest and is required to stay sober until he is sentenced.

"John's recovery program has been going very well, and today's hearing was a positive step for John and his family," Mr. Pugh said in a statement. "John had a great week of work in Lansing and he's grateful to all of his colleagues, constituents, and friends who have offered their thoughts and prayers."

A message left with the prosecutor's office about why it agreed to the lesser charge was not returned. No one from the prosecutor's office was present in court Friday.

Legislative Black Caucus Requests State Of Emergency In Flint

As Flint Mayor Karen Weaver and the city council declared a state of emergency in the city because of the ongoing drinking water crisis, the Legislative Black Caucus on Friday asked the administration of Governor Rick Snyder to do the same, though city officials have not yet asked for that from the state, a Department of State Police official said. The caucus said in a statement the issuance of a state of emergency would help address continuing health concerns caused by the increased lead levels in the city's water and give the city access to federal dollars.

The city has stopped pulling water from the Flint River, but the caucus said the state of emergency is in response to continuing reports and studies that indicate the presence of coliform bacteria and high levels of lead in the city's drinking water.

Rep. Sheldon Neeley (D-Flint), vice chairman of the LBC, said he is working with local, state and federal officials to find solutions and resources. He said a state-declared health emergency will allow the city to access federal funding.

"Issuing a health emergency is the most responsible thing to do," Mr. Neeley said. "This is a public health crisis, and our children are most at risk. We urge Gov. Snyder to issue the state of emergency so the city of Flint can get immediate monetary relief."

But Chris Kelenske, the deputy state director of emergency management and homeland security with the Department of State Police, said the city and the county are currently operating under the state's emergency protocols and have not yet asked for the state to declare an emergency.

Mr. Kelenske said he currently has an MSP official in the city working as a liaison and the department is plugged in to what is happening in the city.

"Right now what they have done is Flint has put in place their ... emergency operations plan," he said.

To get additional state resources and even federal dollars, the city would have to have a very specific list of the resources they need, he said. He said the federal government's first question would be what specific needs the city has.

"State assistance is used to supplement ... local resources. It is not to be used to simple budgetary relief," he said. "There is a process in place and it is just a matter of making sure that we follow the process as well as looking at other avenues of funding."

Anna Heaton, spokesperson for Governor Rick Snyder, also said the administration has been working closely with officials in Flint. She noted the state has given $10 million in grants and other assistance to help cover the temporary switch in water source and improve existing water infrastructure.

"The administration also has in place an action plan that includes increased testing, free filters and other steps to help residents," Ms. Heaton said. "The governor also appointed a bipartisan task force charged with reviewing all of the city, state and federal government actions and recommending changes looking forward that can address potential challenges in Flint and other cities."

In its statement, the caucus said blood tests taken before and after the city ended its contract with the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department and began using Flint River water showed that the number of Flint children with elevated blood-lead levels had jumped from 2.1 percent to 4 percent. Additional tests have disclosed that the blood-lead levels of children living in the poorest Flint neighborhoods have jumped from 2.5 percent to 6.3 percent, the statement said.

"Water is a basic human right," Rep. LaTanya Garrett (D-Detroit) said. "Many of our urban communities have succumb to various water issues. We have a due diligence to work tirelessly to provide relief to our citizens."

Calls Emerge For Snyder To Veto Campaign Finance Bill

Open government activists and the Michigan Municipal League urged Governor Rick Snyder to veto a hastily assembled last-minute bill passed Wednesday that would crimp the ability of local governments to discuss local ballot proposals and prevent corporations from collecting contributions from employees to union political action committees.

The bill, SB 571, as originally passed by the Senate, dealt with the relatively innocuous matter of letting organizations collect membership dues and PAC contributions at the same time.

But late Wednesday, as the Legislature was wrapping up session for the year, the House more than quadrupled the size of the bill and added several new provisions (See Gongwer Michigan Report, December 16, 2015).

The MML denounced the language that would bar local governments from any communications to the public about local millage proposals, charter amendments or ordinance changes within 60 days of the election.

"This language was inserted without any notice to the League or other local government organizations and moved without any public testimony, let alone public awareness of what was in the new version of the bill," MML lobbyist Chris Hackbarth wrote in a blog post.

Mr. Hackbarth said the limit could amount to a violation of freedom of speech because it does not account for other language in the Michigan Campaign Finance Act that allows elected and appointed officials to speak out on ballot proposals without fear of violating the act. It also would affect community newsletters and programs aired on local public access channels, he said.

"This language puts an undue burden on communities and their residents, blocking access to unbiased, objective communication on the local issues that matter most to the residents in every community in Michigan," Mr. Hackbarth wrote.

Already, Common Cause and the Michigan Campaign Finance Network had criticized the bill, with Common Cause urging a veto, citing the end of the February reporting deadline for independent PACs (deadlines in July, October and January would remain).

"The Michigan Legislature should make real-time reporting of independent expenditures in all elections its highest order of business when it comes to amending the Michigan Campaign Finance Act", Rich Robinson of the Michigan Campaign Finance Network said in a statement. "Citizens should have a right to know who is paying for all campaign messages before Election Day."

A message left with Mr. Snyder's office was not immediately returned, though typically Mr. Snyder would offer no hint of his intention to sign or veto a bill until he actually signs or vetoes it.

DTMB Cited For Technology Storage, Access

The Department of Management and Budget is not properly restricting access to information technology equipment and is not ensuring that equipment is being properly stored, Auditor General Doug Ringler said in a report released Friday. The performance audit of physical security and environmental controls over information technology resources for the period October 1, 2012, through July 31, 2015, found the department was not always locating communications equipment in separate rooms and, even when it was, those rooms were not always properly secured.

The department was also not ensuring the equipment was protected from conditions that could damage it.

The auditors did find the department was generally adequate in protecting the servers, switches and cabling, but of 163 rooms designated for telecommunications equipment across 83 buildings (the state has 790 buildings), 12 were shared space. Auditors said federal standards require that each building have one dedicated main telecommunications room and that each floor of the building have a room for the equipment on that floor. Those rooms are supposed to be accessible only to authorized staff.

In a related lesser finding, auditors said the department was also not ensuring its access records were up to date. Of the 186 access authorizations across two hosting centers and eight switch rooms, 15 were for former employees and nine were for people who had not undergone a background check.

In addition to controlling access, DTMB was also not controlling the items brought into those rooms, auditors said. The federal standards call for dust and fire control in rooms containing IT equipment and recommend prohibiting food and beverages.

Auditors found evidence of food in five of the eight switch rooms and 20 of the 163 telecommunications rooms in the buildings reviewed. They also found those rooms being used for general storage in the case of one of the three hosting centers, seven of the switch rooms and 122 of the telecommunications rooms.

In an unusual step for an audit report, auditors included photographs of some of the offenses, including several telecommunications rooms with general storage, one with cables hanging into the middle of the room. In one instance, the equipment was installed in a garage above a hose reel.

Department officials agreed with the findings and, as to physical access, said they would review equipment location and move it to a secure room where possible. Officials indicated some challenges meeting the standards in leased buildings. Officials said they had already begun cleaning the rooms and would establish a cleaning schedule for those rooms. The department is also implementing a policy prohibiting general storage in those rooms, as well as possession of food and drinks, and would be posting signs to that effect on the rooms.

Auditors also cited the department for not having replacement schedules for mechanical equipment serving its hosting centers and switch rooms. In two of the three hosting centers and four of the eight switch rooms, auditors found air conditioning units, uninterruptible power supplies and surge suppressors that were beyond their recommended lifespan. DTMB officials said they replace equipment based on technician recommendation and budget capacity but would plan for the coming year to replace the items identified by auditors.

In two other findings, auditors said the department was not keeping accurate inventories of its equipment (they found new items that were not recorded) and was not maintaining preventative maintenance records.

20 States Had Higher Jobless Rates Than Michigan In November

Michigan was one of just 11 states to see its unemployment rate creep up during November, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, but 20 other states had seasonally adjusted unemployment rates higher than Michigan.

At 5.1 percent, Michigan tied with Delaware and Connecticut during November.

And Michigan had the second-highest jobless rate of the Great Lakes states. Illinois was the highest at 5.7 percent. Below Michigan came Pennsylvania at 5 percent, then New York at 4.8 percent, Ohio at 4.5 percent, Indiana at 4.4 percent, Wisconsin at 4.2 percent and then Minnesota at 3.5 percent.

New Mexico had the highest unemployment rate at 6.8 percent, followed by West Virginia and Nevada at 6.5 percent.

Alaska had a jobless rate of 6.4 percent, followed then by Louisiana at 6.3 percent. Three states - Alabama, Arizona and Mississippi - came in at 6 percent. Illinois tied with California, Oregon and North Carolina at 5.7 percent. South Carolina stood at 5.5 percent, New Jersey was at 5.3 percent and Maryland was at 5.2 percent.

State Employee Unions Seek To Avoid 'Cadillac Tax' In ACA

It is too soon to say whether the federal government's recent move to delay the tax on the most generous health insurance plans, known as the "Cadillac Tax," by two years will mean the administration of Governor Rick Snyder seeks another one-year contract on wages and health insurance with state employees, state officials say.

On Friday, President Barack Obama signed into law something his administration had resisted but a bipartisan coalition in Congress strongly sought - a two-year delay, until 2020, of the 40 percent tax on health plans costing at least $10,200 for individual coverage and $27,500 for family coverage.

When the state reached tentative agreements with the unions representing state employees in the fall, the Michigan Corrections Organization said the reason the state had sought a one-year deal on wages and health insurance but the traditional three-years on everything else was uncertainty about the implementation of the Cadillac Tax, which at the time was schedule to take effect in January 2018, in the third year of a three-year contract.

State Employer Marie Waalkes had declined to comment on the situation until after the unions had ratified the contracts. That process concluded December 11, and the Civil Service Commission gave final approval to the new contracts last week.

Ms. Waalkes, responding in writing to questions relayed to her via State Budget Office spokesperson Kurt Weiss, said the state and employee unions agreed in the most recent contract to steps to avoid the imposition of the Cadillac Tax on the state. The value of the health plan is calculated by combining the employer share and employee share of premiums as well as employee contributions to a flex spending fund for medical expenses that has a maximum contribution amount of $2,550.

Had the delay not occurred and the federal government concluded that Michigan's state employee coverage qualified for the Cadillac Tax, the state and employees agreed to reduce as necessary or eliminate the flexible spending plan as a first step to bring the state under the threshold.

Using 40,000 state employees with individual coverage at the minimum level to qualify of $10,200, the tax would cost the state $163.2 million.

"The parties also agreed to meet throughout 2016 to discuss options to avoid the excise tax, and agreed that if such options are not successful the parties will negotiate terms of the health insurance plan with an end result that will provide the costs stay below the excise tax threshold," Ms. Waalkes said.

The state, prior to Mr. Obama signing the two-year delay, had been preparing for the U.S. Internal Revenue Service to issue final regulations on the tax next year. The two-year delay will aid in planning, Ms. Waalkes said. That is why the state wanted only a one-year deal on wages and health insurance, so it could fully evaluate whether the state would fall beneath the tax threshold, she said.

"Moving the effective date two years means there will be more time to discuss and evaluate existing health plans and projected increases in costs year after year," she said. "The intent of the employer is to stay below the federal excise tax threshold."

Census: State Slowly Growing, Could Lose Congressional Seat

Michigan's population grew slightly from 2014 to 2015, helped by births and immigration, but the rate of growth is slow enough that the state could lose another congressional seat, figures released Tuesday by the U.S. Census Bureau showed.

In fact, Kurt Metzger, founder of Data Driven Detroit and mayor of Pleasant Ridge, said it is clear that Michigan will lose another U.S. House member following the 2020 census and there is nothing the state can do to stop it.

Mr. Metzger said there is also some troubling data in the latest report, as it shows the number of people leaving the state has grown even though the state's economy has improved.

In fact, the number of people that left Michigan from July 2014 to July 2015 was the largest since 2011, when Governor Rick Snyder first took office and the state began to see improvements in its unemployment rate.

The figures show that Michigan is the nation's 10th most populous state with an estimated 9.922 million. The state grew by just 6,270 people during the past year.

And it was surpassed by North Carolina, now the 9th-largest state with more than 10 million people.

Michigan is still more than 1 million people larger than New Jersey, the 11th-largest state in the nation.

And the state has seen its population grow by some 45,000 people since it stood at 9.877 million people in 2010 (when it was the only state to lose population from 2000 to 2010).

A total of states, even in sunshine areas, lost population during the year: Illinois, West Virginia, Connecticut, Mississippi, Vermont, Maine and New Mexico. North Dakota was in terms of percentage the largest growing state, with growth of 2.3 percent. The state was helped by the energy industry, but still it had a total population of 756,927, the 47th largest state. And Mr. Metzger said because states like North Carolina (which grew by more than 100,000 people in the last year), Texas, Florida and others continue to outpace every other state in growth there is virtually nothing the Midwest can do to counter that kind of growth.

"We might as well prepare ourselves" for losing at least one seat in the U.S. House of Representatives following the 2020 census, Mr. Metzger said. Losing one seat would mean Michigan would have 13 members of the House, the lowest number in more than a century. It would also mark fifth consecutive census that resulted in the state losing at least once congressional member.

From the 1960s to the 1980 census, the state had 19 members of the U.S. House.

The state saw some 24,000 immigrants come into the state and its highest total of births this decade, more than 114,000, which was 24,000 more than the number of deaths.

But the state saw outmigration to other states of more than 38,000 which put the state second behind Illinois in terms of the largest outmigration.

Mr. Metzger said it was unclear what was the cause of that outflow, and officials would have to watch to see if the trend repeats in another year.

While some of it may be due to retirees leaving the state for milder weather, Mr. Metzger said it could also be that younger people are searching out what they see as better job opportunities.

Michigan has seen job growth over the last five years, but much of it may be in lower paying jobs such as retail trade, Mr. Metzger said. There are indications that graduates of the state's best known universities, Michigan State University and the University of Michigan, are still more likely to go to other states than graduates of the other schools.

Mr. Metzger said the state has a significant split on the age ranges of its residents. While the Detroit metro area is the third most concentrated in the nation in terms of Baby Boomers, he said, it is 49th in terms of Millennials.

Library Association Joins Protest On Ballot Issues Bill

Michigan's libraries have joined with other public agencies protesting a major rewrite of the state's campaign finance law that the libraries said could result in librarians going to jail if they provide information on local ballot issues.

The libraries have also started an online petition - which as of Tuesday had nearly 2,000 signatures - calling on Governor Rick Snyder to veto SB 571.

SB 571 has not yet been presented to Mr. Snyder. The bill's initial purpose was to make clear it is legal for organizations to accept in one payment membership dues and a political action committee contribution.

However, the Legislature also added a provision that for 60 days before an election on a local ballot issue, a public body or a person acting for a public body (which could include local employees or elected board members) could not "use public funds for a communication by means of radio, television, mass mailing or prerecorded telephone message if that communication references a local ballot question and is targeted to the relevant electorate where the local ballot question appears on the ballot."

That would prevent public local officials from distributing information even to simply tell voters there is an issue on the ballot in the two months before the election, even if it takes no position on the issue.

Libraries have been a local source of information on election issues in the past.

In a statement, the Michigan Library Association said the measure would "block access to unbiased, objective, communications and dissemination of information, the very definition of a library's purpose. It reduces transparency and impedes open communications between libraries and their communities."

And the organization says the "hastily crafted legislation does not respect the need to inform and educate voters."

Other organizations such as the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Association of School Administrators have also called on Mr. Snyder to veto the bill, saying it is so broadly written city council and school board members could not even discuss a ballot issue during a meeting, if the meeting were broadcast on public access television.

Supporters of the bill have accused opponents of trying to obscure what they said is an attempt to stop government funded "propaganda" in favor of ballot issues, especially tax issues. Local officials can speak out on ballot issues, but not use local money to do so.

Michigan Has 'Reasonable Path' To Compliance Of EPA Rule, Officials Determine

Michigan is well on its way to compliance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Clean Power Plan on reducing emissions, a preliminary review by the Michigan Agency for Energy and Department of Environmental Quality has found, and could continue maintaining business as usual for at least another decade.

The two agencies announced Tuesday they completed preliminary baseline modeling showing that if Michigan maintains the status quo with 1 percent annual energy waste reduction per year - less than the amount utilities are actually achieving at around 1.4 percent - and the state's electric demand doesn't exceed 1.2 percent growth per year (which would be more than the historical average), it is set to be in compliance with the EPA rule through at least 2025, and in one scenario, 2028.

"This helps us much better understand in relation to the rule. We were able to, just with some technical experts, feel comfortable there was a path to compliance," MAE Executive Director Valerie Brader said in a press call. "With these modeling results, we have a much clearer path to compliance."

The announcement was the first step in a series of actions the two will take before finally submitting a draft proposal to the U.S. EPA in September 2016. At that time, it will also request a two-year extension on compliance, a provision which was included in the final proposal by the federal agency and one that numerous states expect to request.

The deadline for a fully enforceable plan is September 6, 2018.

If the request is denied, DEQ Director Dan Wyant said in the press call, Michigan would be unable to comply with the federal rule, but he and Ms. Brader are cautiously optimistic about their chances given the provision was something that was added after extensive input from all the states on the Clean Power Plan.

"We think they understand that is required," he said. "That's a decision they'll have to make at that time but the construction of the rule recognized that giving any less than three years would make it difficult for states, including Michigan, to comply."

And some investments would need to be made prior to 2025 in order to continue compliance for the federal rule, Ms. Brader said. The federal rule hopes to achieve 32 percent less carbon pollution than industries had contributed in 2005 by 2030 when the Clean Power Plan is fully implemented.

Michigan specifically is expected to reduce its emissions 31 percent by 2030. Ms. Brader said the initial outlook considered previously announced coal plant retirements, and in fact that is one of the reasons Michigan can rest easy for a little while. Between 2013 and 2020, 25 different coal units will retire in Michigan, Ms. Brader noted.

"In addition, the continuation of our energy waste reduction is helpful," she said, as is the fact that Michigan already has some renewable energy units to help adapt to demand.

DTE Energy on Monday announced it would break ground in the spring of 2016 on 45 megawatts of new solar generating capacity at two projects sites in Lapeer - enough to generate power for 9,000 average-sized homes, it said in a statement. When completed, DTE said it will be the largest operating utility-owned photovoltaic solar array east of the Mississippi and the third-largest in the county.

The projects come with the approval by the Public Service Commission of DTE's contract with Inovateus Solar MI, LLC. The only potential downside of the announcement by the MAE and DEQ is that it assumed natural gas prices would remain relatively low, and some did not agree with that assumption.

"We urge Governor Snyder and his team not to rely too heavily on natural gas at the expense of clean, renewable energy like wind and solar when it comes to meeting Michigan's energy needs," said Liesl Clark, president of the Michigan

Energy Innovation Business Council, in a statement. "The initial Clean Power Plan modeling released today by the state of Michigan assumes the lowest-cost scenario for natural gas, which also poses the greatest risk for residential and business ratepayers. Clean energy will reduce that risk should the 'best-case' scenario for energy prices fail to materialize."

But the announcement is indeed only the first step in a longer process. Ms. Brader said the state will launch its carbon rule website in mid-January, which will include information on how to be involved in the stakeholder process and offer opportunity to comment on plan development. It will also have the compliance process timeline, results of state modeling efforts, news, documents and more.

She expects to take the first round of public input between January and March, and a summary of reports should be available by late April. The DEQ will then prepare an initial draft of that state plan in the spring, making adjustments through the summer until finally submitting a draft proposal September 6, 2016.

Ms. Brader said they will continue looking at different modeling to see what Michigan will have to do after this decade of basic compliance as well as how Michigan could fare if it had more renewable energy units that emit far fewer, if any, carbon emissions. But she said she would expect that given how cheap renewable energy projects are coming for incumbent utilities that they would continue moving in that direction with or without a mandate from the state.

Some legislators have introduced legislation to allow the Legislature to review whatever greenhouse gas emissions plan the administration comes up with before it sends it to the federal government (SB 439 and SB 455). That legislation came on the heels of Ms. Brader and Mr. Wyant saying the state would develop its own plan on greenhouse gas emissions, and a plan that would not need legislative approval (See Gongwer Michigan Report, September 1, 2015).

Ms. Brader maintained that mantra on Tuesday. She some helpful points in legislation currently before the House and still being debated in a Senate committee are the provisions for allowing for a greater planning process. The House proposal also allows the state to look at reliability, affordability, adaptability and other variables in that planning process, she said. But "the state of Michigan already has the authority it needs to develop this plan" without the Legislature, Ms. Brader said Tuesday, though having both plans "is helpful" no less.

Sen. Mike Shirkey (R-Clarklake) is the sponsor of one of those bills to require legislative input on the plan, though he notes that input is different from approval. He said he and Sen. Tom Casperson (R-Escanaba) still view their legislation as a high priority.

"We ran out of bandwidth (in 2015) and it's a high priority in 2016 because of things like this," he said. "We're going to be faced more and more with federal requirements and states having to respond."

He said there is a tendency for the state or bureaucrats to fix an issue themselves and that's the reason for the legislation, so the Legislature has a chance for a real review of a major issue.

He also questioned the true level of urgency to address Michigan's energy policy if what the two departments said is true in terms of the state's ability to maintain the status quo.

"If that's the case, then we've been fed some interesting information from incumbent utilities when they claim all the problems we've got to address. It just adds further skepticism to what urgency there is to us having to upgrade our energy policy," Mr. Shirkey said. "That's not to say it's not time for us to do it, it's just I'm not convinced it's the emergency (some would have us believe)."

SFA Revenue Outlook Offers Mixed Bag

The Senate Fiscal Agency on Tuesday issued its economic outlook on revenues through fiscal year 2017-18 showing more-than-expected revenues for the General Fund and School Aid Fund for the most recent fiscal year but a potentially tight revenue year for the current fiscal year.

Preliminary final fiscal year 2014-15 General Fund and School Aid Fund revenue totaled $21.9 billion, the SFA analysis determined, up 6.8 percent from fiscal year 2013-14 and $320.3 million above the May 2015 consensus estimate.

"The increase reflects an improving economy that boosted income tax revenue, and less-than-expected refunds under the Michigan Business Tax and individual income tax," the analysis noted.

The January revenue estimating conference will involve this estimate, as well as those from the House Fiscal Agency and the Department of Treasury.

But the economy will grow more slowly in the 2015-16 fiscal year than the most recent fiscal year, the SFA said, and MBT refunds are expected to increase. As a result, the combined GF and SAF revenue will total an estimated $22.1 billion, it said, a 0.6 percent increase from fiscal year 2014-15. That revised forecast is $55.1 million below the May 2015 consensus estimate.

And in fiscal year 2016-17, the combined GF and SAF revenue will total an estimated $22.6 billion, the SFA estimated, a 2.6 percent increase from the current fiscal year but $80.6 million below the May 2015 consensus estimate.

Specifically, it expects GF revenue will total an estimated $10.2 billion, an increase of 2.7 percent from the current fiscal year that reflects slower employment growth and increased revenue reductions attributable to personal property tax reform, it said. But SAF revenue will rise to an estimated $12.4 billion, a 2.5 percent increase.

In terms of year-end balance estimates, the SFA estimated the fiscal year 2014-15 GF budget will close the fiscal year with an $815.9 million balance, and the SAF budget will close with a $217.4 million balance, it said, based on accounting of state revenue and expenditures as of December 17, 2015.

And a comparison of the SFA's fiscal year 2015-16 revenue estimates with enacted and projected appropriations leads to a $701.2 million GF balance and a $59.8 million balance in the School Aid Fund.

Looking ahead to the fiscal year 2016-17 budget, there is a projected GF balance of $345.4 million if the agency's revenue estimate is compared with GF estimated expenditures that freeze ongoing and one-time spending at the fiscal year 2015-16 level and are adjusted for caseload and costs, as well as economic factors.

As for the SAF, the comparison estimated expenditures that adjust the fiscal year 2015-16 level of funding for estimated pupils and other costs, the projected SAF surplus for fiscal year 2016-17 is $17.4 million

"Although the year-end balance estimates are healthy, future budget pressures, such as GF/GP funding for road projects, increases in Medicaid costs, and potential aid for school districts in financial distress, will require more state resources," the agency cautioned. "The magnitude of this requirement will pose challenges to balancing the state's budget going forward."

NOVEMBER REVENUES: Revenues to the state's General and School Aid funds fell almost $80 million below expectations in Novembers, thanks to larger than expected Michigan Business Tax refunds, the Senate Fiscal Agency reported Tuesday.

General Fund revenues fell $77.5 million below expectations while revenues to the School Aid Fund were down $6.2 million from the forecasted level.

The major culprit was the Michigan Business Tax, which produced $98.9 million in negative revenue as a result of higher than expected refunds.

The income tax, however, was up from November 2014 by 8.9 percent and the sales tax also was up, by 3.8 percent. Reflecting strong performance in the auto industry, sales tax revenues from motor vehicles was up 14 percent from November 2014.

PSC Directs Utilities To File Assessments On Meeting Customer Demand

The Public Service Commission on Tuesday directed all Michigan-regulated electric utilities to file, by April 21, 2016, assessments of their ability to meet customers' expected electric requirements in the 2016 through 2020 timeframe. The order (Case U-17992) also asks alternative electric supplier to file similar assessments by that date, as well as requests that the Midcontinent Independent System Operator, PJM Interconnection, American Transmission Company, LLC, Michigan Electric Transmission Company and International Transmission Company submit comments by May 12, 2016, on relevant issues to the investigation.

"Last year's assessment covering five years provided the MPSC with a meaningful picture of the supply outlook and associated risks for the state as a whole and for individual providers," said PSC Chair John Quackenbush, in a statement.

"Today's order again calls for five years of information that will assist the MPSC as it works toward assuring that Michigan's energy future is one that is built on adaptability, reliability, affordability and environmental protection as the focus."

Persons wishing to comment on the filed assessments and/or the possibility of future capacity needs have until May 12, 2016 to do so. Comments referencing the case number may be emailed to mpscedockets@michigan.gov, the PSC said.

All information submitted to the commission in this matter will become public information, available on the commission's website, and subject to disclosure.

CLOVERLAND ELECTRIC: The PSC also approved a settlement (case U-17313-R) to reconcile its 2014 power supply cost recover costs and increase its rates by more than $1.9 million annually, resulting in an increase of $1.73 on the monthly bills of residential customers on the Farm and Home Service Rate using 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month. Former Edison Sault residential customers on the Rate R-1 using the same amount of electricity a month will see an increase of $1.36 on their monthly bills. Both increases are effective with the next full billing cycle.

The PSC also determined, in a separate case (Case U-17971), that Cloverland Electric Cooperative has met legal requirements to become member-regulated effective January 19, 2016.

CONSUMERS ENERGY: The PSC also approved on Tuesday an agreement authorizing Consumers Energy to amend its energy optimization plan for 2016 and 2017, resulting in a decrease of 1 cent on the monthly bills of residential electric customers using 500 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month, and a decrease of 7 cents on the monthly bills of natural gas customer using 100 ccf of natural gas a month. Both are effective January 2016 (case U-17771).

Lincoln Park Back To Local Control, No Municipal Emergency Managers Active

For the first time in 15 years, there are no emergency managers in charge of a municipal government in the state as Lincoln Park has been turned back to local control.

Governor Rick Snyder on Tuesday accepted the recommendation of Lincoln Park Emergency Manager Brad Coulter that the Detroit suburb's financial emergency is resolved.

In accepting the recommendation, Mr. Snyder also named a receivership transition advisory board to help ensure the city maintains fiscal stability.

With the release of Lincoln Park, Mr. Snyder called it a great day for Michigan as the city has shown how the system can work to resolve ongoing financial problems.

While no city emergency managers are operating, three school districts - Detroit, Highland Park and Muskegon Heights - are under emergency management. Among the cities that have seen emergency managers under Mr. Snyder have been Detroit (which also underwent a bankruptcy), Pontiac, Benton Harbor and Flint.

Because of the drinking water crisis in Flint, the emergency manager system has come under sharp criticism for the role the manager took in moving the city off the Detroit water system to use Flint River water. That improperly treated water interacted with antiquated plumbing systems and led to increased lead levels in many children and older residents.

Such a situation did not occur in Lincoln Park. And in some 18 months, the city has eliminated a general fund deficit of more than $1 million, reduced retiree health care costs by $3 million (much of which is now going to the city's pension system), negotiated a reduction in firefighter overtime costs and reduced costs with its primary health-care provider.

Snyder Signs Court E-Filing Bills

Bills setting up a statewide electronic filing system for all district and circuit courts were signed into law Tuesday by Governor Rick Snyder.

With new fees designed to generate the $40 million to $45 million to establish the system, the bills would help bring those Michigan courts still stuck in a paper-only era into the electronic age.

Under the bills, a person who is found unable to pay the filing fees would be able to get them waived, otherwise the following fees apply:

- $25 in the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, Court of Claims, circuit court and probate court;
- $20 in district court if a claim for relief is both monetary and nonmonetary;
- $5 in small claims court; and
- $10 in district court if the preceding two instances do not apply, including actions for summary proceedings.

"Modernizing state government is a major priority, and as inefficiencies are identified, they are being addressed," Mr. Snyder said in a statement. "Enacting an e-filing system statewide for local courts is a common sense change that saves residents a trip to the courthouse when they need to file a document and eases the burden on employees."

The bills, HB 5028 (PA 230), HB 5029 (PA 231), HB 5030 (PA 232), SB 531 (PA 233), SB 532 (PA 234) and SB 533 (PA 235), take effect January 1.

Mr. Snyder also signed HB 4212 (PA 236, immediate effect) and HB 4215 (PA 237, immediate effect) removing the sunset on the law that allows counties to dissolve their road commissions and have their board of commissioners absorb those duties.

And the governor signed legislation altering the escheats process.

Unclaimed property worth $25 or less would no longer revert to the state under SB 538 (PA 242, immediate effect). The bill also streamlines the Department of Treasury's audit process for businesses with a significant Michigan presence when they request unclaimed property from the state.

Mr. Snyder also signed:

State GOP Official Asked To Pull Down Post Mocking Muslims

Wayne Bradley, the director of African-American outreach for the Michigan Republican Party, removed a post from his Facebook account over the weekend that suggested a Muslim man would propose to a Muslim woman with a piece of dynamite instead of a ring.

Mr. Bradley posted a meme that featured a woman in a niqab (a veil showing only the eyes) looking tearful with an adjacent photo illustration of a small bomb resting in a box that would typically hold an engagement ring. Underneath the emotional-looking woman is the line, "He went to Jihad's."

Accompanying the post, Mr. Bradley wrote, "Bruh ..." with several emojis laughing with tears.

Progress Michigan circulated the post and called for the Michigan Republican Party to fire Mr. Bradley, saying the post was an outrageous attack on Muslims.

Mr. Bradley posted the meme Sunday evening, but by Monday afternoon, it was gone.

"Wayne made an insensitive joke and we asked him to take it down," said Michigan Republican Party spokesperson Sarah Anderson. "He is still an MRP employee. This is much ado about nothing."

Campaign Notes

SICK TIME BALLOT PROPOSAL ENDORSEMENT: The group seeking a ballot proposal requiring employers to offer paid sick time to their employees picked up the support Tuesday of the Michigan Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers.

"I think, for some of us, it's pretty clear that earned paid sick days make sense from public health and social justice perspectives. But what we don't always recognize are the tremendous mental health implications. If someone is experiencing a mental health crisis, it is imperative they have the ability to address the issue without the added stress of not being able to afford to take that time off. This added stress only exacerbates the underlying issues and leads to a less healthy person, physically and mentally," said Maxine Thome, executive director of the National Association of Social Workers of Michigan.

Capital Notebook

WATER CLEANUP GRANTS: The Department of Environmental Quality announced Tuesday it had $25,000 available for the Volunteer River, Stream, and Creek Cleanup Program.

The program, funded through sale of water quality specialty license plates, provides grants to local governments for the cleanup efforts. The applicant has to provide at least a 25 percent match.

Grant applications are posted on the DEQ website and are due January 25.

MINOR TOBACCO SALES: The state has complied with federal limits on tobacco sales to minors for the past 15 years, the Department of Health and Human Services announced Tuesday.

A survey of retailers showed 15.5 percent of them sold tobacco products to minors during the past year, a 2.5 percent decrease from 2014 and within the 20 percent limit for the state to qualify for federal substance abuse program funds.

DHHS Director Nick Lyon said the target over the next two years is to bring that number below the 10.6 percent recorded for 2012.

TRANSPORTATION PLAN: The Department of Transportation announced Tuesday that it planned to adopt its latest long-range plan on July 23. The plan had been scheduled to be completed in May, but recent state and federal changes now have to be incorporated.

The comment period on the plan is now slated to begin May 10.

Attachments: City of Flint Water Funding Solution.pdf
Importance: High

The DHHS number changed slightly from $600k to $850k, bringing the total commitment $10.6m gross/$8.2m GF. Revised chart attached.

*****

Original message:

Attached is a summary of the funding commitments to address the Flint Water situation. The total state commitment is $10.4m; $7.9m of that amount is GF/GP. [The DHHS number needs to be verified tomorrow morning, but the final number should be close to this estimate.]

The funding will address 4 priority areas:

1. Provision of filters for residential service;
2. 50% of the estimated cost to reconnect temporarily to the Detroit Water System;
3. Funding for testing water samples; and
4. Other state assistance (e.g., home/school/health facility inspections and follow-up for children with elevated blood levels).

We are preparing a formal supplemental request to transmit to the Legislature tomorrow. John intends to talk with Rep. Pscholka and Sen. Hildenbrand about including this funding in HB 4102, the pending supplemental bill now awaiting House concurrence. Assuming that they agree, we would ask for final action next week.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our planned approach.

Nancy

Hello. I need a data file ASAP for the governor's office. I pulled what I need from EEM, but the format is horrendous and I would be structuring for hours (manually).

The attached item from CS is not what they want, but a good attempt. I think they want the following:

All ISD, LEA, PSA and Nonpublic Schools and Programs ACTIVE in Flint (physical entities, not the district, but the schools and ancillary facilities). I need the name of the entity, the physical address, the grades and programs in operation (so they can prioritize using this info). An XML file is attached that I think gets close, but parses out the info I queried line by line. Would take hours to physically manipulate.

Hi Tom,

I believe Maggie from DEQ left you a voicemail on this, but the Governors office needs some data CEPI provided on Flint Schools broken down in greater detail. This is time-sensitive and related to discussions involving the Flint water situation that are happening at a fast pace. Can you please assist?

Hi Caroline,

We can pull a mailing list for you with this information. Could you please specify what is meant by "Flint area"? We can search by county, city, or zip code, and we would need to know exactly which regions should be included in the search.

Thank you,

(6) The department may expend money from the funds appropriated in part 1 for the strategic growth initiative for administering the program.

FAIRS AND EXPOSITIONS

Sec. 801. All appropriations from the agriculture equine industry development fund shall be spent on equine-related purposes. No funds from the agriculture equine industry development fund shall be expended for nonequine-related purposes without prior approval of the legislature.

Sec. 802. All appropriations from the agriculture equine

1 industry development fund, except for the Michigan gaming control
2 board's regulatory expenses and the department's expenses to 3 administer horse racing programs and laboratory analysis, shall be 4 reduced proportionately if revenues to the agriculture equine
5 industry development fund decline during the preceding fiscal year
6 to a level lower than the amounts appropriated in part 1.

7       Sec. 803. (1) In the event that there is no live thoroughbred
8 race meet in 2015 or 2016, all purse money and program money
9 appropriated for the thoroughbred industry in fiscal year 2014-2015
10 and fiscal year 2015-2016 shall be held in escrow for a period not 11 to exceed 18 months, or until a thoroughbred race meet license is 12 applied for and granted by the Michigan gaming control board.

13       (2) In the event that there is no live standardbred race meet
14 in 2015 or 2016, all purse money and program money appropriated for 15 the standardbred industry in fiscal year 2014-2015 and fiscal year
16 2015-2016 shall be held in escrow for a period not to exceed 18
17 months, or until a standardbred race meet license is applied for 18 and granted by the Michigan gaming control board.

19       Sec. 804. It is the intent of the legislature that the 20 Michigan gaming control board shall use actual expenditure data in 21 determining the actual regulatory costs of conducting racing dates
22 and shall provide that data to the senate and house of 23 representatives appropriations subcommittees on agriculture and 24 rural development and general government and the fiscal agencies by 25 November 1 of the current fiscal year. The Michigan gaming control 26 board shall not be reimbursed for more than the actual regulatory 27 cost of conducting race dates. If a certified horsemen's

1 organization funds more than the actual regulatory cost, the
2 balance shall remain in the agriculture equine industry development
3 fund to be used to fund subsequent race dates conducted by race
4 meeting licensees with which the certified horsemen's organization
5 has contracts. If a certified horsemen's organization funds less
6 than the actual regulatory costs of the additional horse racing
7 dates, the Michigan gaming control board shall reduce the number of 8 future race dates conducted by race meeting licensees with which 9 the certified horsemen's organization has contracts. Prior to the 10 reduction in the number of authorized race dates due to budget
11 deficits, the executive director of the Michigan gaming control
12 board shall provide notice to the certified horsemen's
13 organizations with an opportunity to respond with alternatives. In
14 determining actual costs, the Michigan gaming control board shall
15 take into account that each specific breed may require different
16 regulatory mechanisms.

17 Sec. 805. (1) The department shall establish and administer a 18 county fairs capital improvement grant program. The program shall 19 assist in the promotion of building improvements or other capital
20 improvements at county fairgrounds of the state.

21 (2) The department shall award grants on a competitive basis
22 to county fair organizations from the funds appropriated in part 1
23 for county fairs capital improvements grants. Grantees will be 24 required to provide a dollar-for-dollar cash match with grant
25 awards and identify measurable project outcomes.

26 (3) The department shall identify criteria, evaluate 27 applications, and provide recommendations to the director for final

1 approval of grant awards.

2 (4) The department may expend money from the funds
3 appropriated in part 1 for the county fairs capital improvement
4 grants for administering the program.

5 (5) The unexpended portion of the county fairs capital
6 improvement grant program is considered a work project
7 appropriation in accordance with the management and budget act,
8 1984 PA 431, MCL 18.1101 to 18.1594.

9 (6) The department shall provide a year-end report no later
10 than December 1, 2016 to the subcommittees and the fiscal agencies,
11 including the grantees, award amount, match funding, and project
12 outcomes.

25   provide additional continuity of care and transition into 26   supportive community-based services.

27       (2) Outcomes and performance measures for this initiative

1 include, but are not limited to, the following:

2 (a) The rate of rehospitalization for youth served through the
3 program at 30 and 180 days.

4 (b) Measured change in the Child and Adolescent Functional
5 Assessment Scale for children served through the program.

6 STATE PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITALS AND FORENSIC MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

7 Sec. 601. The department shall continue a revenue recapture
8 project to generate additional revenues from third parties related 9 to cases that have been closed or are inactive. A portion of 10 revenues collected through project efforts may be used for 11 departmental costs and contractual fees associated with these 12 retroactive collections and to improve ongoing departmental 13 reimbursement management functions.

14 Sec. 602. The purpose of gifts and bequests for patient living
15 and treatment environments is to use additional private funds to 16 provide specific enhancements for individuals residing at state-
17 operated facilities. Use of the gifts and bequests shall be 18 consistent with the stipulation of the donor. The expected
19 completion date for the use of gifts and bequests donations is 20 within 3 years unless otherwise stipulated by the donor.

21 Sec. 605. (1) The department shall not implement any closures
22 or consolidations of state hospitals, centers, or agencies until 23 CMHSPs or PIHPs have programs and services in place for those 24 individuals currently in those facilities and a plan for service
25 provision for those individuals who would have been admitted to 26 those facilities.

1           (2) All closures or consolidations are dependent upon adequate
2 department-approved CMHSP and PIHP plans that include a discharge
3 and aftercare plan for each individual currently in the facility. A
4 discharge and aftercare plan shall address the individual's housing
5 needs. A homeless shelter or similar temporary shelter arrangements
6 are inadequate to meet the individual's housing needs.

7           (3) Four months after the certification of closure required in 8 section 19(6) of the state employees' retirement act, 1943 PA 240,
9 MCL 38.19, the department shall provide a closure plan to the house 10 and senate appropriations subcommittees on community health and the 11 state budget director.

12           (4) Upon the closure of state-run operations and after 13 transitional costs have been paid, the remaining balances of funds
14 appropriated for that operation shall be transferred to CMHSPs or 15 PIHPs responsible for providing services for individuals previously
16 served by the operations.

17           Sec. 606. The department may collect revenue for patient
18 reimbursement from first- and third-party payers, including 19 Medicaid and local county CMHSP payers, to cover the cost of 20 placement in state hospitals and centers. The department is 21 authorized to adjust financing sources for patient reimbursement
22 based on actual revenues earned. If the revenue collected exceeds 23 current year expenditures, the revenue may be carried forward with 24 approval of the state budget director. The revenue carried forward
25 shall be used as a first source of funds in the subsequent year.

26           Sec. 608. Effective October 1 of the current fiscal year, the 27 department, in consultation with the department of technology,

1 management, and budget, may maintain a bid process to identify 1 or 2 more private contractors to provide food service and custodial
3 services for the administrative areas at any state hospital
4 identified by the department as capable of generating savings
5 through the outsourcing of such services.

6 PUBLIC HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

7       Sec. 651. The department shall work with the Michigan health
8 endowment fund corporation established pursuant to section 653 of 9 the nonprofit health care corporation reform act, 1980 PA 350, MCL
10 550.1653, to explore ways to expand health and wellness programs.

11       Sec. 654. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for health and 12 wellness initiatives, $1,000,000.00 shall be allocated for a school
13 children's healthy exercise program to promote and advance physical 14 health for school children in kindergarten through grade 8. The 15 department shall recommend model programs for sites to implement
16 that incorporate evidence-based best practices. The department
17 shall grant no less than 1/2 of the funds appropriated in part 1
18 for before- and after-school programs. The department shall 19 establish guidelines for program sites, which may include schools,
20 community-based organizations, private facilities, recreation
21 centers, or other similar sites. The program format shall encourage 22 local determination of site activities and shall encourage local 23 inclusion of youth in the decision-making regarding site
24 activities. Program goals shall include children experiencing
25 improved physical health and access to physical activity
26 opportunities, the reduction of obesity, providing a safe place to

1 play and exercise, and nutrition education. To be eligible to
2 participate, program sites shall provide a 20% match to the state
3 funding, which may be provided in full, or in part, by a
4 corporation, foundation, or private partner. The department shall 5 seek financial support from corporate, foundation, or other private 6 partners for the program or for individual program sites.

8       Sec. 712. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for primary

19 increase retention of Michigan medical school students for 20 completion of their primary care residency requirements within this 21 state and ultimately, for some period of time, to remain in this 22 state and serve as primary care physicians. The department is 23 encouraged to work with Michigan institutions of higher education.

24       Sec. 717. The department may award health innovation grants to 25 address emerging issues and encourage cutting edge advances in 26 health care including strategic partners in both the public and

1 private sectors.

2       Sec. 718. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for health
3 policy administration, the department shall allocate the federal
4 state innovation model grant funding that supports implementation
5 of the health delivery system innovations detailed in this state's 6 "Reinventing Michigan's Health Care System: Blueprint for Health
7 Innovation" document. Over the next 4 years this initiative will 8 test new payment methodologies, support improved population health
9 outcomes, and support improved infrastructure for technology and 10 data sharing and reporting. The funds will be used to provide
11 financial support directly to regions participating in the model
12 test and to support statewide stakeholder guidance and technical 13 support.

15 subsection (1) include, but are not limited to, the following:

16       (a) Increasing the number of physician practices fulfilling
17 patient-centered medical home functions.

18       (b) Reducing inappropriate health utilization, specifically 19 reducing preventable emergency department visits, reducing the 20 proportion of hospitalizations for ambulatory sensitive conditions,
21 and reducing this state's 30-day hospital readmission rate.

22       (3) By March 1 and September 1 of the current fiscal year, the 23 department shall submit a written report to the house and senate
24 appropriations subcommittees on community health, the house and 25 senate fiscal agencies, and the state budget office on the status
26 of the program and progress made since the prior report.

4 allocated for lead abatement of homes.

5       Sec. 852. The department shall implement a plan designed to 6 improve Michigan's childhood and adolescent immunization rates. The 7 department shall engage organizations working to provide
8 immunizations and education about the value of vaccines, including,
9 but not limited to, statewide organizations representing health
10 care providers, local public health departments, child health
11 interest groups, and private foundations with a mission to increase

22 diagnosis and treatment received.

23 (2) If the treating hospital determines that the recipient

26 from the recipient's HMO prior to admitting the recipient.

27 (3) Subsections (1) and (2) do not require an alteration to an

6 eligibility criteria through the medical services administration
7 public concurrence process, consistent with the provisions of this 8 part and part 1.

9 (2) The department may provide up to 1 year of continuous
10 eligibility to children eligible for the MICHild program unless the 11 family fails to pay the monthly premium, a child reaches age 19, or 12 the status of the children's family changes and its members no
13 longer meet the eligibility criteria as specified in the federally
14 approved MICHild state plan.

15 (3) Children whose category of eligibility changes between the 16 Medicaid and MICHild programs shall be assured of keeping their 17 current health care providers through the current prescribed course
18 of treatment for up to 1 year, subject to periodic reviews by the 19 department if the beneficiary has a serious medical condition and 20 is undergoing active treatment for that condition.

21 (4) To be eligible for the MICHild program, a child must be

13 approved by the United States Department of Health and Human 14 Services, or from other medical services.

15 (8) The department shall assure that an external quality
16 review of each MICHild contractor, as described in subsection (5),
17 is performed, which analyzes and evaluates the aggregated
18 information on quality, timeliness, and access to health care
19 services that the contractor furnished to MICHild beneficiaries.

20 (9) The department shall develop an automatic enrollment
21 algorithm that is based on quality and performance factors.

25       Sec. 1682. (1) In addition to the appropriations in part 1,
26 the department is authorized to receive and spend penalty money
27 received as the result of noncompliance with medical services

1 certification regulations. Penalty money, characterized as private 2 funds, received by the department shall increase authorizations and
3 allotments in the long-term care accounts.

25 Sec. 1693. The special Medicaid reimbursement appropriation in 26 part 1 may be increased if the department submits a medical

1 level higher than the appropriation. The department is authorized
2 to appropriately adjust financing sources in accordance with the 3 increased appropriation.

4 Sec. 1694. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for special
5 Medicaid reimbursement, $386,700.00 of general fund/general purpose
6 revenue and any associated federal match shall be distributed for

19 purchase injectable drugs for the treatment of respiratory
20 syncytial virus for shipment to physicians' offices to be 21 administered to specific patients. If the affected patients are 22 Medicaid eligible, the department shall reimburse pharmacies for 23 the dispensing of the injectable drugs and reimburse physicians for 24 the administration of the injectable drugs.

25 Sec. 1730. (1) The department shall work with the department
26 of education to evaluate the feasibility of including an assessment

17 Sec. 1764. The department shall provide a copy of the rate
18 certification and approval of rates paid to Medicaid health plans

3 department intends to ensure that service delivery is integrated,
4 how key components of the proposal are implemented effectively, and
5 any problems and potential solutions as identified by the ombudsman
6 described in subsection (2).

7 (2) The department shall ensure the existence of an ombudsman
8 program that is not associated with any project service manager or 9 provider to assist MI Health Link beneficiaries with navigating 10 complaint and dispute resolution mechanisms and to identify 11 problems in the demonstrations and in the complaint and dispute
12 resolution mechanisms.

13 Sec. 1800. The department shall distribute the $85,000,000.00
14 Medicaid value disproportionate share hospital payment pool based 15 on metrics utilized to determine value.

16 Sec. 1801. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for physician
17 services and health plan services, the department shall use
18 $33,318,800.00 in general fund/general purpose plus associated

22 physician, or a practitioner working under the personal supervision
23 of a physician, who is board-eligible or certified with a specialty
24 designation of family medicine, general internal medicine, or

27 whose primary practice is as a non-primary-care subspecialty is not

House Bill No. 4102 as amended April 28, 2015

1 eligible for the increase. The department shall establish policies
2 that most effectively limit the increase to primary care providers
3 for primary care services only.

4       Sec. 1802. From the funds appropriated in part 1, a lump-sum
5 payment shall be made to hospitals that qualified for rural 6 hospital access payments in fiscal year 2013-2014 and that provide 7 obstetrical care in the current fiscal year. The payment shall be

17 and who may be eligible for federal veterans health care benefits
18 or other benefits.

[Sec. 1809. The department shall establish the contract performance standards for Medicaid health plans by July 1, 2016. The determination of performance must be based on recognized concepts such as 1-year continuous enrollment and the HEDIS audited data.]

19       Sec. 1820. (1) In order to avoid duplication of efforts, the 20 department shall utilize applicable national accreditation review
21 criteria to determine compliance with corresponding state
22 requirements for Medicaid health plans that have been reviewed and 23 accredited by a national accrediting entity for health care
24 services.

25       (2) The department shall continue to comply with state and 26 federal law and shall not initiate an action that negatively
27 impacts beneficiary safety.

1           (3) As used in this section, "national accrediting entity"
2 means the National Committee for Quality Assurance, the URAC,
3 formerly known as the Utilization Review Accreditation Commission,
4 or other appropriate entity, as approved by the department.

15 department shall adjust the hospital outpatient Medicaid
16 reimbursement rate for qualifying hospitals as provided in this
17 section. The Medicaid reimbursement rate for qualifying hospitals
18 shall be adjusted to provide each qualifying hospital with its 19 actual cost of delivering outpatient services to Medicaid
20 recipients.

21          (2) As used in this section, "qualifying hospital" means a
22 hospital that has not more than 50 staffed beds and is either
23 located outside a metropolitan statistical area or in a 24 metropolitan statistical area but within a city, village, or 25 township with a population of not more than 12,000 according to the 26 official 2010 federal decennial census and within a county with a
27 population of not more than 165,000 according to the official 2010

6 specialties, including primary care, that are necessary to meet the 7 future needs of residents of this state.

8 (b) The training of physicians in settings that include
9 ambulatory sites and rural locations.

10 Sec. 1861. The department shall encourage cooperation between 11 the Medicaid managed care health plans and the nonprofit entities
12 providing nonemergency transportation services to pilot a 13 nonemergency transportation system in at least 2 counties with 14 priority given to Berrien and Muskegon Counties.

15 Sec. 1862. From the funds appropriated in part 1, the 16 department shall maintain payment rates for Medicaid obstetrical
17 services at 95% of Medicare levels effective October 1, 2014.

18 Sec. 1866. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for 19 hospital services and therapy, $10,000,000.00 in general
20 fund/general purpose revenue and any associated federal match shall 21 be awarded to hospitals that meet criteria established by the 22 department for services to low-income rural residents. One of the 23 reimbursement components of the distribution formula shall be 24 assistance with labor and delivery services.

25 (2) No hospital or hospital system shall receive more than 26 10.0% of the total funding referenced in subsection (1).

27 (3) To allow hospitals to understand their rural payment

1 amounts under this section, the department shall provide hospitals
2 with the methodology for distribution under this section and
3 provide each hospital with its applicable data that are used to 4 determine the payment amounts by August 1 of the current fiscal 5 year. The department shall publish the distribution of payments for 6 the current fiscal year and the immediately preceding fiscal year.

7 (4) The department shall report to the senate and house
8 appropriations subcommittees on community health and the senate and

12 department work in collaboration with Michigan-based medical 13 schools that choose to participate in the creation of a graduate
14 medical education consortium known as MIDocs. The purpose of MIDocs
15 is to develop freestanding residency training programs in primary 16 care and other ambulatory care-based specialties. MIDocs shall 17 design residency training programs to address physician shortage
18 needs in this state, including placing physicians post-residency in 19 underserved communities across this state. MIDocs shall give 20 special consideration to small and rural hospitals with a GME
21 program director. MIDocs' voting members will include any Michigan-
22 based university with a medical school or an affiliated faculty
23 practice physician group that is making a substantial contribution
24 to MIDocs programs. The department shall be a permanent nonvoting
25 member of MIDocs. The department, in collaboration with MIDocs
26 voting members, may also appoint nonvoting members to MIDocs to 27 represent various stakeholders. As the sponsoring institution and

1 fiduciary, MIDocs shall assure initial and continued accreditation
2 from the accreditation council for graduate medical education or 3 ACGME, financial accountability, clinical quality, and compliance.
4 The department shall require an annual report from MIDocs detailing
5 per resident costs for medical training and clinical quality
6 measures. The department shall create MIDocs no later than January
7 10, 2015. MIDocs shall provide the department with a report
8 proposing the creation of new residency programs and an actionable
9 plan for retaining consortium related students post-residency,
10 especially in underserved communities.

11       Sec. 1881. The department shall create a default eligibility
12 and enrollment determination for newborns so that newborns are 13 assigned to the same Medicaid health plan as the mother at the time
14 of birth.

15       Sec. 1886. The department shall continue to work in 16 conjunction with the workgroup established by the department of 17 human services to determine how the state can maximize federal 18 revenues for community-based and outpatient treatment services to 19 foster care children and adjudicated youths who are placed in 20 community-based treatment programs. The department shall report to 21 the senate and house appropriations subcommittees on community
22 health, the senate and house fiscal agencies, the senate and house
23 policy offices, and the state budget office by March 1 of the 24 current fiscal year on the progress in implementing the 25 recommendations of the workgroup.

26       Sec. 1888. The department shall establish contract performance 27 standards associated with the capitation withhold provisions for

1 Medicaid health plans at least 3 months in advance of the 2 implementation of those standards. The determination of whether
3 performance standards have been met shall be based primarily on 4 recognized concepts such as 1-year continuous enrollment and the 5 healthcare effectiveness data and information set, HEDIS, audited 6 data.

7       Sec. 1890. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for
8 pharmaceutical services, the department shall ensure Medicaid
9 recipients access to breast pumps to support and encourage 10 breastfeeding. The department shall adjust Medicaid policy to, at a
11 minimum, provide an individual double electric style pump to a
12 breastfeeding mother when a physician prescribes such a device
13 based on diagnosis of mother or infant. If the distribution method
14 for pumps or other equipment is a department contract with durable
15 medical equipment providers, the department shall guarantee
16 providers stock and rent to Medicaid recipients without delay or 17 undue restriction.

18       Sec. 1894. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for 19 dental services, the department shall expand the healthy kids
20 dental program to children who have not yet reached the age of 9 in 21 Kent, Oakland, and Wayne Counties. This program expansion will 22 improve access to necessary dental services for Medicaid-enrolled
23 children.

24       (2) Outcomes and performance measures for the initiative under 25 subsection (1) include, but are not limited to, the following:

26       (a) The number of Medicaid-enrolled children under the age of 27 9 in Kent, Oakland, and Wayne Counties who visited the dentist in

1 the prior year.

2 (b) The number of dentists in Kent, Oakland, and Wayne
3 Counties who will accept Medicaid payment for services to children.

4 (c) The change in dental utilization in Kent, Oakland, and
5 Wayne Counties, before and after implementation.

6 (3) It is the intent of the legislature that the healthy kids
7 dental program be expanded in the fiscal year ending September 30,
8 2017 to cover additional children in Kent, Oakland, and Wayne
9 Counties.

10 Sec. 1897. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1, the 11 department shall take steps to identify the performance of the 12 Medicaid program on all diabetes-specific performance measures as 13 measured by the National Committee for Quality Assurance and the 14 URAC, formerly known as the Utilization Review Accreditation
15 Commission. These steps shall include:

16 (a) Reviewing Medicaid claims information and data to 17 determine the performance of the Medicaid program's fee for service
18 and managed care plans for diabetes-specific and diabetes-related
19 measures as assessed by the National Committee for Quality
20 assurance and the URAC over the past 5 years.

21 (b) Comparing the claims information and data to the national 22 averages for diabetes-specific and diabetes-related measures as 23 assessed by the National Committee for Quality Assurance and the 24 URAC over the past 5 years.

25 (c) Identifying areas of strength and deficiencies for these
26 measures specific to the Medicaid program.

27 (2) Upon request, the department shall make available a report

1 on steps taken and proposed to improve National Committee for
2 Quality Assurance and URAC measure scores for all forms of diabetes
3 within the Medicaid program to the legislature.

4 Sec. 1899. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for personal
5 care services, the department shall maintain the 6% rate increase
6 for personal care services effective October 1, 2014.

7 ONE-TIME BASIS ONLY APPROPRIATIONS

8 Sec. 1902. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for 9 university autism programs, the department shall allocate funds to 10 universities for programs to increase the number of applied
11 behavioral analysis therapists in this state.

12 (2) Outcomes and performance measures for this initiative
13 include the number of applied behavioral analysis therapists
14 trained by recipient universities.

15 Sec. 1906. (1) The department may initiate pay for success
16 pilot projects to identify and deliver services to improve outcomes
17 and lower costs for government services in this state. From the 18 funds appropriated in part 1 for pay for success contracts, the 19 department may initiate contracts with private and not-for-profit
20 vendors, selected through a competitive bid process, to implement
21 these pilot projects. Payments shall not be issued to funding
22 intermediaries or vendors until contractual performance measures
23 have been achieved and project savings have been confirmed by a 24 third-party evaluator, certified by the department, and approved by 25 the state budget director.

26 (2) Unexpended funds appropriated in part 1 for pay for

1 success contracts are designated as work project appropriations,
2 and any unencumbered or unallotted funds shall not lapse at the end
3 of the fiscal year and shall be available for expenditures for the 4 pay for success contracts under this section until the projects
5 have been completed. All of the following are in compliance with 6 section 451a of the management and budget act, 1984 PA 431, MCL

24 appropriations subcommittees on corrections, the senate and house
25 fiscal agencies, the legislative corrections ombudsman, and the 26 state budget director by January 1.

3 appropriated in part 1, the department shall provide the senate and 4 house of representatives appropriations subcommittees on 5 corrections, the legislative corrections ombudsman, the senate and

13       Sec. 803. (1) The department shall assure that all prisoners,
14 upon any health care treatment, are given the opportunity to sign a 15 release of information form designating a family member or other
16 individual to whom the department shall release records information
17 regarding a prisoner. A release of information form signed by a 18 prisoner shall remain in effect for 1 year, and the prisoner may 19 elect to withdraw or amend the release form at any time.

8 and house appropriations subcommittees on corrections, the 9 legislative corrections ombudsman, the senate and house fiscal 10 agencies, and the state budget director on academic and vocational 11 programs. The report shall provide information relevant to an 12 assessment of the department's academic and vocational programs,

19 complete each program and the reason for not completing the 20 program, the number of prisoners transferred to another facility
21 while enrolled in a program and the reason for transfer, the number 22 of prisoners enrolled who are repeating the program by reason, and

6 prisoner idleness, or some combination of these and other factors.

7 (f) An identification of program outcomes for each academic
8 and vocational program.

9 (g) An explanation of the department's plans for academic and 10 vocational programs, including plans to contract with intermediate 11 school districts for GED and high school diploma programs.

12 (h) The number of prisoners not paroled at their earliest
13 release date due to lack of a GED, and the reason those prisoners
14 have not obtained a GED.

15 Sec. 910. The department shall allow the Michigan Braille
16 transcribing fund program to operate at its current location. The 17 donation of the building by the Michigan Braille transcribing fund
18 at the G. Robert Cotton Correctional Facility in Jackson is 19 acknowledged and appreciated. The department shall continue to 20 encourage the Michigan Braille transcribing fund program to produce
21 high-quality materials for use by the visually impaired.

22 Sec. 911. By March 1, the department shall report to the
23 senate and house appropriations subcommittees on corrections, the 24 senate and house fiscal agencies, the legislative corrections

2 preceding calendar year.

3 Sec. 912. The department shall report to the senate and house
4 appropriations subcommittees on corrections, the legislative 5 corrections ombudsman, the senate and house fiscal agencies, and

7 officers to prisoners for each correctional institution, the ratio
8 of shift command staff to line custody staff, and the ratio of 9 noncustody institutional staff to prisoners for each correctional 10 institution.

11 Sec. 913. (1) It is the intent of the legislature that any 12 prisoner required to complete a violence prevention program, sexual 13 offender program, or other program as a condition of parole shall 14 be transferred to a facility where that program is available in 15 order to accomplish timely completion of that program prior to the 16 expiration of his or her minimum sentence and eligibility for 17 parole. Nothing in this section should be deemed to make parole
18 denial appealable in court.

19 (2) The department shall submit a quarterly report to the 20 members of the senate and house appropriations subcommittees on 21 corrections, the senate and house fiscal agencies, the state budget
22 director, and the legislative corrections ombudsman detailing
23 enrollment in sex offender programming, assaultive offender
24 programming, violent offender programming, and thinking for change.
25 At a minimum, the report shall include the following:

26 (a) A full accounting of the number of individuals who are 27 required to complete the programming, but have not yet done so.

1 (b) The number of individuals who have reached their earliest
2 release date, but who have not completed required programming.

3 (c) A plan of action for addressing any waiting lists or 4 backlogs for programming that may exist.

5 Sec. 924. The department shall evaluate all prisoners at 6 intake for substance abuse disorders, serious developmental
7 disorders, serious mental illness, and other mental health
8 disorders. Prisoners with serious mental illness or serious
9 developmental disorders shall not be removed from the general
10 population as a punitive response to behavior caused by their 11 serious mental illness or serious developmental disorder. Due to 12 persistent high violence risk or severe disruptive behavior that is 13 unresponsive to treatment, prisoners with serious mental illness or 14 serious developmental disorders may be placed in secure residential
15 housing programs that will facilitate access to institutional
16 programming and ongoing mental health services. A prisoner with 17 serious mental illness or serious developmental disorder who is 18 confined in these specialized housing programs shall be evaluated
19 or monitored by a medical professional at a frequency of not less
20 than every 12 hours.

21 Sec. 925. By March 1, the department shall report to the
22 senate and house appropriations subcommittees on corrections, the
23 senate and house fiscal agencies, the legislative corrections
24 ombudsman, and the state budget director on the annual number of 25 prisoners in administrative segregation between October 1, 2014 and 26 September 30, 2015, and the annual number of prisoners in 27 administrative segregation between October 1, 2014 and September

1 30, 2015 who at any time during the current or prior prison term
2 were diagnosed with serious mental illness or have a developmental
3 disorder and the number of days each of the prisoners with serious
4 mental illness or a developmental disorder have been confined to 5 administrative segregation.

6 Sec. 929. From the funds appropriated in part 1, the
7 department shall do all of the following:

8 (a) Ensure that any inmate care and control staff in contact
9 with prisoners less than 18 years of age are adequately trained
10 with regard to the developmental and mental health needs of 11 prisoners less than 18 years of age. By April 1, the department
12 shall report to the senate and house appropriations subcommittees
13 on corrections, the senate and house fiscal agencies, and the state
14 budget director on the training curriculum used and the number and 15 types of staff receiving annual training under that curriculum.

16 (b) Provide appropriate placement for prisoners less than 18
17 years of age who have serious mental illness, serious emotional
18 disturbance, or a serious developmental disorder and need to be 19 housed separately from the general population. Prisoners less than 20 18 years of age who have serious mental illness, serious emotional
21 disturbance, or a serious developmental disorder shall not be 22 removed from an existing placement as a punitive response to 23 behavior caused by their serious mental illness, serious emotional
24 disturbance, or a serious developmental disorder. Due to persistent 25 high violence risk or severe disruptive behavior that is 26 unresponsive to treatment, prisoners less than 18 years of age with 27 serious emotional disturbance, serious mental illness, or serious

1 developmental disorders may be placed in secure residential housing
2 programs that will facilitate access to institutional programming
3 and ongoing mental health services. A prisoner less than 18 years
4 of age with serious mental illness, serious emotional disturbance,
5 or a serious developmental disorder who is confined in these 6 specialized housing programs shall be evaluated or monitored by a
7 medical professional at a frequency of not less than every 12
8 hours.

9 (c) Implement a specialized reentry program that recognizes
10 the needs of prisoners less than 18 years old for supervised
11 reentry.

12 Sec. 942. The department shall ensure that any contract with a
13 public or private party to operate a facility to house state
14 prisoners includes a provision to allow access by both the office
15 of the legislative auditor general and the office of the 16 legislative corrections ombudsman to the facility and to 17 appropriate records and documents related to the operation of the 18 facility. These access rights for both offices shall be the same
19 for the contracted facility as for a general state-operated
20 correctional facility.

21 MISCELLANEOUS

22 Sec. 1009. The department shall make an information packet for 23 the families of incoming prisoners available on the department's 24 website. The information packet shall be updated by February 1 of 25 each year thereafter. The packet shall provide information on 26 topics including, but not limited to: how to put money into

1 prisoner accounts, how to make phone calls or create Jpay email
 2 accounts, how to visit in person, proper procedures for filing
 3 complaints or grievances, the rights of prisoners to physical and 4 mental health care, how to utilize the offender tracking
 5 information system (OTIS), truth-in-sentencing and how it applies 6 to minimum sentences, the parole process, and guidance on the 7 importance of the role of families in the reentry process. The 8 department is encouraged to partner with external advocacy groups
 9 and actual families of prisoners in the packet-writing process to 10 ensure that the information is useful and complete.

18 occupancy charges exceeding actual costs, the excess revenues may 19 be carried forward into succeeding fiscal years for the purpose of 20 returning funds to state agencies.

11 may receive and expend funds from the Vietnam veterans memorial
12 monument fund as provided in the Michigan Vietnam veterans memorial
13 act, 1988 PA 234, MCL 35.1051 to 35.1057. Funds are appropriated
14 and allocated when received and may be expended upon receipt.

15 Sec. 812. The Michigan veterans' memorial park commission may 16 receive and expend money from any source, public or private,
17 including, but not limited to, gifts, grants, donations of money,
18 and government appropriations, for the purposes described in 19 Executive Order No. 2001-10. Funds are appropriated and allocated
20 when received and may be expended upon receipt. Any deposits made
21 under this section and unencumbered funds are restricted revenues
22 and may be carried over into succeeding fiscal years.

23 Sec. 813. (1) Funds in part 1 for motor vehicle fleet are 24 appropriated to the department of technology, management, and 25 budget for administration and for the acquisition, lease,
26 operation, maintenance, repair, replacement, and disposal of state
27 motor vehicles.

1           (2) The appropriation in part 1 for motor vehicle fleet shall
2 be funded by revenue from rates charged to principal executive
3 departments and agencies for utilizing vehicle travel services
4 provided by the department. Revenue in excess of the amount
5 appropriated in part 1 from the motor transport fund and any 6 unencumbered funds are restricted revenues and may be carried over
7 into the succeeding fiscal year.

8           (3) Pursuant to the department of technology, management, and 9 budget's authority under sections 213 and 215 of the management and 10 budget act, 1984 PA 431, MCL 18.1213 and 18.1215, the department
11 shall maintain a plan regarding the operation of the motor vehicle
12 fleet. The plan shall include the number of vehicles assigned to,
13 or authorized for use by, state departments and agencies, efforts
14 to reduce travel expenditures, the number of cars in the motor 15 vehicle fleet, the number of miles driven by fleet vehicles, and 16 the number of gallons of fuel consumed by fleet vehicles. The plan
17 shall include a calculation of the amount of state motor vehicle
18 fuel taxes that would have been incurred by fleet vehicles if fleet
19 vehicles were required by law to pay motor fuel taxes. The plan
20 shall include a description of fleet garage operations, the goods
21 sold and services provided by the fleet garage, the cost to operate
22 the fleet garage, the number of fleet garage locations, and the 23 number of employees assigned to each fleet garage. The plan may be 24 adjusted during the fiscal year based on needs and cost savings to 25 achieve the maximum value and efficiency from the state motor 26 fleet. Within 60 days after the close of the fiscal year, the 27 department shall provide a report to the senate and house of

1 representatives standing committees on appropriations and the
2 senate and house fiscal agencies detailing the current plan and

7 agencies, in writing or by electronic mail, at least 30 days before
8 implementing additional charges for fuel cost increases. Revenues
9 received from these charges are appropriated upon receipt.

10 (5) In order to reduce costs and maintain quality, it is the 11 intent of the legislature that, excluding the fleet of motor
12 vehicles for the department of state police, when economically
13 feasible, the department of technology, management, and budget will 14 prioritize the utilization of remanufactured parts as the primary
15 means of maintenance and repair for the state of Michigan's fleet
16 of motor vehicles.

17 (6) The state budget director, upon notification to the senate
18 and house of representatives standing committees on appropriations,
19 may adjust spending authorization and the IDG from motor transport
20 fund in the department of technology, management, and budget in 21 order to ensure that the appropriations for motor vehicle fleet in 22 the department budget equal the expenditures for motor vehicle
23 fleet in the budgets for all executive branch agencies.

24 Sec. 814. The department of technology, management, and budget
25 shall develop a plan regarding the use of the funds appropriated in 26 part 1 for the enterprisewide information technology investment
27 projects. The plan shall include, but not be limited to, a

1 description of proposed information technology investment projects,
2 the time frame for completion of the information technology
3 investment projects, the proposed cost of the information
4 technology investment projects, the number of employees assigned to 5 implement each information technology investment project, the 6 contracts entered into for each information technology investment

7 the senate and house of representatives standing committees on 8 appropriations, may adjust spending authorization and user fees in 9 the department of technology, management, and budget in order to

11 department budget equal the appropriations for information
12 technology in the budgets for all executive branch agencies.

13       (2) If during the course of the fiscal year a transfer or 14 supplemental to or from the information technology line item within 15 an agency budget is made under section 393 of the management and

17 for insurance on facilities owned by the state building authority
18 or payment of costs that may be incurred as the result of any

20 (2) If the amount appropriated in part 1 for state building
21 authority rent is not sufficient to pay the rent obligations and 22 insurance premiums and deductibles identified in subsection (1) for 23 state building authority projects, there is appropriated from the 25 obligations.

2       Sec. 850. (1) In accordance with section 5 of article XI of 3 the state constitution of 1963, all restricted funds shall be
4 assessed a sum not less than 1% of the total aggregate payroll paid
5 from those funds for financing the civil service commission on the 6 basis of actual 1% restricted sources total aggregate payroll of 11 year.

12       (2) The appropriations in part 1 are estimates of actual 13 charges based on payroll appropriations. With the approval of the 14 state budget director, the commission is authorized to adjust
15 financing sources for civil service charges based on actual payroll
16 expenditures, provided that such adjustments do not increase the 17 total appropriation for the civil service commission.

18       (3) The financing from restricted sources shall be credited to 19 the civil service commission by the end of the second fiscal 20 quarter.

26 accept the charge, the shortage shall be taken from carryforward
27 balances of that funding source. Restricted revenue sources that do

1 not have carryforward authority shall be utilized to satisfy
2 commission operating deducts first and civil service obligations
3 second. General fund dollars are appropriated for any shortfall,
4 pursuant to approval by the state budget director.

5       Sec. 852. The appropriation in part 1 to the civil service
6 commission, for state-sponsored group insurance, flexible spending
7 accounts, and COBRA, represents amounts, in part, included within 8 the various appropriations throughout state government for the 9 current fiscal year to fund the flexible spending account program
10 included within the civil service commission. Deposits against 11 state-sponsored group insurance, flexible spending accounts, and 12 COBRA for the flexible spending account program shall be made from 13 assessments levied during the current fiscal year in a manner

9 the required certification or fails to submit the required
10 citizen's guide, performance dashboard, debt service report, and 11 projected budget report by the first day of a payment month, the 12 city, village, township, or county shall forfeit the payment in 13 that payment month.

14 (f) Any city, village, township, or county that falsifies
15 certification documents shall forfeit any future city, village, and 16 township revenue sharing payments or county incentive program
17 payments and shall repay to this state all payments it has received
18 under this section.

19 (g) City, village, and township revenue sharing payments and 20 county incentive program payments under this section shall be 21 distributed on the last business day of October, December,

5 1939, 1939 PA 280, MCL 400.117a, or section 117c of the social
6 welfare act of 1939, 1939 PA 280, MCL 400.117c. A county shall be 7 deemed delinquent upon notification from the state.

8 (5) The unexpended funds appropriated in part 1 for city,
9 village, and township revenue sharing and the county incentive
10 program shall be available for expenditure under the program for 11 financially distressed cities, villages, or townships after the 13 of the management and budget act, 1984 PA 431, MCL 18.1393.

14 Sec. 955. (1) The funds appropriated in part 1 for county

20 expend from its revenue sharing reserve fund.

21 Sec. 956. (1) The funds appropriated in part 1 for financially
22 distressed cities, villages, and townships shall be granted by the 23 department of treasury to cities, villages, and townships that have 24 1 or more conditions that indicate probable financial distress, as 25 determined by the department of treasury. A city, village, or 26 township with 1 or more conditions that indicate probable financial 27 distress may apply in a manner determined by the department of

1 treasury for a grant to pay for specific projects or services that
2 move the city, village, or township toward financial stability.
3 Grants are to be used for specific projects or services that move
4 the city, village, or township toward financial stability. The 5 city, village, or township may use, but is not limited to using,
6 the grants under this section to make payments to reduce unfunded
7 accrued liability; to repair or replace critical infrastructure and 8 equipment owned or maintained by the city, village, or township; to 9 reduce debt obligations; or for costs associated with a transition
10 to shared services with another jurisdiction. The department of 11 treasury shall award no more than $2,000,000.00 to any city,
12 village, or township under this section.

13 (2) The department of treasury shall provide a report to the

20 (3) The unexpended funds appropriated in part 1 for 21 financially distressed cities, villages, and townships are 22 designated as a work project appropriation, and any unencumbered or 23 unallotted funds shall not lapse at the end of the fiscal year and

25 until the projects have been completed. The following is in

13 McCauley-Traxler-Law-Bowman-McNeely lottery act, 1972 PA 239, MCL

1 the compulsive gaming prevention fund as described in section
2 12a(5) of the Michigan gaming control and revenue act, 1996 IL 1, 11 to 15.246.

12 (3) A county treasurer is authorized to receive and administer
13 funds received for and on behalf of a local revenue sharing board.
14 Funds appropriated in part 1 for local government programs may be 15 used to audit local revenue sharing board funds held by a county
16 treasurer. This section does not limit the ability of local units
17 of government to enter into agreements with federally recognized
18 Indian tribes to provide financial assistance to local units of 19 government or to jointly provide public services.

20 (4) A local revenue sharing board described in subsection (1)
21 shall comply with all applicable provisions of any agreement
22 authorized by the Indian gaming regulatory act, Public Law 100-497,
23 in which the local revenue sharing board is referenced, including,
24 but not limited to, the disbursal of tribal casino payments
25 received under applicable provisions of the tribal-state class III
26 gaming compact in which those funds are received.

27 (5) The director of the department of state police and the

11 are less than the amounts appropriated from the fund, available
12 revenues shall be used to fully fund the appropriation in part 1
13 for casino gaming regulation activities before distributions are 14 made to other state departments and agencies. If the remaining 15 revenue in the fund is insufficient to fully fund appropriations to 16 other state departments or agencies, the shortfall shall be 17 distributed proportionally among those departments and agencies.

18 Sec. 976. The executive director of the Michigan gaming
19 control board may pay rewards of not more than $5,000.00 to a

24 racing commission.

25 Sec. 977. All appropriations from the Michigan agriculture

8 and house appropriations subcommittees on agriculture and general
9 government and the senate and house fiscal agencies. The Michigan
10 gaming control board shall not be reimbursed for more than the 11 actual regulatory cost of conducting race dates. If a certified
12 horsemen's organization funds more than the actual regulatory cost,
13 the balance shall remain in the agriculture equine industry
14 development fund to be used to fund subsequent race dates conducted
15 by race meeting licensees with which the certified horsemen's
16 organization has contracts. If a certified horsemen's organization
17 funds less than the actual regulatory costs of the additional horse
18 racing dates, the Michigan gaming control board shall reduce the 19 number of future race dates conducted by race meeting licensees
20 with which the certified horsemen's organization has contracts.
21 Prior to the reduction in the number of authorized race dates due
22 to budget deficits, the executive director of the Michigan gaming
23 control board shall provide notice to the certified horsemen's
24 organizations with an opportunity to respond with alternatives. In
25 determining actual costs, the Michigan gaming control board shall
26 take into account that each specific breed may require different
27 regulatory mechanisms.

1       Sec. 979. In addition to the funds appropriated in part 1, the
2 Michigan gaming control board may receive and expend state lottery
3 fund revenue in an amount not to exceed $4,000,000.00 for necessary
4 expenses incurred in the licensing and regulation of millionaire
5 parties pursuant to Executive Order No. 2012-4. In accordance with 14 parties, steps taken to ensure charities are receiving revenue due 15 to them, progress on promulgating rules to ensure compliance with 16 the Traxler-McCauley-Law-Bowman bingo act, 1972 PA 382, MCL 432.101

16 budget act, 1984 PA 431, MCL 18.1242, and upon the approval of the 17 state building authority, the department may expend from the 18 general fund of the state during the fiscal year an amount to meet
19 the cash flow requirements of those state building authority
20 projects solely for lease to a state agency identified in both part 21 1 and this section, and for which state building authority bonds or 22 notes have not been issued, and for the sole acquisition by the 23 state building authority of equipment and furnishings for lease to 24 a state agency as permitted by 1964 PA 183, MCL 830.411 to 830.425,
25 for which the issuance of bonds or notes is authorized by a
26 legislative appropriation act that is effective for the fiscal year

1 ending September 30, 2015. Any general fund advances for which
2 state building authority bonds have not been issued shall bear an 3 interest cost to the state building authority at a rate not to 4 exceed that earned by the state treasurer's common cash fund during 5 the period in which the advances are outstanding and are repaid to 6 the general fund of the state.

7 (2) Upon sale of bonds or notes for the projects identified in 8 part 1 or for equipment as authorized by a legislative 9 appropriation act and in this section, the state building authority

18 building authority when the investments earmarked for the financing
19 of the projects mature.

20 (4) In the event that a project identified in part 1 is

22 of the state building authority for the costs of final design shall 23 be repaid to the general fund in a manner recommended by the 24 director.

25 Sec. 1102. (1) State building authority funding to finance
26 construction or renovation of a facility that collects revenue in

4 general fund to offset rent obligations associated with the 5 retirement of bonds issued for that facility. The auditor general

7 that are subject to this section. Costs associated with the 10 rate of 65%, after accounting for factors outside of the 11 caseworker's control.

12 (3) By November 1 of the current fiscal year, the department
13 shall provide to the senate and house appropriations subcommittees
14 on the department budget, the senate and house fiscal agencies, and

26 (2) The department shall submit to the senate and house
27 appropriations subcommittees on the department budget, the senate

17 the time of the adoption. This rate includes the determination of 18 care rate that was paid or would have been paid to the adoptive
19 parent for the adoptee in a family foster care placement, and this 20 amount shall be increased to reflect any increase in the standard
21 age appropriate foster care rate.

22 (2) "Determination of care rate" as described in this section
23 means a supplemental payment to the standard age appropriate foster
24 care rate that may be justified when extraordinary care or expense
25 is required. The supplemental payment is based on 1 or more of the 26 following case situations where additional care is required of the 12 adoptive parent.

13 (3) The department shall, on a separate form, allow an

15 support subsidy.

23 Sec. 574. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for foster

3 facilitated licensure, or approved waiver, is completed after 180
4 days, the agency shall receive up to $2,300.00. The agency
5 facilitating the licensure would retain the placement and continue
6 to provide case management services for at least 50% of the newly

8 agency. Up to 50% of the newly licensed cases would have direct
9 foster care services provided by the department.

10 (2) From the funds appropriated for foster care payments,
11 $375,000.00 is allocated to support family incentive grants to 12 private and community-based foster care service providers to assist

9   funds for the purpose described in section 587 of article X of 2013
10   PA 59 are not eligible to receive the funds in this section. The 11   department shall expend the full amount of funds for the purpose
12   described in this section by September 1 of the current fiscal 13   year.

14       (2) By March 1 of the current fiscal year, the department
15   shall submit a report that describes the program expansion and 16   expenditures in detail to the senate and house appropriations

18 directors for funeral goods and services over the payment rate in 19 place for the previous fiscal year. In addition, reimbursement for 20 a cremation permit fee of up to $75.00 and for mileage at the

25 purposes of this section, domestic violence is defined and verified
26 in the same manner as in the department's policies on good cause
27 for not cooperating with child support and paternity requirements.

1       Sec. 653. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for food
2 assistance, an individual who is the victim of domestic violence
3 and does not qualify for any other exemption may be exempt from the 4 3-month in 36-month limit on receiving food assistance under 7 USC
5 2015. This exemption can be extended an additional 3 months upon
6 demonstration of continuing need.

7       Sec. 654. The department shall notify recipients of food
8 assistance program benefits that their benefits can be spent with 9 their bridge cards at many farmers' markets in the state. The 10 department shall also notify recipients about the Double Up Food
11 Bucks program that is administered by the Fair Food Network.
12 Recipients shall receive information about the Double Up Food Bucks
13 program, including information that when the recipient spends 14 $20.00 at participating farmers' markets through the program, the 15 recipient can receive an additional $20.00 to buy Michigan produce.

16       Sec. 655. Within 14 days after the spending plan for low-
17 income home energy assistance program is approved by the state
18 budget office, the department shall provide the spending plan,
19 including itemized projected expenditures, to the chairpersons of 20 the senate and house appropriations subcommittees on the department 21 budget, the senate and house fiscal agencies, and the senate and 22 house policy offices.

23       Sec. 660. From the funds appropriated in part 1 for food bank
24 funding, the department is authorized to make allocations of TANF
25 funds only to the agencies that report necessary data to the 26 department for the purpose of meeting TANF eligibility reporting
27 requirements. The agencies that do not report necessary data to the

1 department for the purpose of meeting TANF eligibility reporting
2 requirements will not receive allocations in excess of those
3 received in fiscal year 2000. The use of TANF funds under this 4 section should not be considered an ongoing commitment of funding.

5       Sec. 669. The department shall allocate $2,680,000.00 for the 6 annual clothing allowance. The allowance shall be granted to all
7 eligible children in a family independence program group that does
8 not include an adult.

9       Sec. 672. (1) The department's office of inspector general
10 shall report to the senate and house of representatives
11 appropriations subcommittees on the department budget, the senate
12 and house fiscal agencies, and the senate and house policy offices
13 by February 15 of the current fiscal year on department efforts to 14 reduce inappropriate use of Michigan bridge cards. The department
15 shall provide information on the number of recipients of services
16 who used their electronic benefit transfer card inappropriately and 17 the current status of each case, the number of recipients whose 18 benefits were revoked, whether permanently or temporarily, as a 19 result of inappropriate use, and the number of retailers that were 20 fined or removed from the electronic benefit transfer program for 21 permitting inappropriate use of the cards.

22       (2) As used in this section, "inappropriate use" means not 23 used to meet a family's ongoing basic needs, including food,
24 clothing, shelter, utilities, household goods, personal care items,
25 and general incidentals.

26       Sec. 673. (1) The department shall conduct a workgroup to 27 investigate means of minimizing fraud in the MIBridges benefits

1 programs. The members of the workgroup shall include, but are not
2 limited to, the departments of state, community health, and state
3 police, and members of the house of representatives and the senate.
4 The workgroup shall, at a minimum, address the following
5 possibilities and make recommendations on the implementation of any 6 of the following items considered feasible:

7 (a) Whether the department's policies concerning the 8 replacement of lost bridge cards sufficiently deter improper use of 9 those cards.

10 (b) What technologies may exist to deter the sale or other
11 improper use of bridge cards.

12 (c) Whether a state driver license or state identification
13 card might be used to replace the existing bridge cards.

14 (d) What federal policies exist that may inhibit or enhance 15 adoption of fraud minimization actions.

16 (2) By February 1, 2016, the department shall provide to the
17 senate and house appropriations subcommittees on the department
18 budget, the senate and house fiscal agencies, the senate and house
19 policy offices, and the state budget office a report on the 20 workgroup findings. The report shall include a draft request for 21 information to implement any recommended proposals, an action plan 22 for implementation of any proposed changes, and an estimate of the 23 costs that may be incurred and benefits that may be gained from the 24 adoption of recommended workgroup suggestions.

25 Sec. 677. (1) The department shall establish a state goal for 26 the percentage of family independence program cases involved in 27 employment activities. The percentage established shall not be less

1 than 50%. The goal for long-term employment shall be 15% of cases
2 for 6 months or more.

3 (2) On a monthly basis, the department shall report to the
4 senate and house appropriations subcommittees on the department
5 budget, the senate and house fiscal agencies and policy offices,
6 and the state budget director on the number of cases referred to 7 partnership. accountability. training. hope. (PATH), the current
8 percentage of family independence program cases involved in PATH
9 employment activities, an estimate of the current percentage of 10 family independence program cases that meet federal work
11 participation requirements on the whole, and an estimate of the 12 current percentage of the family independence program cases that 13 meet federal work participation requirements for those cases
14 referred to PATH.

15 (3) The department shall submit to the senate and house
16 appropriations subcommittees on the department budget, the senate
17 and house fiscal agencies, the senate and house policy offices, and 18 the state budget office a quarterly report that includes all of the 19 following:

27 Sec. 686. (1) The department shall ensure that program policy

1 requires caseworkers to confirm that individuals presenting
2 personal identification issued by another state seeking assistance
3 through the family independence program, food assistance program,
4 state disability assistance program, or medical assistance program
5 are not receiving benefits from any other state.

6 (2) The department shall require caseworkers to confirm the 7 address provided by any individual seeking family independence
8 program benefits or state disability assistance benefits.

9 (3) The department shall prohibit individuals with property
10 assets assessed at a value higher than $200,000.00 from accessing 11 assistance through department-administered programs, unless such a
12 prohibition would violate federal rules and guidelines.

13 (4) The department shall require caseworkers to obtain an up-
14 to-date telephone number during the eligibility determination or 15 redetermination process for individuals seeking medical assistance
16 benefits. On a monthly basis, the department shall provide the 17 department of community health an updated list of telephone numbers
18 for medical assistance recipients.

19 Sec. 687. (1) The department shall, on a quarterly basis by 20 February 1, May 1, August 1, and November 1, compile and make

8 county and reported separately for each program listed in 9 subsection (1).

10 (3) The department shall, on a quarterly basis by February 1, 11 May 1, August 1, and November 1, compile and make available on its 12 website the family independence program information listed as 13 follows:

1 house policy offices when the reports required in this section are
2 made available on the department's website.

3 Sec. 695. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for
4 multicultural integration funding, the department may require each
5 contractor to provide data and information on performance-related

12 utilized within these appropriations share the same mission as the 13 lead agency receiving funding.

14 (c) Each contractor or subcontractor shall demonstrate cost-
15 effectiveness.

16 (d) Each contractor or subcontractor shall ensure their 17 ability to leverage private dollars to strengthen and maximize
18 service provision.

19 (e) Each contractor or subcontractor shall provide timely and

21 service provision, and ability to meet their stated goals.

22 (2) The department shall require an annual report from the 23 contractors that receive multicultural integration funding. The 24 annual report, due 60 days following the end of the contract
25 period, shall include specific information on services and programs
26 provided, the client base to which the services and programs were

4 the state budget office.

5 (3) The department of community health and the department
6 shall convene a workgroup to discuss and make recommendations on 7 including accreditation in the contractor specifications and
8 potentially moving toward competitive bidding. Each contractor
9 required to provide data per this section shall be invited to 10 participate in the workgroup if so convened.

11 JUVENILE JUSTICE SERVICES

12 Sec. 706. Counties shall be subject to 50% chargeback for the 13 use of alternative regional detention services, if those detention 14 services do not fall under the basic provision of section 117e of 15 the social welfare act, 1939 PA 280, MCL 400.117e, or if a county
16 operates those detention services programs primarily with 17 professional rather than volunteer staff.

18 Sec. 707. In order to be reimbursed for child care fund
19 expenditures, counties are required to submit department-developed
20 reports to enable the department to document potential federally 21 claimable expenditures. This requirement is in accordance with the 22 reporting requirements specified in section 117a(7) of the social 23 welfare act, 1939 PA 280, MCL 400.117a.

24 Sec. 708. (1) As a condition of receiving funds appropriated
25 in part 1 for the child care fund line item, by December 15 of the 26 current fiscal year, counties shall have an approved service

1 spending plan for the current fiscal year. Counties must submit the
2 service spending plan to the department by October 1 of the current
3 fiscal year for approval. The department shall approve within 30
4 calendar days after receipt a properly completed service plan that
5 complies with the requirements of the social welfare act, 1939 PA
6 280, MCL 400.1 to 400.119b, and shall notify a county within 30
7 days after approval that its service plan was approved.

8 (2) The department shall submit a report to the house and 9 senate appropriations subcommittees on the department budget, the 10 house and senate fiscal agencies, and the house and senate policy
11 offices by February 15 of the current fiscal year on the number of 12 counties that fail to submit a service spending plan by October 1
13 and the number of service spending plans not approved by December 14 15.

15 Sec. 711. Unless already provided in the previous fiscal year,
16 the department shall submit the behavioral health study of juvenile 17 justice facilities operated or contracted for by the state not 18 later than June 30 of the current fiscal year to the senate and 19 house appropriations subcommittees on human services, the senate
20 and house fiscal agencies and policy offices, and the state budget
21 director.

22 Sec. 719. The department shall notify the legislature at least
23 30 days before closing or making any change in the status,
24 including the licensed bed capacity and operating bed capacity, of 25 a state juvenile justice facility.

26 Sec. 721. If the demand for placements at state-operated
27 juvenile justice residential facilities exceeds capacity, the

1 department shall not increase the available occupancy or services
2 at the facilities, and shall post a request for proposals for a
3 contract with not less than 1 private provider of residential 4 services for juvenile justice youth to be a residential facility of 5 last resort.

6 LOCAL OFFICE SERVICES

7 Sec. 750. (1) The department shall maintain out-stationed
8 eligibility specialists in community-based organizations, community
9 mental health agencies, nursing homes, and hospitals unless a
10 community-based organization, community mental health agency,
11 nursing home, or hospital requests that the program be discontinued
12 at its facility.

13 (2) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for donated funds
14 positions, the department shall enter into a contract with any 15 agency that places a request for a donated funds position and is 16 able and eligible under federal law to provide the required
17 matching funds for federal funding, as determined by federal 18 statute and regulations. If the department denies a request, the 19 department shall provide to the agency that made the request the 20 federal statute or regulation that requires the denial. If the 21 department does not provide the statute or regulation to the 22 agency, the department shall grant the request for the donated 23 funds position.

24 (3) A contract for an eligibility specialist position must 25 include, but not be limited to, the following performance metrics:

26 (a) Meeting a standard of promptness for processing

1 applications for Medicaid and other public assistance programs
2 under state law.

3 (b) Meeting required standards for error rates in determining
4 programmatic eligibility as determined by the department.

5 (4) The department shall only fill additional donated funds
6 positions after a new contract has been signed. That position shall
7 also be abolished when the contract expires or is terminated.

8 Sec. 751. (1) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for 9 Healthy Michigan plan administration, the department, in 10 conjunction with the department of community health, shall 11 establish and maintain an accounting structure within the Michigan
12 administrative information network that will allow expenditures
13 associated with the administration of the Healthy Michigan plan to 14 be identified.

15 (2) The department shall submit to the senate and house
16 appropriations subcommittees on the department budget, the senate
17 and house fiscal agencies, the senate and house policy offices, and 18 the state budget office a quarterly report on the implementation
19 status of the Healthy Michigan call center that includes all of the 20 following information:

21 (a) Call volume during the prior quarter.

22 (b) Percentage of calls resolved through the Healthy Michigan
23 plan call center.

24 (c) Percentage of calls transferred to a local department
25 office or other office for resolution.

26 (d) Number of Medicaid applications completed by the Healthy
27 Michigan call center staff and submitted on behalf of clients.

1       Sec. 752. (1) The department shall maintain out-stationed
2   eligibility specialists in community-based organizations, community
3   mental health agencies, nursing homes, and hospitals unless a
4   community-based organization, community mental health agency,
5   nursing home, or hospital requests that the program be discontinued
6   at its facility.

7       (2) From the funds appropriated in part 1 for donated funds
8   positions, the department shall enter into a contract with any 9   agency that requests a donated funds position and is able and 10  eligible under federal law to provide the required matching funds
11  for federal funding, as determined by federal statute and 12  regulations. Beginning in fiscal year 2016, the department is 13  authorized to increase the total number of donated funds positions
14  by 200 FTEs. The purpose of these positions will be to address
15  client service needs in adult placement and independent living
16  settings, federally qualified health clinics, hospitals with a high 17  degree of uncompensated care, and employer-based sites. If the 18  department denies a request for donated funds positions, the 19  department shall provide to the agency that made the request the 20  federal statute or regulation that supports the denial. If there is 21  no federal statute or regulation that supports the denial, the 22  department shall grant the request for the donated funds position.

23       (3) A contract for a donated funds position must include, but 24  not be limited to, the following performance metrics:

25       (a) Meeting standards of promptness for processing
26  applications for Medicaid and other public assistance programs
27  under state law.

1 (b) Meeting required standards for error rates in determining
2 programmatic eligibility as determined by the department.

3 (4) The department shall only fill additional donated funds
4 positions after a new contract has been signed. That position shall
5 also be abolished when the contract expires or is terminated.

6 CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT

7 Sec. 901. (1) The appropriations in part 1 assume a total
8 federal child support incentive payment of $26,500,000.00.

9 (2) From the federal money received for child support
10 incentive payments, $12,000,000.00 shall be retained by the state
11 and expended for child support program expenses.

12 (3) From the federal money received for child support
13 incentive payments, $14,500,000.00 shall be paid to the counties
14 based on each county's performance level for each of the federal 15 performance measures as established in 45 CFR 305.2.

16 (4) If the child support incentive payment to the state from 17 the federal government is greater than $26,500,000.00, then 100% of 18 the excess shall be retained by the state and is appropriated until 19 the total retained by the state reaches $15,397,400.00.

20 (5) If the child support incentive payment to the state from 21 the federal government is greater than the amount needed to satisfy
22 the provisions identified in subsections (1), (2), (3), and (4), 23 the additional funds shall be subject to appropriation by the 24 legislature.

25 (6) If the child support incentive payment to the state from 26 the federal government is less than $26,500,000.00, then the state

1 and county share shall each be reduced by 50% of the shortfall.

2       Sec. 909. (1) If statewide retained child support collections
3 exceed $38,300,000.00, 75% of the amount in excess of 4 $38,300,000.00 is appropriated to legal support contracts. This 5 excess appropriation may be distributed to eligible counties to 6 supplement and not supplant county title IV-D funding.

7       (2) Each county whose retained child support collections in 8 the current fiscal year exceed its fiscal year 2004-2005 retained
9 child support collections, excluding tax offset and financial 10 institution data match collections in both the current year and 11 fiscal year 2004-2005, shall receive its proportional share of the 12 75% excess.

13       Sec. 910. (1) If title IV-D-related child support collections
14 are escheated, the state budget director is authorized to adjust
15 the sources of financing for the funds appropriated in part 1 for 16 legal support contracts to reduce federal authorization by 66% of 17 the escheated amount and increase general fund/general purpose
18 authorization by the same amount. This budget adjustment is 19 required to offset the loss of federal revenue due to the escheated
20 amount being counted as title IV-D program income in accordance 21 with federal regulations at 45 CFR 304.50.

22       (2) The department shall notify the chairs of the house and 23 senate appropriations subcommittees on the department budget and 24 the house and senate fiscal agencies within 15 days of the 25 authorization adjustment in subsection (1).

16 for which each expenditure is made. The judicial branch shall not 17 provide financial information on its website under this section if
